PRESIDENT AIMS LEGAL BLOW AT SUPREME COURT

Congress Chiefs to Consider Curb.

Ickes to Draft Policy

President Roosevelt puts responsibility for drafting national power policy on committee headed by Secretary Ickes. Details on page 11.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will soon call a conference of congressional leaders and administration officials to consider legislative proposals for curbing the Supreme court, Senator Sherman Minton [Dem., Ind.] announced today after a White House conference.

SENATOR MINTON.

Minton's announcement was the first intimation that the President contemplates legislative action against the Supreme court since his annual message on Jan. 6 on the "state of the union." In that message Mr. Roosevelt served notice upon the judiciary branch that it was expected to "do its part," and made it plain that he is not considering the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment that would enable congress to carry out the objectives of the New Deal.

"The vital need is not an alteration of our fundamental law, but an increasingly enlightened view with reference to it," the President said.

Two-Thirds Rule Considered.

The President's implied threat to the Supreme court stunned many members of congress, including his own leaders, who favor submission of a constitutional amendment, but it encouraged the radicals who have been demanding legislative action either to restrict the appellate jurisdiction of the court or else to regulate its rules of practice. Many proposals have been advanced, the most common of which is an act requiring the concurrence of at least two-thirds of the nine justices to declare unconstitutional an act of congress.

Another proposal is that congress increase the membership of the court, so that President Roosevelt could pack it with New Dealers, but he is represented as opposed to this plan.

Minton Explains Theory.

Senator Minton said after his conference with the President that he is considering the introduction of a bill that would require the concurrence of seven of the nine justices, or more than two-thirds, to invalidate an act of congress. He did not say whether the President indicated approval or disapproval of this plan.

Minton's theory is that the procedure whereby the opinion of a majority, or five of the justices, becomes the law of the land is simply a rule of practice which was evolved in the early days of the republic. The rule of practice, he says, is based upon the "theory that we are a government by majority."

By requiring the concurrence of seven justices to hold an act of congress invalid, Minton says, the balance of power would be placed in the hands of the "liberals" on the bench—presumably meaning Justices Louis Brandeis, Benjamin Cardozo, and Harlan F. Stone, the three most frequent dissenters in favor of New Deal legislation. Such a requirement, he declared, would have saved all the New Deal legislation declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court except the NRA.

House Member Alarmed.

Representative Robert Luce [Rep., Mass.] declared in a speech on the floor of the house today that he was "astonished and alarmed" by President Roosevelt's threat to the Supreme court.

"What concerns us gravely is the President's declaration that the judicial branch is asked by the people to do its part in making democracy successful," Luce said. "This implies that the court has the duty denied by Justice Holmes, and that it has failed to perform such duty. The fact is that it has performed its full duty when it declares what the constitution means, and it would fail in its duty if it shaped that decision to meet the views of somebody else."

CROWDS FACE RAIN AND COLD AT INAUGURAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

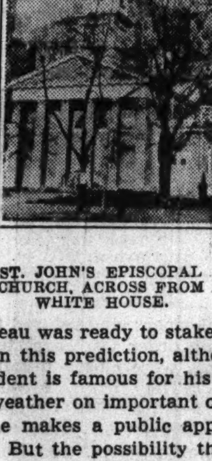
Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Record-breaking throngs, arriving in the capital for the second inauguration of President Roosevelt, face "rain and colder" weather, with north and northeast winds Wednesday, according to a weather bureau forecast tonight.



ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH, ACROSS FROM WHITE HOUSE.

The bureau was ready to stake its reputation on this prediction, although the President is famous for his luck with the weather on important occasions when he makes a public appearance.

But the possibility that they might be forced to stand in rain or snow while listening to Mr. Roosevelt take the oath of office and make his inaugural speech failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the crowds. According to one estimate, a quarter of a million visitors will have jammed themselves into Washington by Wednesday morning.

Works on Inaugural Address.

The President received only a few visitors today and canceled all conferences for tomorrow in order that he might whip his inaugural address into shape.

It was announced that Mr. Roosevelt, following a custom he established four years ago, will attend a special service at St. John's Episcopal church, just across from the White House, before starting for Capitol hill Wednesday morning. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, all the members of the immediate family, and cabinet officers and other heads of federal establishments with their wives.

A dress rehearsal of the inauguration ceremonies was held on the east front of the capitol today in order that there might be no last minute hitch.

Hughes to Administer Oath.

The President will take the oath from Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes shortly after noon. The Dutch Bible, which has been in the Roosevelt family for generations, will be used. It will be opened, as it was four years ago, to I. Corinthians, 13, which begins:

"Though I speak in the tongues of men and angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal."

Before the President is sworn, John Nance Garner will take oath as Vice President on the same stand, thus breaking a tradition. Customarily, the Vice President is inducted in the senate chamber.

After the President repeats his oath, he will make the inaugural address and then proceed to the White House to review the parade.

President to Retain Cabinet.

What is more, those close to him predict he will make no wholesale changes afterward.

One cabinet member, Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, is serving temporarily, and informed observers expect a permanent appointment to be made early in the President's second term.

Friends of James A. Farley say he will be reappointed postmaster general and will serve until he has made a satisfactory private business connection. They insist he has no intention of quitting immediately, despite the contentions of Senator George W. Norris and some other members of congress that he should not head a government agency while continuing as chairman of the Democratic National committee.

Mr. Roosevelt has recommended creation of two new cabinet posts—a secretary of public works and a secretary of social welfare. He also has proposed a wide-spread realignment of departmental functions.

"Queenie," a lady donkey, came up

Four in Family Killed as Train Crushes Auto

Four members of a family of five were killed last night when their automobile was demolished by a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train in Gary.

They were Victor E. Thorsson, 47 years old, certified public accountant and leader in Gary business and American Legion circles; his wife, Bertha, 45 years old, a substitute teacher of languages in the Gary high schools; and two of their children, Robert, 12 years old, and Helen, 14 years old. The family lived at 3985 Adams street, Gary.

Blame Curve in Street.

The tragedy occurred at the Virginia street crossing, which is protected by flasher lights. The street, however, makes a sharp turn just before crossing the tracks, authorities said, so that it is difficult for motorists to see an approaching train.

The train, the Union, was Chicago bound from Cincinnati. It was 10 minutes late, police said, as it came into the southeastern outskirts of Gary and approached the crossing. The train does not ordinarily stop in Gary.

Neighbors said the Thorssons were on their way to a theater. Indications were, the police said, that Thorsson was driving and that he never knew the danger until the train struck the car.

Son, 17, Only One to Escape.

The only member of the family to escape the tragedy was the Thorssons' eldest child, Charles, 17 years old, a member of the football squad of the Lew Wallace High school. He was visiting friends.

Thorsson was a friend of the late Huey Long. Mrs. Thorsson, the former Bertha Thomae, was once a teacher in Chicago high schools. She attended the University of Chicago a number of years ago.

Officials of the coroner's office tested the flasher lights at the crossing after the accident and said they were working properly.

W. Eaton of Fort Wayne was engineer of the train. G. W. Balliet of Fort Wayne was the conductor.

BABIES BORN 2 MONTHS APART ARE LISTED AS TWINS; ONE SURVIVES

ALSASK, Sask., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Hospital records today listed as twins two boys born two months apart to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Muhlbach, farming couple near here.

The first boy was born prematurely Nov. 17 and the second was stillborn in a hospital here Saturday.

The November baby weighed only two pounds at birth and for the first few days he was fed with an eye dropper. He now weighs four pounds and hospital attendants said he probably will develop normally.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Twins were born through a Caesarean operation performed by twin surgeons at the Lowell General hospital yesterday. The operation was performed by Drs. Justice Is Blind but Not Deaf, Juror Learns

One of the less interesting duties of Judge Walter J. La Buy under the new Circuit court rules is selection of juries for trials which take place before his colleagues.

MAX SPERKWICH.

This business occupied him yesterday morning. Before him sat eighteen prospective jurors, wearing their new numbered badges and eager for work. Attorneys droned through the usual monotonous questions to qualify the panel

At noon Judge La Buy looked hungrily at the clock on his rear wall, then declared a recess. Resumption of the weary work would continue in the afternoon, he announced. Meanwhile the jurors were free to have lunch.

What! One Juror Missing.

Came 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Came seventeen of the jurymen, well fed and anxious for duty. But came not the eighteenth juror, No. 149.

Attorneys made a careful count again. No. 149 was still absent. Judge La Buy sent his bailif to start a man hunt.

Two feet outside the courtroom door the hunt ended. Snoring on the cold corridor floor lay No. 149.

Yes, It's All Too True.

The bailif bent over the unconscious form. He sniffed cautiously. Yes, it was true. No. 149 had decided this was a good opportunity to drink his lunch.

On instructions from Judge La Buy four bailifs picked up the sleeping No. 149. His weight was great. By dint of much tugging and prying they managed to carry the sleeping juror to the sherif's office.

Judge La Buy sent instructions to administer hot black coffee Four quarts of the beverage were brought. Slowly No. 149 began responding to this treatment.

The Haze Drifts Away.

Then as the haze of his lunch waned No. 149 opened an eye, looked about, then heard his punishment pronounced by Judge La Buy. The privilege of being a Cook county juror is forever denied old No. 149.

"No, no, not that," whimpered No. 149 as bailifs stripped his proud badge from a lapel. "Anything but that.

It might also be noted that jurors draw $5 a day for jury duty. As a postscript No. 149 is Max Sperkwich, 37 years old, 5741 West 64th place, a laborer.

Slaying as 700 Dine Provides a Real Mystery

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A thousand mystery stories are written every year, but here is one that would have delighted any author. It is a murder mystery. It happened last night in the presence of 700 formally dressed men and women attending a testimonial dinner in the spacious Glass ballroom on the seventh floor of the Manhattan Opera house. Police were still trying to solve it tonight.

The 700 guests were gay. Laughter, popping wine bottles, and music reflected their merriment. Then came a pause for the speeches. Grover A. Whalen, fashionplated former police commissioner, rose from a row of New York notables at the speakers' table. He began to deliver a few words of appreciation. Barney Shapiro, head of the Affiliated Ladies Apparel Carriers' association, guest of honor, tried to appear unconcerned.

Music Suddenly Starts.

Suddenly the nearby orchestra burst excitedly into frenzied music. This was not on the program. Mr. Whalen tried to conceal evident annoyance. Over in a far corner of the room there was a commotion.

The toastmaster rapped for order. but the orchestra played on. Just then a grim faced stranger stepped into the center of the ballroom.

"A man has been murdered here!" he announced.

A murmur, then a howl of fright rose from the startled guests. Women screamed; several fainted. Many leaped from their chairs. Some headed for exits. Police pushed them back.

But six unidentified men got away.

In the corner where the commotion had been noticed, several men broke through an encircling crowd. They carried the lifeless, bleeding figure of the victim. It was to camouflage this that the orchestra had interrupted Mr. Whalen's speech.

Stabbed Below Heart.

The victim was Frank Cicero, boss of the Garment Motor Transport company, who had attended the testimonial banquet to honor the big boss, Shapiro. Cicero had been stabbed below the heart.

Tonight police working on this bizarre killing had reduced suspects numerically to three. This was because of the efforts of Inspector Michael F. McDermott. McDermott was on the job before the 700 guests in the room knew a murder had been committed. And he lent as dramatic a touch to the affair as any movie director might dare do.

The scene of gayety was as already described when Inspector McDermott received word of the slaying. He led half a dozen squads to the opera house. They dashed through the lower corridors, past the auditorium where Max Reinhardt's "The Eternal Road" was playing, barricaded all doors and ordered that none be permitted to leave. It was he who announced the murder.

Long Questioning Begins.

All 700 guests, in addition entertainers, waiters, and others were compelled to return to their tables or their other positions which they held at the time Cicero was stabbed. Then the questioning began.

All were questioned individually, in pairs, or in groups. As they exonerated themselves they were permitted to leave. The dramatic wholesale questioning continued far into the morning hours. Finally at 5:30 a. m. McDermott had reduced the 700 "suspects" to ten; three were women

Late tonight these had been reduced to three, all men, and all of whom wore dinner jackets at the time

START DRASTIC REFORM TO KEEP TAB ON FELONS

A drastic reform in the handling of parole cases in Chicago was inaugurated last night as new instances of laxity by parolee's sponsors were revealed. One ex-convict and his sponsor were locked up and plans were announced for a campaign to round up all parolees to determine whether they are still potential criminals.

The reform was announced by T. P. Sullivan, recently appointed acting superintendent of parole supervision. He said the secrecy that hitherto has masked the operations of this state department will be lifted. He also announced he will coöperate fully with the police in the roll call of 2,000 parolees in this county. He admitted that the department has "been most lax in its duty to apprehend parole violators."

Class Violators as Fugitives.

Sullivan declared that all parole violators will be regarded as prison fugitives. Warants for their arrest will be issued by the institution from which they were paroled and this warant and all pertinent facts regarding the parolee's record and prison conduct will be sent to the police. When rearrested, the convict will be returned to prison immediately without a hearing before the division of supervision of parolees.

The round up of parolees was precipitated by the murder of Policeman Arthur Sullivan last Thursday. The policeman was shot and killed by Joseph Schuster, a paroled felon, who has confessed the crime. It was the second murder of a policeman by parolees in recent months. Policeman Michael Toth was shot to death by two paroled convicts on Nov. 8.

The parolee and his sponsor who were arrested are Steve Ondack, 25 years old, who was paroled from Joliet penitentiary last September, and Elmer Hardin, 36 years old. They were arrested by a squad from the detective bureau, led by Sergt. Joseph Morrison, at 1112 West 69th street, where Hardin operates a coal and ice business, and has living quarters in the rear of his office. Ondack had been living there also since his release.

Sponsor Defends Ex-Convict.

Police suspect Ondack of having committed several burglaries recently and of having used Hardin's truck to carry away the loot.

"Steve is a nice fellow," Hardin said last night in his cell at the detective bureau. "This is the first time in my life I've ever been in jail, and I can't understand it."

Police records show that in 1930 Ondack was fined $25 and costs for disorderly conduct. In December, 1933, he was sentenced to one to ten years in Joliet penitentiary for larceny of an automobile. It was from this sentence that he was paroled last year.

Another paroled convict, who disclosed the laxity of his sponsor last night, is Daniel Flynn, 32 years old, 1255 West 14th place. Flynn and John Vlcek, 24 years old, 1423 West 16th street, who has several times been arrested for disorderly conduct and malicious mischief, were seized Sunday night on a charge of holding up Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mancal, 1517 West 17th street, in a garage in the rear of 1413 West 17th street. The Mancals were robbed of their automobile, $100 ring, and $4 in cash.

Tells His Parole History.

The arrests were made by Policemen Daniel Collins, William Loquist, and Emmet Laughlin of the Maxwell street station after they noticed Flynn and Vlcek acting suspiciously near the scene of the holdup.

Questioned last night by Lieut. Joseph Pieroth, Flynn said that his sponsor was Luiga Girardi, 45 years old, 4359 Congress street, a plumbing contractor.

"I was paroled from Joliet in December, 1934," Flynn said, "after serving a year of a one year to life sentence for burglary.

"I was supposed to report regularly to Girardi, my sponsor, who was to have given me a job. I didn't get the job. In the last year I only saw him a few times. At those times I would bring him three of the sheets he is supposed to sign monthly and forward to the parole office. He would sign the three sheets at one time and I wouldn't have to see him again." Girardi is to be questioned today.

Parole Superintendent Sullivan, in announcing the coöperation his office would extend to police, said he was acting at the request of Gov. Horner.

"Up until today," he said, "a parole grant has been tantamount to a complete discharge because of the lax methods employed in the job of apprehending these parole violators. In my Chicago office at 608 South Dearborn street is a large steel file labeled 'Dead.'

"This file contains, on the contrary, data pertaining to parole violators for whom warrants were issued and lodged at the detective bureau, several hundred parole violators who are very much alive and who will be returned to jail as quickly as they are apprehended.

Same as an Escaper.

"The status of a parole violator is the same as that of one who has escaped over a prison wall. The parolee is still a ward of the state and is only permitted to leave his jail cell to rehabilitate and readjust himself to society after a proper hearing before the parole board. [These hearings are secret.]

"Our plan of operation with violators in the past merely required that a 'stop' order be filed with the bureau of identification, but no concerted effort was made by any persons to follow up the order. We usually heard of the parole violator next when he was apprehended in connection with a crime perpetrated subsequent to the violation, as in the case of Joseph Schuster."

A special show-up will be held at the detective bureau today for Schuster, the slayer of Policeman Sullivan. Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan said that Schuster may have been involved in other unsolved slayings and robberies since his release from Joliet in March, 1934.

Rush Trial of Schuster.

"We're not going to overlook any bets on this killer," Chief Sullivan said. "If nothing new develops at the show-up an indictment for the murder of Policeman Sullivan will be sought against Schuster before the grand jury on Wednesday."

State's Attorney Courtney has announced that Schuster will be arraigned on the murder indictment immediately after it is returned. An early trial will be sought and the death penalty will be asked.

Schuster sat moodily in his cell at the detective bureau yesterday except for a short time when, heavily manacled, he was taken to the county morgue for the inquest into the policeman's death. The inquest was continued to tomorrow and Schuster was returned to his cell.

Policeman's Funeral Held.

Funeral services for Policeman Sullivan were held yesterday. Before the procession began, the undertaking rooms at 3604 Ogden avenue were cleared by police and Sullivan's widow and her two children, John, 16 years old, and Elizabeth, 14 years old, knelt beside the body.

More than a hundred policemen were in the procession as it moved to the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Central Park avenue and Cermak road. There a requiem high mass was sung and then the body was taken to Mount Carmel cemetery.

Parolee's Slayer Commended.

Policeman Harold Haight of the Fillmore street station, who shot and killed a paroled convict early Sunday when the man tried to rob him, was commended for his action yesterday by Deputy Coroner James Whalen and an inquest jury.

The inquest was over the body of Stephen Cholewczynski, alias Frederick Smith, 41 years old, described by police as "one of the toughest gunmen who ever walked Chicago's streets." The jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Cholewczynski was paroled from Joliet last May after serving six years for robbery with a gun. His parole sponsor was Thomas A. Collins, 1549 North Cicero avenue, owner of the Chicago Electrode Manufacturing company, 716 West Madison street. Collins said last night he employed Cholewczynski in the electric plant as a handyman.

Arrest Slain Man's Pal.

Late last night Irving Park police arrested William Kobley, 39 years old, an ex-convict and friend of Cholewczynski, in his home at 3018 North Parkside avenue. Anonymous information telephoned to Policeman Haight's wife led to the arrest. The caller told her that Kobley was Cholewczynski's confederate the night the latter was slain.

Mrs. Haight notified her husband who in turn relayed the information to Irving Park police. Kobley denied he was with Cholewczynski. He admitted he was released from prison 30 months ago after serving a robbery sentence.

Quints' Doctor Loses Fight to Dismiss $1,000,000 Suit

Attorneys for Dr. Allan Dafoe, famous physician for the Dionne quintuplets, and other defendants in the $1,000,000 breach of contract suit brought by Ivan I. Spear lost their fight yesterday for dismissal of the suit. Judge John P. Barnes of the Federal court ruled that the defendants must answer. Spear, a Chicago promoter, alleges that Dr. Dafoe and the other defendants failed to keep a contract to bring the quintuplets here for exhibition at the Century of Progress exposition.

GUERIN WANTS NEW LAWYERS; HEARING TODAY

Famed Criminal Goes After Secret Visit.

Eddie Guerin, notorious Chicago criminal of a generation ago, famed as the first man to escape from Devil's Island, the French penal colony off the coast of South America, made a secret visit here over the week-end, it was learned yesterday.

Guerin, now married and the father of four children with whom he lives in London, is seeking a share of the $67,000 estate left by his half-sister, Mrs. Harriet A. Mitchell, widow of a stockbroker, who died last May 18. He has already been granted an advance payment of $3,500 by the Probate court on his expected share of one-fifth of the estate.

Engages New Counsel.

On his arrival here last week, Guerin, who is 76 years old, engaged Attorneys John H. Johntry and John O'C. Fitzgerald to file a petition asking leave to substitute for Attorney William Kleinman, who has acted as Guerin's counsel in the probate matter.

A legal battle is expected because of a contract Kleinman is said to have with Guerin. Johntry and Fitzgerald's petition will be presented to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell today.

Guerin had planned to appear with his new counsel in court. Fear that "influences here might seek his return to the penal colony from which he escaped in 1905," caused him to board a plane at the Chicago airport Saturday night for a haven in Canada.

Claims British Citizenship.

The accident of his birth aboard a British steamer gives Guerin claim to British citizenship. This enables him to avoid extradition from England to France.

Attorney Johntry declared that Guerin, who has served terms in several American and French prisons, is now going straight. He is employed as a bookmaker's helper at English race tracks, said the lawyer.

W. Overton at Waukesha, Wis., and Memphis, attended Carroll college at Waukesha and received his law degree from the University of Wisconsin. He is a direct descendant of John Overton, a co-founder of Memphis.

120 MILLIONS IN U. S. GOLD SENT OUT OF N. YORK

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—While patrolmen and soldiers stood guard, and many New Yorkers wondered why the police were providing motorcycle escorts for mail trucks, 120 tons of gold moved through the streets tonight from the financial district to Pennsylvania station.

Making its first shipment from New York to the new federal treasure house at Fort Knox, Ky., the United States assay office sent out forty truckloads of the precious metal. Police officials valued the shipment, packed in 480 boxes of about 500 pounds each, at 120 million dollars. Similar lots will be transferred each Monday and on some Thursdays until about May 1, it was said, in order to move all of the gold stored here.

As the mail trucks, grouped in convoys of four, left the assay office they were accompanied by four police radio patrol cars, a squad car containing detectives, another automobile assigned to post office inspectors, and by six motorcycles with sidecars, in each of which rode a patrolman armed with a rifle. In addition two sergeants of the police motorcycle squad rode with each convoy.

IF SHE CAN STAY BORED SHE MAY STOP YAWNING

After 22 days of yawning, Mrs. Emily Paternoster began to get bored yesterday. And boredom, it turned out, is just the thing she needs to stop yawning. She hasn't been yawning because she was bored. It's just the other way around. She has been yawning because she wasn't.

Anyway she is considerably improved, according to her physician, Dr. C. M. Weinberg. Instead of yawning four yawns a minute, she goes for as much as two hours without yawning once, and when she begins again, it's usually because she's excited. You see? If she can just stay bored.

Mrs. Paternoster, the mother of four children, is 24 years old. She is under treatment in her home at 814 18th avenue, Maywood.

N. Y. JUDGE HITS GOV. LEHMAN FOR SAVING KILLERS

Declares There Are Too Many Being Paroled.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—County Judge Franklin Taylor in Brooklyn indirectly rebuked Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today for commuting a number of death penalties to life imprisonment as the judge sentenced three men convicted of kidnaping and robbery. He also criticized the state parole board for making life imprisonment terms "so much legal bunk."

Judge Taylor complained that "the judge sentences and some one else undoes the sentence."

"Those who are sentenced to the chair look hopefully for commutation, and frequently get it," he added. "Those who are commuted to life imprisonment will presently be out on parole."

Says Underworld Laughs at Law.

"The public does not realize," Judge Taylor said, "that sentences do not mean what the public thinks they mean," and added that "the underworld knows this and laughs at modern law enforcement."

Judge Taylor did not list the commutations he referred to in his implied criticism of Gov. Lehman, but Sing Sing prison records show that of six youths who were scheduled to die Jan. 7 for the murder of a subway collector, four received clemency from the governor. These four, whose sentences were commuted to life imprisonment, were Salvatore Scata, 19; Samuel Kimmel, 19; Eugene Bruno, 20, and Dominic Zizzo, 22.

Of four other condemned men scheduled to die last Thursday the sentences of three were commuted to life imprisonment by the governor. These were Wentworth Springer, Lawrence Jackson, and Robert Taliaferro, all colored, who were convicted of murder in a New York City holdup. Five condemned men are scheduled to die Thursday.

Calls Murder Fairly Safe Crime.

Later Judge Taylor remarked that "murder is a fairly safe crime to commit because it is the easiest to beat before juries," most of which he classified as "weak-kneed."

The men brought before Judge Taylor for sentence today were Dewey Savarese, 35 years old; Benjamin Beresford, 22, and Anthony Forte, 20. They were convicted of kidnaping and robbery in connection with a hijacking case.

Savarese and Beresford each were sentenced to serve from twenty years to life in Sing Sing on the kidnaping charge and from ten to thirty years on the robbery charge. Forte received the same sentences for kidnaping and robbery and also an additional sentence of from five to ten years for possession of a revolver, used in the crime.

Extreme Penalty for Kidnaping.

In imposing sentence Judge Taylor said:

"This additional extreme penalty is given as a warning that kidnaping, of no matter what character, will not be tolerated in Brooklyn. Snatching of holdup victims must stop. The object of punishment is not to reform the guilty, but to stop crime by making it unpopular. Making object lessons of those who are convicted is the king pin of law enforcement.

"Those who are convicted should serve the sentences which the court imposes. This means the death chair for murder in the first degree and severe prison penalties for other serious crimes.

"Commutation should be sparingly exercised; never in such a way as to raise widespread doubt and distress.

"Also, life imprisonment should mean what it says instead of just so much legal bunk.

Criticizes Parole Abuses.

"I am not bloodthirsty, but my sympathies are with the patient public. Little by little has the parole power been increased until it has attained the point of encouraging crime. The thing has gone so far that it would be better to abolish parole altogether than to stand for its abuse.

"I earnestly hope that the penalties in these three cases, which mean so much to the public if allowed to stand, will receive recognition and coöperation from the parole authorities, and that this policy will prevail on all future convictions for hi-jacking and kidnaping in this borough, to the end that this class of organized criminal practice will be wiped out. Those who get in the way of the steamroller must expect to get crushed. They have only themselves to blame."

FIRE IN DAYTON, O., DAMAGES PLANTS OF GENERAL MOTORS

Dayton, O., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Fire starting in a penthouse atop a seven story brick building of the Delco Products plant, a division of General Motors, was brought under control tonight after destroying the roof and damaging upper floors of the structure.

Three thousand men will resume their regular eight hour shifts tomorrow, company officials said.

One thousand workers were in the structure when flames were detected, and marched to safety. All available fire fighting apparatus within the downtown area responded to the alarm.

AUTOIST SAVES PEDESTRIAN, BUT BLOW KILLS HIM

A pedestrian died last night from a blow which police say was struck by a motorist angered when he had to stop his car suddenly to save the pedestrian's life.

The victim was John Pavlukiwicz, 56 years old, 4648 South Turner avenue, an employé of the Chicago Athletic association. He was on his way home Sunday night when he stepped in front of a car driven by George Cernava, 23 years old, of 5704 South Kilbourne avenue, at Archer and Spaulding avenues. Cernava stopped in time to avoid running the man down, then got out of his car, rebuked Pavlukiwicz for his carelessness, and knocked him down, injuring his head. He died last night in the County hospital.

The motorist was arrested and after the pedestrian's death was ordered held for the inquest.

CONTINUE CHARGES AGAINST MAID.

Seven charges of burglary against Myrtle Barnes, 38 years old, a mulatto housemaid who confessed taking approximately $50,000 in jewels from homes where she was employed, were continued to Feb. 2 in Felony court yesterday. She is being held in $21,000 bonds.

1,500 SALOONS PADLOCKED; NO 1937 LICENSES

Police Get Quick Action; 3,000 Lack Permits.

Police closed 1,538 saloons yesterday for failure to obtain 1937 city licenses, according to an incomplete survey made last night. It was expected that the total would be swelled considerably by statistics from six police districts that had not reported.

Police Commissioner Allman ordered the unlicensed drinking places closed when a survey revealed that only 6,177 licenses had been issued at the end of last week—3,022 fewer than were issued in 1936.

Prompt Reopening Allowed.

The police accordingly visited all saloons yesterday and locked the doors of those whose owners could not produce licenses.

The drive sent 1,550 saloonkeepers swarming into the office of Louis Rixmann, city collector, for licenses. Officials said that owners whose places were closed during the day would be permitted to reopen immediately after obtaining licenses.

Hundreds of them obtained licenses before the city collector's office closed for the day. The result was that numerous places were able to reopen after not more than a few hours of shutdowns. This naturally materially reduced the closing figures. The Fillmore street district is a good example. During the day 85 taverns in that district were closed. At midnight last night only 12 were still closed—the others having obtained licenses.

The Chicago Lawn district had the largest number of drinking places closed—220—a majority of the 350 in the district.

Scores in Other Districts.

Among those closed in other districts were:

Three saloonkeepers who refused to obey the closing order were arrested and their places were closed despite their protests. They were Edward Lubin, 28 years old, 68 East Cermak road; Walter Gogerty, 31 years old, 304 West Randolph street, and Robert Reed, 56, colored, 1130 South Michigan avenue.

Licenses cost $600 for the year, or $300 for a six months' period.

Seized Driving Cab, Bandit Admits Robbing 15 Drivers

Albert Ralph Sylvester, 23 years old, 6125 South Morgan street, confessed yesterday he had robbed fifteen Yellow Cab drivers in the last two weeks. He said he intimidated them by holding his hand in his pocket as though gripping a pistol. He was arrested Sunday night while driving the cab of Howard Le Stronge, 1854 South Ridgeway avenue, in which he was holding Le Stronge prisoner. Sylvester said he came here recently from Plainfield, Wis.

MURPHY STARTS TO WASHINGTON IN MOTOR TIEUP

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Prospects that President Roosevelt may be asked to intervene in the automobile strike loomed tonight as Gov. Murphy left for Washington, after the breakdown of the peace treaty he negotiated last Friday at Lansing. The governor said he was going to the capital, not for the inauguration, but on other business.

He asserted he would not seek the ear of the President, but said the strike situation would be discussed. Secretary of Labor Perkins said at Washington that the governor will confer with her and it was believed she or others would take the situation up at the White House. It also was predicted that Murphy will have a conference with John L. Lewis, head of the committee for industrial organization.

Public Interest Paramount.

The governor would not divulge the men he planned to meet.

"This strike," he said, "has passed beyond a private fight. The public interest is the primary one."

Each side charged the other with breach of faith in the armistice struck last Friday morning in Gov. Murphy's offices at the capitol. Each side blamed the other for frustration of a settlement conference. The position of the sitdown strikers was the rock on which it split.

General Motors held to its original position that no bargaining with the U. A. W. would start until the sitdown strikers evacuate G. M. plants. In two Fisher Body plants at Flint sitdowners are still in possession of the scene.

Held Violation of Truce.

The company held this was in violation of the first item in the armistice—evacuation of all plants with sitdown strikers not later than this morning. Union officials, headed by Homer Martin, held that General Motors had violated the truce on three counts as charged yesterday, and that sitdowners would not leave the plants.

Leaders of the two opposing sides met for a few minutes shortly before noon in the General Motors building. But it was only to call the truce off. Afterwards statements were released:

"The workers are determined not to leave the plants in the face of these flagrant violations by General Motors of a bona fide agreement," said Martin.

"Under the circumstances there can be no bargaining until the plants have been evacuated," said W. S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors.

Back on Old Basis.

Thus the strike controversy is just about where it was when settlement negotiations blew up ten or twelve days ago on the same question of occupancy of the plants by sitdown strikers. The company held to the policy of no negotiating until it was given possession of its property.

Today 125,000 workers were without work in 34 General Motors plants closed either completely or partially by the strike.

The meeting of the union leaders and General Motors officials just before noon was short. Representing the union, who arrived first, were Mr. Martin, Wyndham Mortimer, first vice president; John Brophy, director of the C. I. O.; Lee Pressman, C. I. O. counsel; Eli L. Oliver, C. I. O. statistician, and Ed Hall, second vice president of the U. A. W. They were met by Harry W. Anderson, director of labor relations of General Motors, and C. E. Wilson, a vice president.

Stand Pat on Charges.

Entering the room shortly afterwards were Mr. Knudsen, Donaldson Brown, chairman of the finance committee of General Motors, and John Thomas Smith, General Motors general counsel.

The union officials said their position had been set forth in the newspaper accounts of the points Mr. Martin said yesterday were violations of the truce by the company. Knudsen handed in a statement of the company's position, and without discussion the parley broke up.

Knudsen's statement was an answer to accusations of the union that General Motors had broken the truce agreement by agreeing to confer on collective bargaining with the Flint alliance, the bulk of which is said to be composed of nonunion workers; that Cadillac workers in Detroit were recalled to their jobs, and that at Anderson, Ind., police broke up a picket line after the Guide Lamp plant was evacuated.

At the Cadillac plant, the General Motors officials said, workers in the parts departments were called to work today, and that they are all working on distribution and on bookkeeping and not on manufacturing. Knudsen said this was agreed to by Mortimer of the union by telephone.

Martin Says "Not So."

In rejoinder to this Martin declared that no union representative at any time made any commitments in regard to admission of parts workers to the plants, and that Mortimer's telephoned agreement applied only to certain office workers. The Lansing truce had for a second item an agreement by the company not to try to operate plants where there are strikes, pending the outcome of the peace negotiations, Martin emphasized.

Respecting the Anderson, Ind., situation, Knudsen quoted a telegram from Mayor Harry R. Baldwin to the effect that instead of the 150 police charged by the union as being on guard at the Guide Camp plant only 14 police were on the job, and that this number was now reduced to seven. The telegram said peaceful picketing is being allowed.

The union reply was that the Baldwin telegram bore out Martin's charge that he was "aware of company intentions of sending people into the plant contrary to agreement." It said after the evacuation there was an "army of police around the plant."

Question of Bargaining.

Next came the question concerning collective bargaining and the telegrams between the Flint alliance and General Motors, in which Knudsen told George E. Boysen, head of the alliance, on Sunday:

"We stand ready always to discuss with your group or any group of our employés any question without prejudice to any one. We shall notify you as soon as possible as to a time and a place for a meeting."

Martin had charged this was a violation of the terms of the truce.

Knudsen, in reply, said that no time and place for a meeting had been set and that at no time has the company guaranteed that it would deal solely with the U. A. W. officials.

Crux of the Argument.

Martin then charged that the telegrams showed that the company agreed to negotiate with another group before sitting down with the union to negotiate on a main issue. This is the real meat of the whole controversy. It is whether the company shall recognize the U. A. W. as "sole collective bargaining" agency for General Motors employés.

Martin's statement charged that the Flint alliance does not represent automobile workers, although the alliance says 80 per cent of its 12,000 members are workers. It declared Boysen, for twenty-four years a Buick paymaster, "is a tool of General Motors."

Murphy Demands Order.

Gov. Murphy before leaving for Washington said he would be back Tuesday or Wednesday if necessary, and that he had left orders in Flint and Lansing to provide for public peace and order. He declined to comment as to whether either side, in his opinion, had violated the terms of the truce, and remarked that the strike situation would be "discussed in Washington."

"The strike," he said, "might be long drawn out. I hope it won't. My efforts will continue to be to protect the public interest as the primary consideration."

Delco-Remy Reopens.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The Delco-Remy plant of General Motors, employing more than 10,000 when it shut down Dec. 31 because of strikes in other General Motors plants, resumed operations in several departments today, and more employés are being called back to work.

Tells of Tryst with Al Smith Jr.

Miss Catherine Pavlick stole hasty glances at the wife of the former New York governor's son as she testified in an undertone yesterday that she went to a hotel with Al Smith Jr. after meeting him at a party. Later she obtained money from him by telling him she was to have a child.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Alfred E. Smith Jr. leaned forward in a chair in court this afternoon and listened intently to the whispered story of the woman who went to a hotel with her husband in May, 1934, and later obtained money from him by telling him she was to have a child.

As she told her story, Miss Catherine Pavlick—a blonde whose hair almost matches that of the wife of the former governor's son—darted quick glances at Mrs. Smith, twisted her white knit gloves nervously, and kept her voice so low that even the jurors could hardly hear. Judge Charles C. Knott Jr. several times warned her to speak louder.

Women Eye Each Other.

There was panic at times in the face of the witness. Mrs. Smith eyed Miss Pavlick steadily as the story of her husband's indiscretion was unfolded.

Miss Pavlick was the first witness at the trial of Max D. Krone, a private detective, and A. Henry Ross, a Brooklyn attorney, who, Smith charges, got $12,000 from him, of which the girl received only $1,000.

She met Smith at a party in a west side café, she said, and recalled that among the guests was "Lord Desmond," who allegedly figured in other affairs with Krone. They went to a 23d street hotel, she said, and remained about an hour.

Tells of Cash Agreement.

Later she sought to reach Smith to tell him she was in trouble, but could not get in touch with him, she testified. She went to Krone, who called in Ross, and together they wrote a letter to Smith, she said. Later Smith visited the lawyer's office, Miss Pavlick asserted, and agreed to make certain payments.

Mrs. Smith, who has obtained a legal separation, told reporters before she entered the courtroom:

"I just dropped in to hear what was going on. I don't know whether I will come back to hear more."

A jury for the trial was chosen in record time—three hours—from a special panel. Several of the panel were excused because they knew young Smith or his father.

Melbourne Docks Swept by Fire; Fix Loss at $2,500,000

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A $2,500,000 fire spread through 5 acres of wooden buildings at the Victoria docks today. One vessel, the British Port Wellington, caught fire and was set adrift. The blaze was extinguished in midstream. Butter in one building warehouse flowed into the streets like lava. In another molten cheese exploded like fireworks.

YOUTHS HUNTING 'THRILL' GET BAD SCARE INSTEAD

Flint, Mich., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Two youths who said they got a "bad scare" instead of the "thrill" they sought tonight caused a brief flurry of excitement when they were captured by "sit-down" strikers inside Fisher body plant No. 2.

They gave their names as Julius Clapp of Au Train, Mich., and Warren Rice of Detroit, and related a story of clambering over a fence, going up a fire escape onto the roof, and then down into the strike-closed plant. A patrol maintained by the strikers made the capture and raised an alarm which brought a crowd to the outside of the plant, where rioting occurred a week ago tonight.

The crowd was orderly and the boys were turned over to newsmen, who took them to their rooming house.

TRAPS AND BEATS STREET ANNOYER OF HIS FIANCEE

Miss Caroline Vallo, 18 years old, 561 Bunker street, complained to her fiancé that a man had annoyed her several times as she waited at Clinton and Taylor streets for a street car to take her to work at the Curtiss Candy company.

Yesterday morning as Miss Vallo waited for the car the annoyer appeared again. Her fiancé, John Boncinino, 1416 Larrabee street, owner of a poultry store, who was hiding nearby, rushed out and hit the stranger over the head with a wagon wheel spoke. Maxwell street police were summoned and took the beaten man to county hospital, where he identified himself as Peter Roberts, 44 years old, 1100 South Sangamon street.

Held to Jury

Annie Bimbo, 30 years old, daughter of Tine Bimbo, self-styled "king of the gypsies," was held to the grand jury in $10,000 bond in Felony court yesterday on a charge of larceny. Joseph Stark, attendant in a gasoline station at 7500 Addison street, testified that she took $6 from his pocket while reading his palm on Saturday.

WIFE GETS FIRST PENSION TEST $5 FOR PERMANENT

Other bits of the $200 donated to C. C. Fleming, 63-year-old unemployed orchardist, for a "field test" of the pension plan went for an overcoat for Fleming, new shoes for his wife, and a money pouch to hold what was left.

While Fleming tried out the Townsend theory the Washington state house of representatives went on record in favor of the pension scheme, adopting, 85 to 12, a memorial to congress favoring such a scheme. It proposed a 2 per cent transactions tax to finance the project.

Has 30 Days to Spend It.

The Chelan pension organization gave Fleming $200 Saturday night. The only strings were that he must spend it in thirty days. Merchants of the town agreed to assess themselves, 2 per cent every time one of the marked dollars changed hands, in line with Dr. F. E. Townsend's plan to pay every person more than 65 years old a pension of $200 a month.

Fleming and his wife set out in zero weather this morning to spend his first "stake" in months. Newspaper and news reel photographers halted him at the city hall, however, and it was 10 o'clock before he really got into action. By noon his pocket was lighter by $82.60. He had spent $4 "unofficially" Saturday night.

As soon as the photographers released them the oldster and his wife hurried to a beauty parlor. He left $5 there.

Gets Himself a Pouch.

Among the first things Fleming plans to buy are groceries for "a real feed" for sixteen Flemings, including children and grandchildren.

"Business men in Chelan are glad to coöperate with the club in making this test so that the public will know that is done with the idea of really learning something about the merits of the Townsend plan," he said.

GRAND JURY ACTS IN GEN. DENHARDT SLAYING INQUIRY

New Castle, Ky., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Henry county grand jury began investigation today of the fatal shooting of comely Verna Garr Taylor, fiancée of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, former Kentucky adjutant general and lieutenant governor.

Witnesses were called before the grand jury after attorneys for Gen. Denhardt, who is at liberty under $25,000 bond on a charge of killing the attractive 40 year old widow, failed in an attempt to have Judge C. C. Marshall inform the jurymen of the general's willingness to waive immunity and testify before them.

The grand jury adjourned late today without announcing any action in the case.

Commonwealth Attorney H. B. Kinsolving said late today that if Gen. Denhardt were indicted he would ask that the trial be set for next Monday, but would not press for that date if the defense desired further time to prepare.

"I can explain away this charge it the grand jury will hear me. I am ready and willing to answer any and all questions," Gen. Denhardt told newsmen while he waited in a lawyer's office across the street from the courthouse today.

Must Pay Alimony Piled Up During Court Appeal

Circuit Court Judge Philip J. Finnegan ruled yesterday that William G. De Motte, president of the National Casket company, must pay $1,819 back alimony, under a separate maintenance decree, to Mrs. Maude G. De Motte, 4659 Drexel boulevard. The alimony accrued while an appeal was pending before the Illinois Supreme court to test the law limiting separate maintenance to two years where there are no children and giving either party a divorce after that time.

These Diners Were Present During Bizarre Opera House Murder

Crime Is Reconstructed.

From a mass of somewhat incoherent evidence, police drew this story of the action:

Cicero, who came from Stamford, Conn., sat at a table with several friends. He had been drinking. He appeared truculent. He became noisy, much to the discomfiture of neighboring guests. Several "shushed" him. He ignored them.

Finally two or three men from another table walked up to him. They demanded he quiet down. He became louder. The next second everybody at Cicero's table tangled in a fight, the strangers among them. Glasses, bottles, plates, and fists flew.

When the fight ceased, Cicero lay dead; his killers were gone. They were among the six who disappeared before the police arrived.

TWO QUESTIONED AS KIDNAP HUNT TURNS TO SOUTH

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Federal agents working on the Charles Mattson kidnaping concentrated their activities tonight in southern California, where two men were questioned in the brutal crime.

Harold Nathan, chief field agent for the bureau of investigation, who came here by plane from Tacoma last night, conferred with J. H. Hanson, head of the Los Angeles office, but his visit was termed "routine."

At Everett, Wash., it was said autopsy surgeons decided the deep stab wound in Charles' back was inflicted after the boy died of a head wound because penetration of a lung cavity had left no blood there. The source added it was definitly determined the stab wound was not accidentally inflicted.

'MEANEST THIEF' SENT TO JAIL FOR 5 YEARS AS VICTIMS LOOK ON

Lawrence Reno, 34 years old, 937 Belden avenue, who earned his title of "Chicago's meanest thief" by swindling even blind men and children, was sentenced by Municipal Judge Gibson E. Gorman yesterday to serve five years in the Bridewell.

While several of his victims looked on, Reno was sentenced to six months in jail on each of ten charges of obtaining money under false pretenses. Among those who appeared against him were Henry Stacker, 1036 East 43d street, a blind newsboy from whom Reno obtained $5, and Truman Walmsley, 8 years old, 4221 North Kedvale avenue, whom Reno defrauded of $1.04. Another was the Rev. Jerome Cowley of Our Lady of Angels church, who testified that Reno disappeared with $40 the priest had given him to buy basketball uniforms.

Reno's favorite ruse was to ask his victim for change for a $1 or $5 bill, promising to return immediately with the bill. Instead he would sneak away.

HUSBAND HOLDS THEIR BABY AS WIFE KILLS HIM

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Joseph A. Hartman, 32 years old, was shot and killed tonight by his wife, Flossie, 32, after she had handed the husband the couple's 11 month old son, Wayne. The wife, who was estranged from Hartman, fired five bullets from a revolver into the man's body after she discovered him seated in a parked automobile with Miss Mary King, 34. Mrs. Hartman arrived with the baby several hours earlier from Dunkard, Pa., where she had been living with relatives.

At first there was doubt whether or not she would be admitted to the rôle of official emblem because of her sex. But Senator Henry F. Ashhurst [Dem., Ariz.] rushed to her support.

"Symbolically, the female donkey represents our principles better than the male," proclaimed Ashurst, an authority on the emblem of his party.

Among the qualities found in the she donkey, explained the senator, are: Stoicism, stately dignity, moderation, forbearance, and restraint.

In a pre-inaugural triple political play, Lieut. Gov. J. B. Snider of Mississippi will present the donkey to Lieut. Gov. J. E. Harley of South Carolina, who will hand over her reins to Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Snider lost the donkey to Harley on an election bet. Each lieutenant governor wagered that his state would give President Roosevelt the larger majority—and the South Carolina official won.

BOSTON BANK FIXES WRONG HOUSE WHILE OWNER SAYS NOTHING

Newburyport, Mass., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—After spending $500 for renovating and redecorating a house officials of the Newburyport Coöperative bank today discovered to their chagrin that they had fixed up the wrong house.

John F. Leary, owner of the unoccupied two family house, learned with mingled feelings that a crew of carpenters, painters, and paperhangers had done over his house, inside and out, without expense to him.

With equal amazement bank officials discovered the work should have been done in the unoccupied two family house two doors away from the Leary property.

When informed of the mistake by George E. Stickney, treasurer of the bank, Leary, who also is an attorney, was sympathetic, but could suggest no immediate solution of the bank's mistake.

SEES PARALYSIS CRIPPLING 660 IN STATE IN 5 YEARS

Four Parties Here Jan. 30 to Raise "Polio" Funds.

More than 660 persons—likely as many as 767—will be permanently crippled in Illinois during the next four or five years by infantile paralysis. This prediction was made yesterday in the Hotel La Salle by Dr. G. Howard Gowen, assistant epidemiologist of the state department of health, at the first annual conference of the Illinois Association for the Crippled.

Infantile paralysis, whose scientific name is "poliomyelitis," is commonly called by physicians "polio." Federal funds available to Illinois under the social security act to aid children handicapped by polio have been arranged for, according to A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare. He said the $120,000 to be received in 1937 will be used to establish orthopedic clinics in downstate hospitals. Chicago facilities are ahead of those downstate.

Plan Benefit Parties.

On Jan. 30, President Roosevelt's birthday, four public parties are to be held here to raise funds to fight polio. Chicago agencies and the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia are to share the proceeds. Plans for the parties were well advanced here yesterday, according to James R. Leavell, treasurer of the general program committee. Last year there was only one public benefit.

A party to be held in the Hotel Knickerbocker will be a grand ball with an elaborate program of entertainment including appearances by celebrities of the stage, screen, radio, and night clubs. Admission will be $5 per person.

Arrange Other Affairs.

Other parties will be held at the Aragon ballroom, Lawrence avenue near Broadway; at Guyon's Paradise ballroom on Pulaski road at Washington boulevard, and at the Trianon ballroom, 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue. There will be entertainment and at least two dance orchestras at each of these gatherings. Tickets are priced at $1 a person.

CITY DECLARES WAR ON SYPHILIS; STAF OF 60 ACTS

Campaign Plans Mapped at Mayor's Parley.

BY ERNEST KIRSCHTEN.

Under the leadership of Mayor Kelly, Chicago yesterday made the eradication of venereal diseases the first order of business on its public health program.

Before a meeting of 300 public spirited citizens whom he had summoned to the city council chamber, the mayor called a spade by its right name. He counted the cost of syphilis and gonorrhea to Chicago, and appointed a committee of sixty doctors, scientists, social workers, and civic leaders, headed by Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, secretary of the board of health, to coördinate Chicago's drive against the double scourge. And in this he was pledged substantial aid by the state of Illinois.

Called Epochal by de Kruif.

Yesterday's meeting, which Dr. Paul de Kruif, noted microbe hunter, described as epochal in American medical and public health history, was a direct result of THE TRIBUNE's sustained efforts to bring syphilis and gonorrhea into the open by dispelling the prudish and secretive attitude that made possible their worst ravages.

This campaign of news stories, editorials, and informative Graphic Section articles, aroused public interest and culminated in the recent Washington conference. At this meeting Thomas Parran Jr., the surgeon general of the United States public health service, mapped a nation-wide drive against venereal disease. THE TRIBUNE has set the example for a number of national magazines which are now planning articles on the subject, Dr. de Kruif said.

"Crossword Puzzle Words."

"This publicity will make crossword puzzle words of 'syphilis' and 'gonorrhea,'" he added.

Dr. de Kruif in those words echoed Mayor Kelly's keynote for the meeting. The mayor said it had been called by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, and himself in an effort to bring these diseases full into the spotlight of publicity so that Chicago might take an effective lead in the national campaign against them.

"All the suffering caused by social diseases is unnecessary," said the mayor. "These diseases are doomed if we launch a relentless campaign of education and control. The time has come when every child of reasonable age should be warned of this menace.

Sees Record Low Death Rate.

"Death rates have been tumbling year after year. We lay claim to being one of the healthiest large cities in the world. I venture to predict that when our citizens become properly aroused to the tremendous importance of combating venereal diseases in an organized, effective way, and attack the problem with our usual 'I Will' spirit, our death rate and sickness rates will recede to new low levels."

Dr. Bundesen and Dr. Schmidt seconded this keynote and pointed out the real task of the gathering.

"A campaign of education, of pitiless publicity, will break down the conspiracy of silence, and the public will respond as soon as the facts are known," said Dr. Bundesen. "Lurking behind the protecting screen of ignorance, fear, timidity, and false modesty, these assasins play no favorites. We must fight them like any other contagious disease."

Many at Work Already.

Pointing out that many in the audience are already independently at work on social problems, Dr. Schmidt said:

"The mayor of Chicago is now asking you to coöperate in mastering a seemingly unconquerable foe. Those of us who are interested in this problem realize that, no matter how thoroughly the medical angle is handled, the social hygiene forces must play an important rôle in the campaign. The preventive campaign depends largely on a program of education, recreation, and protection for the younger generation.' '

Coöperation on the part of the state was promised by Dr. Frank Jirka, its health commissioner. Cases of syphilis reported to his office are exceeded only by measles and scarlet fever, he said.

"To make effective headway against this menace," he continued, "the state is ready to establish clinics when and where they are requested by municipalities. In addition to this public aid, the Illinois Medical society is on record as backing the drive in every possible way. The Chicago Medical society will hold a symposium on venereal diseases on Feb. 3."

Believes No More Funds Needed.

Although the mayor's committee was authorized to raise any money that might be needed to supplement public funds, Mayor Kelly said he believed this would not be necessary. The city has about $75,000 for the work, he said, and with state aid this may be sufficient.

Indicative of the practical work that is already under way was the report of William E. Johnson, superintendent of schools, who outlined new sanitary measures that are being taken in buildings under his charge, as well as plans for a broader participation in the campaign.

"We are working, first of all, for better relations between the schools and the various medical agencies," he said. "And we are introducing a new health program in February. This will carry full credit and will stress the dangers of venereal disease. Realistic instruction will be given to segregated groups of boys and girls. Also we will have health counselors for boys and girls in the high schools."

Need United Program.

"The physicians must lead this fight," declared Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, "but it is necessary to have a coördinated program, facilities, and funds. The great accomplishment of this meeting should be the creation of a central organization that will prevent duplication and waste and that will make it possible —not in a year or two, but eventually—to conquer syphilis and gonorrhea as we have conquered typhus and malaria."

CAMPAIGN ON SYPHILIS HERE COMMENDED BY ARGENTINE DOCTOR

Dr. José Arce, dean of the college of medicine at the University of Buenos Aires, commended yesterday the public campaign being waged against syphilis in the United States and said that Argentina is adopting similar methods against the disease. With Dr. Isidro Castillo and Dr. Adolfo Landivar he is making a tour of major hospitals and medical schools to get ideas for the construction of a new medical center for his university.

"I am happy to see that the people of this country are waking up to the fact that syphilis cannot be conquered with secrecy," Dr. Arce declared. "We in our country have also realized this and we are now working in the open with public support."

The visitors were guests at a luncheon in the Passavant hospital given by members of the staf and of the faculty of the nearby school of medicine of Northwestern university. Dr. Arce and his party will visit next the Mayo Brothers' hospital at Rochester, Minn.

FIVE SENTENCED FOR 20TH WARD PRIMARY FRAUDS

Jarecki Orders One Year Terms in Jail.

Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court yesterday sentenced five election officials of the 31st precinct of the 20th ward to one year in jail for primary election fraud last April 14.

They were cited for contempt of court for altering ballots and failure to obtain affidavits from illiterate or disabled voters who were assisted in marking ballots. Judge Jarecki allowed them liberty on bonds of $2,500 each pending an appeal. He set tomorrow for hearing on a motion to vacate the sentences.

Officials Sentenced.

The officials are Fred Savaiano, 28 years old, 733 Taylor street, and Mike Corso, 29 years old, 771 De Koven street, Republican judges; Carman Bagnola, 35 years old, 763 De Kovan street, Democratic judge; Alex J. Morelli, 28 years old, 737 De Kovan street, Republican clerk; and John Cantore, 23 years old, 733 Taylor street, Democratic clerk.

"The purpose of this rule [requiring affidavits]" said Judge Jarecki in pronouncing sentence, "is to avoid imposing on uneducated voters, to avoid panhandling of votes. Without it the foreign elements could be kept under the thumbs of politicians and prevented from exercising a free ballot."

Attorney Benedict J. Short pleaded that Cantore was inexperienced, and had taken the place of another official who was ill. Judge Jarecki said: "Ignorance is no excuse. I sentenced a man to six months once for not appearing at the polling place to work. The reason was to let some one else do the job of crookedness."

Total of 80 Cited.

Eighty election officials in sixteen precincts of the 20th ward have been cited for contempt in connection with the April primary. This case was the fifth to be tried from that ward. Convictions have been obtained in all except one instance.

Judge Jarecki also issued warants for the arrest of James Prignano, 722 Bunker street, a Democratic precinct captain, and brother of Al Prignano, slain state representative, and for William Cavico, 783 De Koven street, a Democratic worker.

Testimony at the trial of the five election officials involved Prignano and Cavico, who were accused of assisting in the ballot count. When arrested they will be held to the grand jury, since the County court has jurisdiction only over election officials.

JUNE MAC CLOY TO PAY 3 CREDITORS, BUT NOT THE FOURTH, SHE SAYS

MISS JUNE MAC CLOY.
[Tribune Photo.]

Miss June MacCloy, once a well paid movie actress and night club singer, faced four creditors before Referee in Bankruptcy John P. Haley yesterday at Joliet. All she has in the world, said the attractive blonde, is the clothing on her back, which she valued at $50.

Miss MacCloy, who was adjudged bankrupt last month, declared her intention to pay $700 due to three Joliet and Chicago tradesmen as soon as she gets a job. But the fourth and largest claim, $1,620, by David Schornstein, New York theatrical agent, Miss MacCloy declared a fraud.

Schornstein claimed a fee for getting Miss MacCloy into the movies. The former actress asserted she was aided only by a well known New York columnist and his wife, who arranged a screen test.

It was incorrectly stated in yesterday's TRIBUNE that Miss MacCloy is the wife of Otto Whiteman, a Chicago musician. Miss MacCloy is single. Whiteman is a relative.

FAKE PETTERS BRING BAN ON RURAL PARKING

This hurts Chief Deputy Sherif Thomas E. Kennedy of Lake county more than it will the young folks it's addressed to: They'll have to stop petting in parked cars on lonely roads.

Understand, Kennedy hasn't anything against romance. If he just knew that there were a boy and a girl in every car, with no intention of stealing anything but a kiss in the dark, he'd never say a word. He'd pretend he didn't even see them.

But burglars who pose as petters sit around in parked cars, he said at his office in Waukegan last night, and then, when no one's watching, loot country homes. And so he has had to ban petting.

JAPAN SWEPT BY UNREST AS COST OF LIVING SOARS

Militarists Are Blamed; Officials Alarmed.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The rising cost of living, which political leaders asserted sprang from the swollen military programs, today confronted the government with an imminent crisis.

Since the new year prices of foodstuffs and other staples have risen from 10 to 30 per cent, in some instances as much as 50 per cent. This trend prevailed even in the big public markets of Tokio and Osaka, where rice and fish, main items of the Japanese diet, are sold.

The soaring prices overshadowed every other political factor in the country. Every family in the empire was affected; mutterings of discontent were heard especially among the lower classes. Uneasy officials recalled the "rice riots" of 1918, when Tokio mobs, incensed by rapidly rising food prices, stormed and burned police boxes.

Charge Nation Is Oppressed.

Leaders of the political parties, which oppose the militarists' ambitions to dominate imperial policy and also are fighting Premier Koki Hirota government's financial and diplomatic policies, have seized on the issue of high prices. They feel the government and military unwittingly may have placed a weapon in their hands.

"The government has failed to adjust its financial policy, resulting in a radical increase in military expenses and thereby oppressing the nation," declared leaders of the Minseito, which has a plurality in the house of representatives.

This criticism was supported by the Seiyukai, second largest party, and other groups.

Assail Tax Increases.

The government's new tax program [embodying the first important tax increases since 1926] also was bitterly assailed. Minseito leaders in parliament passed a resolution which said:

"The government's tax reform bill embodies a number of unnecessary new taxes which threaten the livelihood of the masses. Never before has the fate of the country been so dark as at present."

Political party leaders asserted the people generally were coming to believe that the unprecedented budget drafted by the government for 1937-'38, with its record army and navy appropriations of $869,726,000, was to blame for the higher cost of living.

Official spokesmen have tried to reassure the public that this was not the case, that the rise in prices was only temporary and would subside. But the people were not inclined to listen to such arguments.

The finance ministry has tried to explain the rise as part of a world tendency and asserted that harmful inflation would not ensue. Officials of the ministry have suggested as remedies modification of currency policy and strengthening control of foreign exchange. They hoped further increases in foreign trade would ease the situation.

CHICAGOAN DIES

Mr. Spencer was en route to the Los Angeles office of his company with an associate, Herbert Hulse of La Salle, Ill., a former Chicago resident, who escaped without serious injury.

Mr. Spencer was born at Pasadena, Cal. Since 1925 he has been president of the Stromberg Electric company, and the Stromberg Time Recorder company of Canada. His club memberships included the Chicago Athletic club, The Tavern, and the Exmoor Country club.

SPANISH REBELS CAPTURE SECOND MALAGA BARRIER

2 Day Battle Gains Town of Marbella.

BY H. H. WALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 18.—Spanish Fascist insurgent forces captured Marbella, 35 miles southwest of Malaga, after a two day battle, insurgent headquarters at Algeciras announced today. The insurgents now are pointing their spearhead toward Los Boliches and Guengirola, villages twenty miles from Malaga.

Marbella was the second town conquered in the Fascists' drive against Malaga, Mediterranean port which has been in government hands since the start of the Spanish civil war six months ago.

Rebels Using 20,000 Troops.

The Fascists launched their drive a week ago with 20,000 troops of various nationalities under Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano and first captured Estepona, long a stumbling block. Marbella was the last important town between Gibraltar and Malaga. Algeciras headquarters asserted the government forces suffered heavily in the two day battle. Marbella had strong fortifications and its captors took large stocks of arms and ammunition.

The Malaga radio station is appealing to building workers and others to come forward with picks and shovels and dig trenches and other fortifications around Malaga—an indication of how the insurgents' swift push has taken the government by surprise. The appeal adds that the enemy is at the gates of Malaga and urges all workmen to defend the town.

Six Bombs Peril French Ship.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—(AP)—An unidentified airplane dropped six bombs near the French destroyer Maille Breze off the Spanish Mediterranean coast today, but did not damage the vessel, naval officials declared. First reports, they said, did not indicate whether the plane was a government or a Fascist insurgent machine.

The attack, officials asserted, occurred off Cape Sebastian, south of the Gulf of Rosas, between Barcelona and the French border. The 2,441 ton French ship did not fire at the plane, but sailed north toward Toulon, France, they said.

Barcelona Drives Off Attacker.

BARCELONA, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Catalan coastal guns routed an insurgent ship seeking to attack Barcelona harbor early today. The insurgent vessel, which was not identified, fired twice at the tanker Campillo near port. Sirens sounded in Barcelona and citizens dashed for the protection of cellars as lights blinked out. The ship vanished after guns from Port Montjuich got into action. One person was reported wounded in the sea exchange.

Machine Gun Hospital Refugees.

MADRID, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Government militiamen besieging Fascist insurgents trapped on an upper floor of the Clinic hospital of University City in northwestern Madrid rained rifle and machine gun fire into the building tonight, but the insurgents held out.

With a stairway blown out beneath them the Fascists were in a desperate predicament. Government troops pushed their lines closer to the building.

Sunshine which came after three days of rain brought a new artillery bombardment of the center of Madrid. Several buildings were damaged and pedestrians scurried for cover, but no casualties were reported.

Discover Dynamite Cache.

Police reported the discovery of nearly ninety pounds of dynamite in a house in which they arrested several persons charged with aiding the Fascists.

Great numbers of refugees continued to pour out of Madrid in trucks and cars, but many noncombatants demanded that they be allowed to remain here. The government has ordered compulsory evacuation of civilians to conserve supplies.

Officials prepared new regulations to close more theaters in order to reduce public concentrations. They promised, however, to assure a fair distribution of the lessened amount of work for musicians, actors, and technical employés who otherwise would be thrown out of work.

Hasten to Increase Imports.

VALENCIA, Spain, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Spanish Popular Front government hastened action today to increase imports essential to combating the revolution.

Plans were announced to lower tarifs on some prime necessities and to abolish duties altogether on others. Taxes on sugar imports recently were cut 60 per cent.

A commission was said to be planned to negotiate new commercial accords with other governments, to adopt measures for the release of frozen credits abroad and to take steps to restore Spanish foreign trade.

Europe's Crisis Eases as Portugal Weighs Troops Ban

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The prospect that Europe yet would succeed in conquering the Spanish civil war's threat to general European peace appeared slightly improved tonight, neutral observers declared.

In London, where a subcommittee of the international neutrality group met in an effort to include a ban on foreign volunteers in the general nonintervention agreement, informed sources expressed belief Portugal would consent to a separate accord to block enlistment of foreigners.

Germany and Italy already had said they favored elimination of all non-Spaniards from participation in the civil struggle. Portuguese, German, and Italian soldiers have been fighting with the Spanish Fascist insurgents, and soldiers from Russia, France, and other countries have joined the Spanish government army.

Attack Valencia Move.

Rome newspapers emphasized the necessity of stopping all forms of intervention, while high Fascist sources expressed indignation over a reported decree by the Valencia administration, naturalizing all pro-government volunteers from abroad.

Virginio Gayda, authoritative Italian writer, declared the reported decree would make it simple for foreigners to enter Spain without an effective check by the international group even if Spain's borders were watched.

An important question remained unsolved—the Italian and German replies to Britain's appeal to halt volunteers. Britain has banned movement of British volunteers to Spain, and the French chamber of deputies has voted unanimously to give the government power to do the same. The senate has yet to vote. Premier Leon Blum has announced he will not take such action until other nations fall into line.

Berlin Holds Up Decision.

Authoritative Rome sources predicted the Italian reply would be made in two or three days. Berlin was silent on this point.

A Paris spokesman reiterated France would join Britain in whatever steps were felt necessary in the event Berlin and Rome refused to comply.

Moscow rested on her refusal to ban volunteers unless other powers agreed.

London officials awaited a report from Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Italy, on the conferences between Premier Mussolini and Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, first lieutenant to Adolf Hitler.

NAPLES AND CAPRI BLARE WELCOME TO GEN. GOERING

Fireworks on the shore reproduced the words "Heil Hitler" as the portly diplomat sailed for the little island at the southern entrance to Naples Bay, 20 miles south of this city. On arrival at Capri Goering and his wife passed under a floral arch at the landing. At their hotel they appeared on the balcony and each responded to the cheers of the crowd with a brief speech.

Goering planned to return to Rome Wednesday for a final conference with Premier Mussolini. Crown Prince Humbert is the Goerings' host for their brief stay in Naples. After the demonstration at the hotel, Humbert took Goering and Frau Goering off to his palace.

Ask Your Wife
TO HELP YOU
END A COLD QUICKER

with The 3 Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest, and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

Already, your VapoRub has begun to bring relief—two ways at once:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages of the nose, throat, and chest.

YOUNG CHICAGO MAN SEES CHINA FROM 'IRON LUNG'

PEIPING, China, Jan. 18.—Frederick B. Snite Jr. of Chicago, the "man in the iron lung," whose courageous fight for life has attracted wide attention, is finally seeing China despite the fact he has not left his room in a Peiping hospital since he entered it last March.

The young man, who is 26 years old, came here about a year ago to see the orient, but a sudden attack of infantile paralysis cut short his sight-seeing trip almost before it began. Paralyzed almost completely below the neck, he has held his grip on life for the last nine months through the aid of an artificial respirator.

The dramatic story of Snite's existence in the "iron lung," which is on countless tongues in the far east, is appended by the devotion of a friend and classmate at Notre Dame, who, through the magic of modern home movies, is bringing "the mountain to Mohammed."

Comforts Stricken Friend.

Clarence J. Dillon, who was with young Snite and the latter's parents and sister on the world tour, remained in Peiping to comfort his stricken friend.

Roaming far and wide, Dillon faithfully recorded with his movie camera the varied scenes his friend has been missing. Temples, palaces, and other relics of Peiping's former splendor, the quaint life of the people, marching soldiers, and all the other hundreds of subjects that make this city unique were "shot" by Dillon on thousands of feet of film.

Then came the problem of how to show the films in Snite's hospital room. He lies prone in a big, air tight, metal cylinder, with only his head protruding. He cannot see the wall in front of him, and he could not endure the necessity of cramping his neck if the pictures were projected on the side walls.

At first it was believed the pictures could be shown on the ceiling above him, but that wouldn't work. A home movie projector must stand level.

Then some one thought of a mirror and it solved the problem. One was propped up in front of his face and the movies were shown on the wall back of him. With that device he sees them plainly, although in reverse, which doesn't matter.

The movies came as an especially welcome relief to young Snite's life. Now he sees much of what Dillon saw and his friend keeps up a running chatter of incidents that occurred while he was taking the pictures.

Parents at His Side.

Throughout his illness the patient has enjoyed the presence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Snite, and his younger sister, Mary Loretto. His father, who is president of the Local Loan company of Chicago, has a residence at 909 Ashland avenue, River Forest, Ill.

The group, including Dillon who graduated from Notre Dame with Frederick in 1933, left Chicago a year ago on a world cruise preceding young Snite's entering his father's business. Their ship was diverted from the Mediterranean owing to the Ethiopian war. Circling Africa, the travelers came to China, via Singapore.

Snite fell ill at Shanghai as he and Dillon prepared to fly to Peiping, where he was to rejoin the Snite family who went by train. Headaches were followed by dizziness aboard the plane. After being treated for a supposed cold, physicians diagnosed his illness as infantile paralysis.

The young traveler was rushed to Peiping Union Medical college, Rockefeller Foundation, the most modern institution in the Far East. Within a day the stricken young man was almost wholly paralyzed.

He was placed in the "iron lung," medical marvel of the age. The family settled down in Peiping for a prolonged stay and a grim battle.

Speaks Freely Inside "Lung."

Ever since then Frederick has had mechanical help in breathing, except for a brief few moments each day, which are now being increased slightly. He has counted to three and muttered a few words outside the "iron lung." He is able to converse freely when he is inside the cylinder.

Within the cylinder, which is two or three feet in diameter, the patient lies on a bed. A soft rubber band about his neck prevents air leakages as the pump operates. The respirator operates on a vacuum principle. As the air is extracted by one action of the pump, the walls of the patient's chest are raised. This enables him to inhale with little effort. Then air is pumped back in the cylinder, the chest falls into a relaxed position, and breath is expelled.

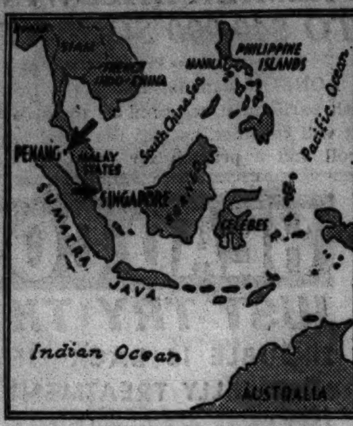
Soon after his son became ill and monopolized the hospital's only respirator, the elder Snite purchased a second one for the hospital. Now a third has been purchased.

The coördinated efforts of a dozen nurses and aids are required when Snite is taken out of the "lung." A minimum of time is consumed for this transfer for Snite virtually holds his breath during the movements.

Despite his predicament, young Snite courageously has kept up his spirits. From within the chamber he talks, exchanges chaff, and cheers up his relatives and friends. He has begun learning the Chinese language and keeps abreast of current events, especially at home, by reading THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, although the copies are about 20 days old.

While improvement is slow, his family and attending physicians are optimistic. They believe he eventually will overcome the paralysis.

BEGIN BRITISH FORT



[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

SINGAPORE, Jan. 18.—The British defense scheme in the far east advanced another step with the announcement today that military defense works and barracks will be constructed at Penang. This is the first fortification of northern Malay peninsula and will be a further guard to the approaches to Singapore, Britain's great naval base.

AID SOCIETY TOLD NEED OF SMARTER GOOD SAMARITAN

4,302 Children Reported Helped in 1936.

The Illinois Children's Home and Aid society served 4,302 children in 1936, aiding 2,348 in the society's foster homes, boarding homes, and temporary institutions, and 1,954 in the childrens' own homes, it was announced yesterday by Chauncey McCormick, chairman of the board for the society, in an annual report made at a luncheon in the Knickerbocker hotel.

In rendering this service the society incurred "the largest operating deficit in years"—$20,938—after spending its entire income amounting to $388,558, Mr. McCormick said. He added that the directors "went into debt deliberately" because they felt unable to resist the increased demands made upon them.

Parable No Longer Applies.

An audience of 200 society matrons and a few men took the news of the deficit calmly and then heard Clarence B. Randall, vice president of the Inland Steel company, tell them why the parable of the Good Samaritan, for years the guiding motto of many charitable groups, no longer is applicable.

"You recall that this great and simple story relates how a man went down to Jericho but was set upon by thieves on the highway outside the city," said Mr. Randall. "He was robbed and beaten and left to die. The next day a Pharisee and a priest passed by, but felt it was none of their business to aid the victim. Then came the Good Samaritan, who made it his business to succor the injured man.

"A Random Meeting."

"My point is that the encounter between the Samaritan and the victim of the thieves was accidental, a random meeting. For all we know another man may have lain dying on another street of Jericho. There is no evidence in the story that the Samaritan had made a systematic survey of conditions in the town.

"Yet today just such a systematic, all-inclusive, comprehensive survey must be made. I believe that the day for personal, individual efforts such as those of the Samaritan has passed. I believe it is industry's job to join in caring for children with industry's money.

"Only organized society as a whole can cover the entire ground of misery and want today."

Cost Increases.

The cost of private welfare work increased during 1936, it was indicated by the report released yesterday by the United Charities of Chicago. During the year $998,125 was spent by the agency, an increase of $23,000 over that spent in 1935, and 10,650 families were helped. Bad health, indebtedness, loss of morale—all results of the depression years—were partially responsible for the increase in costs, according to Joel D. Hunter, general superintendent.

ECLIPSE THROWS LIGHT ON SUN AS A WEATHER MAN

Astronomer Reports on Study in Russia.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Definite variations in the spectrum of the sun which may be responsible for weather changes on earth were reported last night by Dr. Donald H. Menzel of Harvard college observatory before the Chicago Astronomical society meeting at Adler Planetarium.

The green coronal ring was 50 times brighter in the 1936 eclipse, which he observed in Russia, then in the 1932 eclipse. There was also a definite variation in the helium lines. Dr. Menzel indicated that the greater intensity in the helium lines was associated with intensity in the ultra violet region and might be related to terrestrial weather. Helium is the element which was first found in the sun by the astro-physicists before it was found on earth.

Many Data Yet to Analyze.

Dr. Menzel, who is making a special study of the corona, which still is of unknown composition, said that many months' work yet remain before the studies of the last eclipse, of June 22, are completed.

The corona in the eclipse observed from the steppes of Siberia was in the form of a five pointed star. The prominences, which reach heights of from 160,000 to 285,000 miles, were noted by him as lavender.

The expedition headed by Dr. Menzel worked months in preparation and took ten tons of special apparatus to use for a few precious seconds during totality. The cameras were arranged with electric motors to take motion pictures of the great phenomenon of nature when the sun was covered by the moon. Twenty-two scientists of coöperating institutions were in the expedition.

Russians Deeply Interested.

The people of Russia, he said, were deeply interested in the eclipse and took thousands of pictures of it. The government educated them in its meaning. They were as aware of its scientific value he said, as were Americans.

The Russians are building a new observatory in the pine mountains of Georgia, which will house a 100 inch telescope of all-soviet make. Even the women, the lecturer said, are working on this project. The people are hungry for scientific information, and wait in line for Moscow newspapers instead of for bread.

He observed that the Russians were fine psychologists, particularly in educating children. One of the national games for young and old is checkers. He found the people extremely intelligent and friendly toward Americans.

Grafting Officials Are Shot.

"One thing that might be of interest," he said, "is that I found that local public officials are in office for what they can put into it, not for what they can get out of it. And they shoot men who embezzle funds from the government."

The next eclipse, he said, will be next June 8, but it will be visible only from spots in the Pacific where there is little land. After that the scientists must wait until 1940 and 1941 This country will not be able to observe a good eclipse until 1954.

HITLER TO TRAIN CREAM OF YOUTH FOR LEADERSHIP

Creates Special Schools for Nazi Education.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Systematic educational work for complete Nazification of Germany and for training future Nazi leaders reached a new high today when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler authorized the creation of special schools to prepare the cream of the country's youth for leadership.

In these schools the healthiest and most gifted boys will be trained from the age of 12 until 18, at which age the best of them will enter "castles of the Nazi order" for final training.

"Adolf Hitler Schools."

The new Nazi schools are under the supervision of Dr. Robert Ley, chief of the Labor Front, and Baldur von Schirach, leader of the Hitler youth. They will be named "Adolf Hitler schools."

Boys who distinguish themselves in the ranks of the Nazi "young folks" may enter the sixth grade of school at 12 years of age. They will be picked by Nazi party representatives and trained under their control. Their schooling and upkeep will be paid by the government.

The new Nazi schools will replace parochial schools to prepare the youngest generation for leadership, Nazi leaders insist.

Young People Quit Churches.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Supreme Evangelical Council of Berlin took steps today to stop increasing withdrawals of young people from Germany's Protestant churches.

Both church and state in Germany consider children as having the same faith as that of their parents until they are 14 years old, after which they may, under the law, withdraw from their church regardless of their parents' wishes.

The council advised pastors they could not legally prevent resignations of children over 14 years old, but that they should make an extra effort—either directly or through parents and teachers—to persuade such children to reconsider.

The council's statement gave no specific cause for the withdrawals. Paganists have started a campaign to have persons leave the church, but it is assumed the current resignations were caused more by a general tendency of Nazi-trained young people to break away from church doctrinal control.

WANTED: RUBBER BOOTS

By CALEB

I DO not know how long ago it was done—but under a Buffalo train-shed engineers skilfully laid out deep channels between railroad tracks, designed to carry off rain and waste water. These channels led to grilled openings which dropped water somewhere out of sight toward the bowels of the earth.

One morning not long ago an east-bound train was standing in the station. The tracks were covered under swirling, eddying waters filled with all the bits of debris incident to the passing of many careless people, and the restocking and replenishing of the supplies of many impatient trains.

A man in boots came along the platform with several long-handled tools over his shoulder. He poked a long hook down under the water and felt for the channel. He followed the channel along its course until he came to a grilled opening which should be the escape for this backed-up water. He probed and poked and stirred around.

In a few minutes the channel started to clear and before long the objective of the original engineers was attained. The channel carried off the waters. The organization of what they had produced stood out in clear emphasis against the concrete road-beds.

Being reflective as the result of a good meal, it was impossible to keep our editorial mind from paralleling this incident to a good many in the great and busy union station of existence.

Again and again, sound, original motives and intelligently conceived plans fail to accomplish their purposes because no one comes around in boots willing to wade in and make things flow. No one comes around prepared with tools of research to pry inquisitively for openings through which accumulations of waste and accruals of inefficiency may be made to exit.

Do you ever wear rubber boots?

There are innumerable situations in life crying for attention. Quarrels to be patched up. Routines to be straightened out. Daily schedules to be set. A problem of discipline needing to be faced. A department or a subsidiary needing to be reorganized. Conflicting policies to be reconciled. Ancient systems requiring to be modernized.

Many women in their own homes, many men in business, many men and women in organizations are standing by, reluctant to do what should be done: put on rubber boots and wade in.

3 BIG WAR DEBT NATIONS REFUSE TO REDUCE ARMS

Britain, France, Italy Make No Plans to Pay U. S.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The United States' three greatest debtors—Great Britain, France, and Italy—through official spokesmen said today reduction of armaments was impossible regardless of whether America cut down their war indebtedness to her.

They indicated plainly they saw no connection between their often defaulted debts to the United States and their expanding armaments programs.

Furthermore, they saw no chance for reduction of armaments. They pointed out that in none of their budgets is there any provision for resuming payments to the United States.

Give Reasons for Stand.

Here are reasons given by official spokesmen for the impossibility of scaling down armament programs:

Britain has allowed her armed strength to decline to the danger point. Her present effort to build up her naval and aviation strength is absolutely necessary so she can command respect in her efforts to promote peace.

France will reduce armaments if Germany does—and for no other reason.

Italy thinks the situation in Europe is so complicated that in spite of her wish to reduce armaments and her realization that they are ruining the budgets of most nations it is not possible to contemplate reduction of war preparations. The best that can be hoped for is limitation of armaments.

Naval Costs Worry Japan.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Japan is worried about her ability to maintain the costs of world naval competition.

The principal naval powers apparently are embarking on that competition, largely because of the termination of the Washington and London naval treaties, which Japan herself denounced.

It was authoritatively indicated today the Japanese navy's first principle is to maintain a fleet capable of holding the western Pacific against any other navy—or all other navies.

In spite of the naval high command's insistence that its policy is independent and designed to build a navy adapted to Japan's peculiar needs, its efforts to fulfill this first principle are determined in large degree by the programs of other nations, especially the United States.

Watches Foreign Programs.

These foreign programs, calling for considerable expansion on all the seas, therefore are anxiously watched by Tokio. Especially keen interest was focused on recent Washington dispatches telling of the American Navy's plans to lay down this year two battleships which may carry 16 inch guns.

The Japanese are worried about the cost of matching such construction. With the largest naval appropriations in her history announced for 1937-'38, Japan already is spending up to the feasible limit of her resources for fleet construction. She does not want this part of her budget further inflated if this possibly can be avoided.

The anxieties of naval leaders also have been increased by Moscow's announcements that the soviet union is determined to be a great sea power.

Today, at Sasebo naval base, Japan began addition of another unit to her expanding fleet by laying the keel of the depot and repair ship Akashi, described as a floating arsenal of 10,000 tons.

Hobbs of Kansas City. Hobbs said that the girls begged a ride from him in East Chicago, Ind., earlier in the day. They were turned over to the juvenile authorities.

Steals Wedding Ring Off Mother's Hand; Sent to Cell

For attempting to steal his mother's wedding ring, Chester Augustyniak, 21 years old, 8439 Mackinaw avenue, was sentenced yesterday to six months in the Bridewell on a charge of petit larceny by Judge Thomas A. Green in South Chicago court. The mother, Mrs. Stella Augustyniak, testified the ring was taken from her finger as she slept Saturday morning.

CHINESE LEADER BLASTS DEMAND FOR WAR ON JAPS

Ex-Premier Assails Reds as Peril to Nation.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Jan. 18.—Wang Ching-wei, former chairman of the Nanking executive yuan [an office corresponding to prime minister], who has just returned to China after spending a year in Germany, flew to Nanking today and created a political sensation.

In a speech to Kuomintang [People's] party members and government officials, Wang denounced the so-called People's "united front" against foreign aggression, which was a fundamental element involved in the Sianfu compromise between Nanking government forces and rebellious Chinese communists. The compromise was alleged to have been agreed upon while Dictator Chiang Kai-shek was the prisoner of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, former war lord of Manchuria, who led the communist revolt in Shensi province.

Wang, who was wounded by a young assassin a year ago, denounced the Red program of war against Japan.

"Stabilization of internal affairs must come first in order for China to have sufficient strength to repulse a foreign aggressor," he said.

Wang Urges Caution.

He asserted that experience had taught China that when the government mobilized for the purpose of opposing foreign aggression, Chinese Reds always attacked from the rear. Hence, Wang said he doubted the sincerity of the communists in demanding war on Japan. He urged caution.

"Otherwise," he said, "China quickly will become involved in a 'Spanish civil war.'"

"China is willing to join hands with many nations on the basis of coexistence and for prosperity and is willing to exercise the greatest patience with aggressive nations, hoping the aggressors later will come to their senses," Wang concluded.

Although the former government official in a recent speech at Manila said China must recover Manchukuo from Japan, certain Chinese newspapers in Shanghai denounced him on the grounds that he is under the influence of German Nazis and is favorable to China's joining the German-Japanese alliance against communism.

75 Foreigners Evacuated.

NANKING, China, Jan. 19.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—The United States embassy today was advised 75 foreigners had arrived in Tungkwan, Shensi province, from Sianfu, where their safety had been feared endangered because of the communist revolt.

Three British subjects and five Russians were the only foreigners remaining in Sianfu, capital of Shensi province, according to the advices the embassy received from Loyang. Americans were not specifically mentioned, but it was assumed here that the entire group, understood to total 21, was among those arriving in Tungkwan.

POLICE OF ONTARIO HERD PRISON RIOTERS BACK INTO CELLS

GUELPH, Ont., Jan. 18.—(AP)—With supplies of tear gas bombs exhausted, officials of the big Ontario reformatory and police faced the problem tonight of preventing any sequel to last night's disorders, when 700 inmates rioted, wrecked and burned a large part of the prison.

It was a problem of maintaining order among nearly 700 still excited youths and men, herded back into close packed cells. Last night and today tear gas had been the most effective weapon for this purpose.

Throughout western and central Ontario the hunt went on for four or five convicts still at large. Others of the estimated 100 to 150 who escaped during the rioting were again in confinement. Many surrendered because of hunger.

With strong detachments of guards patroling the cell blocks in the half-ruined reformatory, authorities said the situation was under control.

This morning a small army of carpenters, plumbers, and electricians swarmed into the badly damaged prison to make repairs.

Judge James Madden of Napanee is expected at Guelph tomorrow for a preliminary investigation of the riots. Later a formal inquiry will be held under the public inquiries act.

E. J. LEHMANN JR. TELLS BUSINESS PACT IN MARRIAGE

Edward J. Lehmann Jr. disclosed yesterday that his marriage to Dorothy Patterson Lehmann was business-like as well as romantic. He answered her Circuit court suit for divorce with the assertion that they agreed to waive all claims to each other's property before their wedding on June 20, 1935.

Lehmann's answer, filed by the law firm of Somers & Somers, denied Mrs. Lehmann's charge of cruelty, and asked dismissal of her suit. Her attorney, Norman Becker, said he would contend that the property agreement was contrary to public policy.

Lehmann, a member of the wealthy Lehmann family, is 32. Mrs. Lehmann, part owner of a night club, is 30.

Pastor Pond's Witnesses Testify in Slander Suit

MRS. SARAH POND TORRANCE

HANNAH BURROWS.

MRS. EDITH EADIE.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

It was a "known thing in the church" that Tom Bouchier and other parishioners of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, 4241 Washington boulevard, belonged to a card club and "bragged about staying up until 3 or 4 in the morning" on Saturday nights. This testimony was given yesterday by a witness in the defense of the Rev. Walter Shoemaker Pond, rector of St. Barnabas. The rector is being sued for $50,000 by Bouchier, former vestryman and treasurer of the church, in the Circuit court of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington. Bouchier charges Father Pond slandered him by imputing theft, immorality, and drunkenness to him.

The witness was Mrs. Sarah Pond Torrance, the widowed sister of the rector, who is a bachelor. She makes her home with him in the rectory at 4245 Washington boulevard. A comely, dark eyed widow, her gray hair curled in fashionable "rolls" on either side, her costume black and ultra-correct, was Mrs. Torrance.

At Card Parties, She Says.

Under cross-examination she was asked if she herself had not on several occasions been to meetings of the card club, whose membership included the Ducks [Ernest L. Duck, former vestryman, now lawyer for Bouchier] but not the Ponds.

Crisply, with a smile of icy sweetness, she glanced steadily at her examiner, Lawyer Duck, and said: "I did attend twice."

On direct testimony, questioned by Attorney George Christensen of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, Mrs. Torrance testified that she was in church in her customary pew on March 11, 1934, and heard her brother "suspend" Mr. Bouchier, the Altar guild president; Mrs. Maude Lavery, and the organist, Miss Mabel Oberholt, but she did not understand him to accuse any one of immorality, drunkenness, or stealing, as others have said. She did recall, however, that he accused the guild president and junior warden [Bouchier] of joyriding.

Bouchier charged in his bill that the rector "excommunicated" him and the two women, and his witnesses testified that the allegation was true. Mrs. Torrance, however, was asked by Attorney Christensen if Father Pond said anything about excommunication that Sunday.

"It didn't seem to me he did," he said. "It seemed he went all around Robin's barn to explain he couldn't do that."

"What did you understand him to mean regarding why he was suspending them?" Judge Harrington asked her.

"I understood," she replied, "that it was on account of the poor music."

Mrs. Torrance was followed to the witness stand by a radiant young blonde, Miss Hannah Burrows of 1015 North Crawford avenue.

A Change Comes Over the Scene.

The court fans, who for five days had followed testimony on the definition of "joyriding" and "immorality" from middle aged witnesses on Bouchier's behalf, relaxed and smiled as the testimony for Father Pond's defense came from a pair of young and freshly rouged lips. Attorney Christensen put his questions gently.

The witness said she worked for the General Sporting Goods company.

"And how old are you?" he inquired expansively.

Miss Burrows looked up at him out of sloe blue eyes, smiled a dazzling smile, and lisped her words: "I'm going to be 21——"

The court looked down approvingly.

Other questions and answers were:

Q—And did you ever take any part in young people's work in the church? A.—O, yes, sir. I was a member of Gamma Kappa Delta.

Q.—O, you were, were you? Well, now what is Gamma Kappa Delta? A.—O, we have our rules and regulations like any other sorority, and we do several things for the good of the church. I'm chairman of the committee on entertainment. We have get-togethers, you know——

Apparently to show that the church was not narrow minded about card parties in general, despite the disapproval Mrs. Torrance showed concerning Mr. Bouchier's late hour card party reputation, Attorney Christensen asked:

"And you have card parties and such things?"

Recalls Sermon in Question.

Miss Burrows looked at him from lowered lids and thick lashes and cooed in her special sort of baby talk: "O, yes, sir."

She said she was in church the morning of March 11, 1934, and was asked if she recalled the sermon.

"Yes, sir, he told about a young man in college he was well acquainted with going out Saturday nights. And, well, he more or less told us to behave ourselves."

Q.—Did it make good sense to you? A.—O, yes, I should say so.

Q.—And do you know what was the text he preached on that day? A.—The what?

Q.—[Indulgently]—The text—I thought you might know what a text was, but I guess not—— A.—[Giggling]—I'm nervous—

Q.—Recall his words at the end of the sermon as nearly as you can. A.—He said he was going to put three persons up for suspension and later excommunicate them, and had the congregation rise, and said a prayer, and read off the names.

Unaware of Any Innuendo.

She answered "No" in shocked tones when asked if she understood that he accused Bouchier of stealing, or Bouchier and Mrs. Lavery of immoral conduct. On Jan. 16, 1935, at the annual meeting, Bouchier and other vestrymen were voted out.

The court put a question:

"And was anything said there by the rector about not charging Mr. Bouchier and Mrs. Lavery with immorality?"

Here the witness rolled large blue eyes at him and said:

"Yes, there was. He said he was not charging them with immortality——

The courtroom crowd, which included many who were standing, laughed, and Judge Harrington declared a recess.

Defendant Takes the Stand.

Shortly before court adjourned Rector Pond took the witness stand in his own defense. He is to continue on the stand when court convenes this morning. His attorney indicated that although the other side spent a week in taking testimony, he may conclude today.

At the morning session attorneys presented lively arguments on a defense motion for a directed verdict, which was denied. Witnesses proceeded to testify in a speedy fashion in the afternoon. One of Father Pond's witnesses who took the stand was Mrs. Edith Eadie, 1143 North Lawler avenue. The rector himself was the seventh to testify.

OFFICIALS BEGIN DRIVE TO GATHER IN TARDY TAXES

Thousands Warned to Pay or Face Court Action.

Official attempts to bring some of the delinquent tax millions into the county coffers went ahead yesterday on two fronts.

County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer sent word to owners of 19,996 pieces of real estate, who arranged to pay delinquent taxes for the years 1928 through 1932 under a six year instalment plan, that failure to meet the next instalment, due Feb. 1, will result in immediate court action to collect the entire remaining delinquency. The Feb. 1 instalments total $2,256,583.

Prompt Payment Expected.

"The six year plan was created to provide for the payment of delinquent taxes for certain years on an instalment basis extending to Sept. 1, 1939," read the letter sent by Mr. Lindheimer. "At the time the plan was adopted it was expected that taxes for years not covered by the plan would be paid promptly.

"Payments under the plan must be made according to the schedule therein provided, which requires payment of not less than 60 per cent of the taxes plus interest on or before Feb. 1, 1937. Failure to comply with the provisions of the plan by Feb. 1, 1937, will necessitate application for immediate judgment and sale and the appointment of a tax receiver."

After the deadline is past, the treasurer explained, the rolls will be examined. Those who defaulted or who have failed to make previous payments will be sued immediately, as will those who have failed to pay current tax bills, regardless of their payments on overdue taxes.

Follows Survey of Three Plans.

This action by the county treasurer is the result of a survey just completed of the three plans for paying delinquent taxes. There are 54,964 persons signed up under all three, 22,905 making monthly payments, 10,341 on a five year basis, and the balance on the six year plan. Last month payments under the first two plans amounted to $300,000.

As the second step in the drive to collect delinquent taxes State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney took action yesterday to put new life into the Skarda act under which tax delinquent income bearing properties are placed in receivership until the taxes are paid. Filing of suits has been stepped up from one or two to fifty a day, he announced.

The state's attorney disclosed his assistants have filed 600 such suits in the County court in the last two weeks, and that soon they will begin asking receiverships at the rate of fifty a day. Yesterday Judge Edmund K. Jarecki appointed tax receivers for six properties on which a total of $21,769 is owed the county. There are pending in the Circuit court 2,000 Skarda suits, filed there before the County court took sole jurisdiction.

PAROLED GUNMEN.

The only reason another Chicago policeman was not added to the list of victims of paroled gunmen almost immediately following the murder of Policeman Sullivan was that the officer, Harold Haight, was quick witted as well as quick shooting. Although under the gun of one of two robbers, he had prepared himself and was able to shoot first, killing one of the two. The other escaped. No astonishment was caused when the identification of the dead robber disclosed that he was a paroled convict.

A trafic violation in the Chicago streets, attracting the attention of the police, uncovered two armed paroled convicts. Other men taken with guns and found to be paroled were identified at the police showup by the victims of robberies. All this within a few hours.

The picture as disclosed by the revelations is one of scores, if not hundreds, of men out on parole living by robbery, armed and prepared to kill if they are resisted or if they are in danger of arrest. The man released on parole is supposed to be reëntering society under conditions more favorable to him and to the community than would be possible if, having completed a fixed term, he were then set at liberty without conditions. He is supposed to have a better chance and the community is supposed to benefit because he will be under a certain supervision, will have to report what he is doing, and will have a sponsor who will take an interest in him. The evidence shows that this theory has become a delusion in many instances.

The paroled convict of the vicious criminal type goes armed about the streets, robbing at the point of a gun and killing when his own safety is threatened. The gravity of the situation has been greatly increased by the attitude of responsible public officials whose first instinct is to defend the system and its administration. In their own interest they should take a different stand. It is difficult to protect the community from the criminals because the officials who should be the first to show concern have been the last to concede the need of remedies.

This attitude we think will be very shortly changed. Public opinion may be slow to assert itself, but it has now come to a stage of indignation which promises that there will be something definite and drastic done within the next few weeks. Organizations of citizens, the state's attorney, judges and members of the legislature will coöperate to the end that the city be made more secure than it is now when the penal institutions release, as they have within the last year, more gunmen than are sent to them.

PHILIP LA FOLLETTE A DICTATOR.

Attention was called the other day to the probable effect of the ouster of President Frank upon the University of Wisconsin. It should be noted, in addition, that Gov. Philip La Follette apparently has done himself more harm than he has Glenn Frank. A rather widespread feeling that the regents made a strong case of inefficiency against Dr. Frank has been submerged in the conviction that he is the victim of political jobbery and Gov. La Follette's personal animosity.

Glenn Frank was the president of the University of Wisconsin for 11 years and if he has been as incompetent as the majority of the regents assert they indict themselves rather than him for waiting 11 years before they fired him.

Actually Gov. La Follette's animosity was of long standing but was not brought into the open until the governor could dominate the regents through the five appointments made last January.

Frank is a publicist rather than an educator and if he had been quietly removed at the proper time his replacement might have been accepted as the best thing for the university. Public resentment is against the manner of his discharge rather than in the fact of it.

Indignation against the governor apparently is stronger outside of Wisconsin than within. At home they have known him as the shrewd chieftain of a powerful political machine ready to crush whatever he opposes. The understanding that he expects to control the university neither surprises nor shocks those who know him.

Outside of Wisconsin the myth of the La Follettes as altruistic leaders of a great cause has had wide prevalence. It now receives a shock. The La Follette determination to be rid of Frank is likely to react unfavorably for the governor's ambition to lead the so-called liberal political movement in 1940.

The public reaction was described by Dr. A. J. Carlson of the University of Chicago, who called the hearing the saddest spectacle of his life.

"This, he said, "is the saddest, most sinister experience in 35 years of university life. It is a problem whether a free university can develop and survive in a democracy."

Gov. La Follette apparently has interpreted the large plurality by which he was reëlected in November as a mandate to do whatever he likes. Apparently he will be without the restraint this year of strong opposition in the legislature. The crushing of Glenn Frank is likely to be the first of a series of excesses in the manifestation of political power.

La Follette is not the shouting, ranting, Huey Long type of political dictator, but with all the power of a successful political machine in his hands he is no less a dictator.

If he were not a dictator, Glenn Frank would still be the president of the University of Wisconsin.

RUSSIAN POLICY.

The U. P. reports from London that "authoritative sources" assert that soviet Russia is seriously considering an "isolationist policy" because it is dissatisfied with the results of its efforts to form a common front against Fascism. Our old friend, "authoritative sources," has been responsible for too many hopes or fears to impress our readers very seriously until verification appears. But in this instance its discreet whisper tempts speculation.

"An isolationist policy" is a very vague expression, especially in the reckless use of political controversy. It may mean, as it once did, a policy of complete economic and political isolation, as in the case of Japan before the arrival of Commodore Perry. Or it may mean, as it does in the mouths of American pacifists and Anglomaniacs, anything short of complete surrender of independence in international affairs.

If, as to Russia, it means an abandonment of the aggressive diplomacy, which has been partly inspired by the dreams of international communist revolution and partly by old fashioned imperialism, the world will be somewhat easier. Certainly one of the important factors in the continued instability of Europe since the great war collapsed has been the able mischief making of Moscow. This was obviously the line to take so long as a world revolution to communism seemed attainable. The early bolsheviks of the fanatic wing thought it was, and it was perhaps necessary, at least expedient, for reasons of party unity and morale to show respect for it. But this wing has been gradually "liquidated" and the Stalin régime is now strong enough to ignore its delusions in practice and to revert to the traditional objects of Russian policy, the strengthening and aggrandizement of holy Russia.

This natural evolution might very plausibly produce a policy of concentration which might be labeled isolationist by phrase mongers. We could think it wisdom for Russia, for it needs no more territory and hardly any more material resources. Once free from communist revolutionary internationalism, meddling in other nations will lose its charm with soviet politicians and be reduced to the test of Russian advantage. In that stage, and it may already be reached, Russian statesmanship may very well adopt what American advocates of international experiment call a policy of isolation; that is, a policy of minding one's own business. The Russians have a tremendous job to do at home and it will richly pay them to concentrate on doing it. They have an immense territory and great resources to develop; a new political and social system to try out, amend, and perfect. For all this, Russia needs peace and much the same freedom from "foreign entanglements" that our great statesmen, with generation after generation of our people, have cherished and tried to establish.

If this is the conviction of Moscow it will contribute tremendously to the peace of the world in this era. It need not and ought not to imply isolation from any interest in which civilization finds profit.

MORE MURALS.

Reference has been made before to the inherent mischievousness of mural paintings. When an artist goes to work on a wall he apparently reflects that there are any number of people, including, probably, as in the incident of Diego Rivera and the Rockefeller murals, his own patrons, whom he can easily shock out of some conventional ideas, and he likes to do it.

Just now the murals in the Missouri state capitol are causing a hubbub. They were painted by Thomas Hart Benton, whose family is as Missouri as the Ozarks and the Mississippi river. Mr. Benton took a wide sweep of state history, including the legend of Frankie and Johnnie, thus officially including it in the Missouri historical panorama. One state senator says that when you go in the room you get the impression that the walls are falling on you. Another says he likes them, and so the familiar controversy goes.

Usually the persons who give a commission for murals in a public building want the Pilgrims landing at Plymouth Rock, Ceres binding the wheat, the animals entering the ark, science seizing the lightning, or Newton hit by the apple. The artist of the murals refuses to be a society portrait painter. He will not take out the wrinkles, the double chin, or the pouches under the eye. His story of Eden is Eve being bitten by the apple. He is a commentator and interpreter of events, a pictorial newspaper, or historian. In his view of mores, instincts, and usages Frankie and Johnnie are the true Romeo and Juliet, like it or not.

RADICALS THRIVE ON SUPPRESSION.

[Columbus (O.) Dispatch.]

If a bill pending in the Massachusetts legislature is passed, public and private libraries of that state will be prohibited from circulating the books of Upton Sinclair. The action is in the best Bay State tradition, which results periodically in attacks of jitters for fear that some literary work or other is going to corrupt the manners or morals of a presumably susceptible populace. It seems as though something or other is forever being banned. Once in Boston it was Voltaire's "Candide"; not so long ago, unless memory is at fault, some school board in another Massachusetts city wanted to excise "Les Miserables" and "The Three Musketeers" from the students' reading list.

Upton Sinclair has been around for a long time. In his career of muckraking he has "exposed" just about everything, ranging from politics, journalism, education, capitalism, to the Chicago stockyards. The net result is that he has upset no applecarts, overthrown no established institutions. His "Epic" plan flourished for a time and caused a lot of talk, but eventually went the way of all the other Sinclair enthusiasms, leaving its sponsor more or less discredited as a political figure.

The way to oppose social "reformers" of the Upton Sinclair brand is either to ignore them or expose the fallacies of their reasoning. They thrive on suppression, for when anything is suppressed the public immediately is inclined to suspect the motives of the suppressor and to ask embarrassing questions, the first of which is "How come?" The Upton Sinclairs serve a useful purpose in any democracy. They keep the majority on their toes by their criticism, whether it is valid or not, and are always a vigorous reminder that free speech is an inherent right. When they are summarily sat upon or gagged the first step has been taken toward the sort of thing that has made democracy a rarity in Europe.

THEY STAY SUPPRESSED.

Somebody gave the Hometown hospital a carved cherry bed back in the days when the world was less sophisticated than it is today. Obviously it was too fine and too big for use in a sickroom, and what to do with it was a problem. Mrs. Dr. Longcrest, the acknowledged social leader of the city and chairman of the hospital board, created a mild sensation when she urged that it be raffled off. Some of the board members demurred. "I am sure that I'll do my part," said Mrs. Roberts, the meek wife of the professor, "if the board votes to have a gambling scheme. But I am doubtful about the ethics." Mrs. Longcrest snorted. "If there are any Ethics in Hometown," she said, "they undoubtedly live west of the tracks and are of no importance. Certainly I never heard of them."

THE OLD BROOCH.

I saw it in a roadside shop,
  An antique brooch of gold;
Amid old finery and old dust
  Its charm a story told:

Of slender maid with hair of gold,
  Pastel brocades and velvets dusk,
Rare duchess lace, time yellow, old—
  Point d'alençon, all scented musk.

An oval form in filigree,
  Secured by tiny jeweled clasp
Which held a lock of yellow hair,
  Mute relics of a golden past.

Across how many endless years
  Has memory stretched her line,
Around how many lonely days
  Have empty hopes to fate resigned?

Alas, all memories have been lost;
  Naught save the yellow curl remains
To end its old romantic past
  Locked in a curious ancient frame.

STEAMBOAT DAYS.

At the foot of President's island in the Mississippi there used to be a floating resort known as Big Boy's. One day several of us, including an old pilot, stopped there during a hunting trip and sampled the resort's best. Only the veteran declined. . . . "Years ago," he said, "I was a passenger down river on a towboat. I was to bring back a steamer our line had bought. Before I went aboard I celebrated considerable, so I was asleep in a little cabin behind the pilot house right after we got going. . . . I woke up with a terrible start. Steamboats were whistling all around. When I looked out a side window, the big Wild Waggoner was coming down on us through the moonlight. I jumped back, and as I looked out the stern window (I couldn't believe my eyes) there was the Wild Waggoner. Panicky, I whirled to the other side and there, again, was the same big boat busting toward us and closer than she was before. With a howl they still talk about on the river, I dived through the door, screen and all. From the deck I could see the Wild Waggoner cutting around us, but only one of her. Then I realized what I had missed in my fuddlement; our engines had gone flooey and the current was spinning our little boat to make the big one show up through each of three windows. I got the idea that the Almighty was giving me a gentle hint, and I've touched no liquor since." Charles Leavelle.

SHINGLES AND COLD SORES.

ONE does not need to be a carpenter in order to have shingles. The affliction called herpes, a word meaning "to creep," is no respecter of persons. Whenever this particular virus disease manifests itself the "breaking out" first appears as a painful, reddened spot on the lip [herpes simplex], or on the sides of the chest [herpes zoster]. Distress and the development of a raised region that is exceedingly tender to the touch advise us of the situation.

In the zoster form, known as shingles, we can generally trace the lesions along the course of one or more of the nerves that lie between the ribs [intercostal nerves]. Blisters [vesicles] soon form which vary in size. The reaction may be quite severe, particularly in older individuals who are run down, have lost sleep, or who have suffered some digestive upset. Occasionally the condition is the aftermath of a debilitating disease such as influenza or pneumonia.

The pain of shingles may be erroneously diagnosed as neuralgia or pleurisy. In some instances there are fever, rapid beating of the heart, and chills. Within three or four days the typical reddened spots materialize and in their spread may overlap one another like shingles on a roof. The areas come out in crops and are soon transformed into blisters. In most cases the eruption is on one side of the body only; in rare cases it may form a complete girdle. The old superstition that if shingles ever meet [encircle the chest or trunk] death is certain is moonshine of the yellowest variety.

While the chest is the favorite and most common site, nerves elsewhere in the body may be affected as, for example, those about the eyes. The eyelids become markedly distended, headache is quite frequent, and blebs [blisters] may appear on the cornea—the clear membrane on the front of the eyeball. Because of the possibility of the formation of ulcers on the cornea with later interference with sight, it is necessary that the condition be attacked vigorously.

We must understand that the lesions on the skin are not the seat of the disease. The difficulty lies in inflammation involving one or more ganglia [nerve depots] close to the spinal cord. Nevertheless, the local symptoms must be treated. Wet dressings or poultices should never be used. The important thing is to keep the skin as dry as possible, and for that purpose an antiseptic dusting powder is of value. For the relief of pain, dry heat, such as an infrared lamp or an electric heating pad, may be employed. Ointments that contain a local anesthetic such as nupercain may be applied cautiously and rubbed thoroughly into the skin. To prevent the invasion of bacteria raw wounds should be kept thoroughly clean with enough antiseptic in the dressing to prevent their growth. A thin coating of ammoniated mercury ointment is usually sufficient.

Pituitary extract is helpful, but if the blood pressure is high or if pregnancy exists this substance cannot be administered. Furthermore, to be effective, the solution must be injected. Sidlick has reported numerous successes with this remedy. Fifty-four patients received the hormone directly into the muscles at twenty-four hour intervals. Momentary faintness was the only untoward effect. Two injections only were required in the majority of the cases, although one received six before the pain abated and the lesions began to recede.

Herpes of the lips, called fever blisters or cold sores, often follow minor infections or dietary indiscretions. A tender, swollen area appears on the edge of the lip—occasionally inside the mouth. Within a short time a blister forms which ruptures, leaving a raw surface. Within four or five days healing occurs. An excellent application is spirits of camphor, especially if used promptly. Many cases come on subsequent to holiday celebrations and those most susceptible are emotional, high-strung individuals.

AWAKENING CHILD.

Mrs. M. H. writes: My 5 year old son is healthy and normal in every way, but when I put him to bed at night he sleeps for about a half hour and then wakens and cries. He acts as though he has been dreaming. This happens two or three times during the night and it takes us ten minutes or more to quiet him. This has been going on for three weeks. He is fed very little at night, so I doubt that digestive trouble is the reason. Can you suggest anything?

REPLY.

There are many causes for the condition mentioned. Your child may not be getting adequate rest. He should have a physical examination to rule out indigestion, constipation, mild infections, disturbance of some of the glands of internal secretion, worms, and local irritations. Indiscretions in diet, too many bed clothes, poor ventilation are all factors worthy of consideration. Have the examination, try afternoon naps, and see that he does not indulge in too much excitement just before bedtime. The disease called rickets should be thought of. Cod liver oil in the diet is the remedy.

PROBABLY SINUS.

L. V. writes: What can I do to relieve an excess secretion of mucous in the mouth and nose? Scabs form in the nose, which are difficult to loosen. Flushing with salt water gives some relief during the day but at night the nostrils clog up sufficiently to prevent breathing through the nose. At the dispensary they tell me it is due to my age [I am 79] and cannot be remedied, but I hope you can suggest something.

REPLY.

Your condition is not normal even in old age. There is probably an infection within one or more of the sinuses. Such affairs are exceedingly difficult to cure but may be aided by insuring free drainage. Use one or two drops of liquid albolene in each nostril two or three times each day. Apply the oil after each irrigation with salt water.

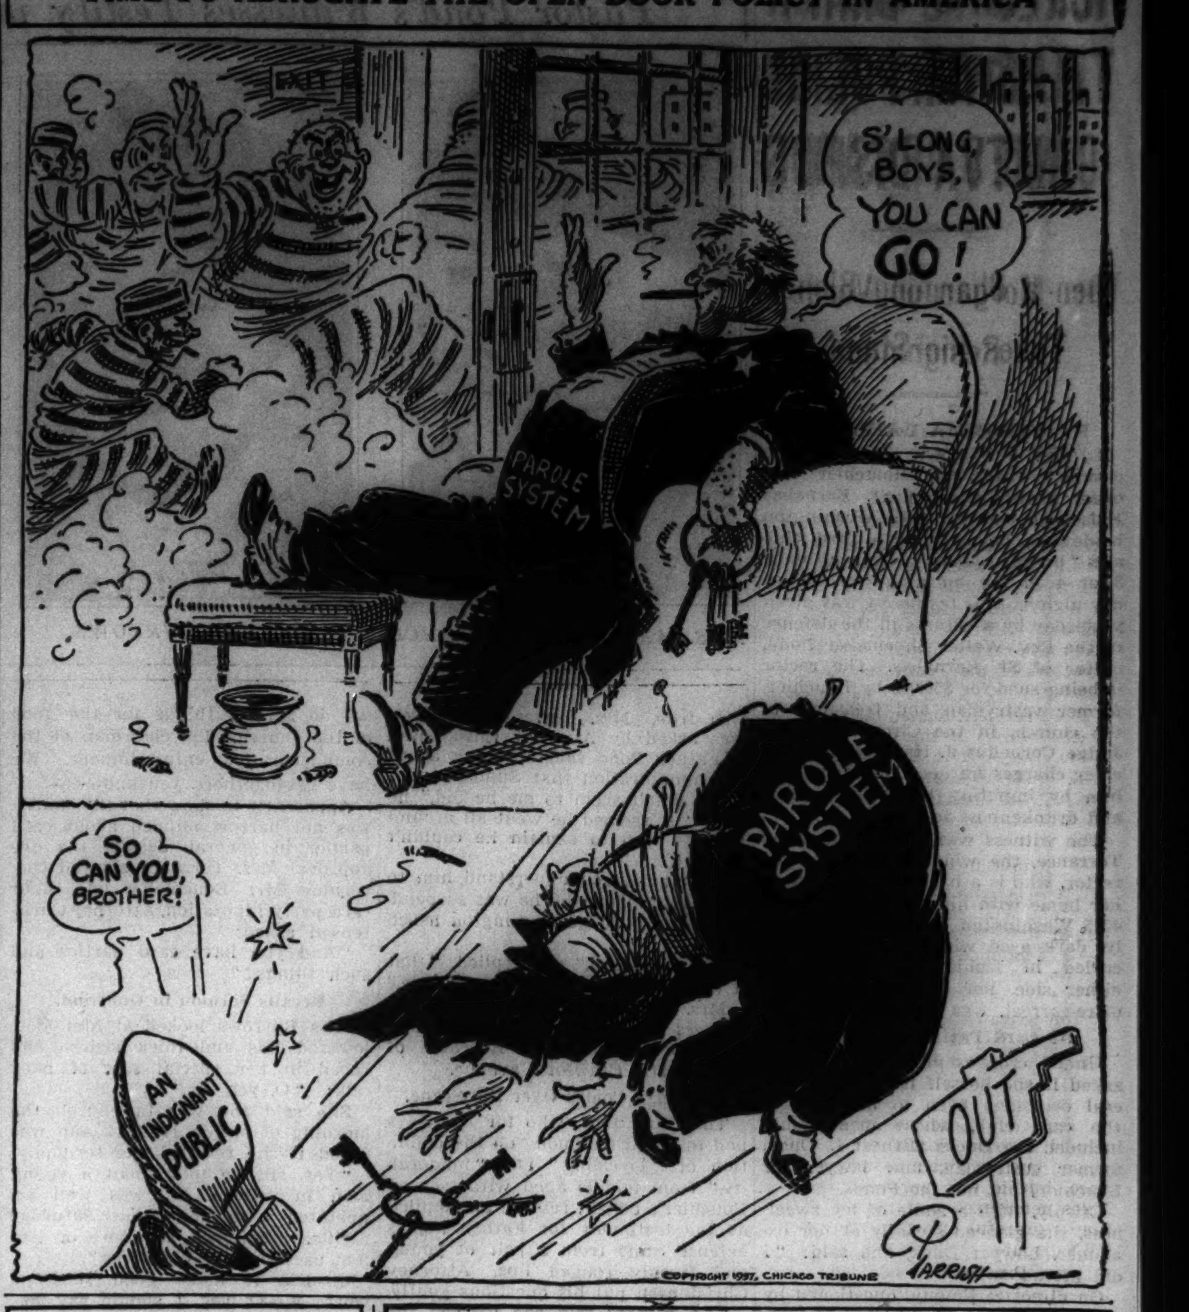
BAD TONSILS.

H. W. A. writes: Our 3 year old boy has bad tonsils. Two physicians have said to wait until he is four or five years old to have them removed, but a third advises immediate operation. What to do?

REPLY.

If the glands [tonsils] are badly infected they should be removed by a skilled operator. There is danger to your son's health if they are allowed to continue pouring pus into the system. If the infection is slight proper treatments may be employed until the lad is older.

TIME TO ABROGATE THE OPEN DOOR POLICY IN AMERICA



From Across the Sea

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—To establish clinics for the free treatment of diseases of the respiratory organs by the method perfected by David Fingard, a United States chemist, a society has been formed with headquarters in Whitehall. One clinic has been established at an Anglican rectory in Manchester.

Gen. Sir Hubert Gough is chairman of the Society for the Provision of Free Medical Treatment. Sir Harold Fawcus, a former director general of army medical services, is vice chairman.

Fingard, passing through this country two years ago on his way to Russia to demonstrate his treatment for asthma, bronchitis, and other respiratory diseases, was persuaded to test it here.

Robert Donat, the film star, was among persons treated and gained relief from asthma. Last June Fingard, being technically an alien, was requested to leave the country, but representations were made on his behalf to the home office which extended his stay until the end of December. Towards the end of this period an appeal was made for a further extension, and a shorter one was granted until the middle of this month, when he has to leave.

During his stay he has communicated his method to some 150 doctors, who are now using it in various parts of the country. It is also being used at several hospitals and sanatoria, including the Miners' Convalescent home at Blackpool, Lancashire, where a special ward is being built for it.

Fingard will leave his formula in the hands of three trustees, so that through the newly formed society the treatment will be available free to those patients who cannot afford to pay for it.

TRUST ESTATE.

Cicero, Ill., Jan. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—At the age of 11 years my parents died and [1] an estate was put in trust for me. Now I am 21 years of age and have been informed that my estate was put into a mortgage pool of which I can only have payments every six months.

2. Can they, knowing that my estate matured on a certain day of a month and year, hold the principal and pay me interest, and part of the principal in small payments? This in Pennsylvania.

3. Has the guardian the right to consent to the mortgage pool, or does the bank do it of its own free will to accumulate more interest?

4. What is the lawyer's fee to execute an estate in the state of Pennsylvania?

5. Can I sue the bank if money has been taken out by my guardian? S. M. M.

1. You do not make clear whether this was under the wording of a will or in absence of a will was authorized by court order or was done without any authority.
2. Depends on facts that are not before us.
3. Same.
4. Depends on the quality and extent of his services.
5. Of course you can sue, but your chances of success would depend on the facts.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CITIZENSHIP STATUS.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If an Englishman, a British subject, and so remaining, marries an American woman, does the wife lose her nationality and automatically become a British subject? 2. Are the children of this union, born in this country, British subjects? B. W. S.

1. An American woman who married an alien prior to Sept. 22, 1922, lost her citizenship by such marriage, under the laws then in effect. The marriage of a woman on or after that date does not affect her citizenship in this country, as the act of Sept. 22, 1922, provides that from that date on the citizenship of married women shall be independent of that of their husbands. Whether or not she becomes a British subject depends upon the laws of that country.

2. All persons born in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, under the fourteenth amendment to the constitution. Whether or not the children are also British subjects depends upon the laws of that country.

HATS OFF IN THEATER.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Rejoice, all you who have suffered at the theater, sitting behind broad, narrow, high, low, big, little, or any kind of hat.

I just received a message from one of the big movie house executives stating that once again ladies will be requested, by running trailers on the screen, to "Please remove their hats."

Thanks, Mr. Executive. Keep up the good work, not forgetting to request silence, also, and may success be yours always. ESTELLE R. WICKS.

ON BEING REHABILITATED.

Ontonogan, Mich., Jan. 10.—I am a borrower from the government. I have kicked and cussed the loan more than a thousand times. It has done me more harm than good and if they sell me out today it has put me back five years.

I was a relief client two years ago. I borrowed through the Rural Rehabilitation, now the Resettlement administration, with the understanding that I was to have some help. They give some relief clients thirty to forty years to pay back. I should have had ten years, but I got five to pay back $1,000. All I had to borrow on was three cows and three hogs. I had everything to buy and build. I had no house, barn, or fence on the land I had to clear.

If you want a pair of shoes you have to consult the dictator. If somebody gives you something to eat and you sell it you have to consult the dictator and tell what you are going to do with the money. If you have something to sell that is mortgaged you have to consult the dictator for a release and it takes a week to get the release. By that time the buyer is gone and there is no sale. If you need a little money to buy seeds or to harvest your crop you can't get it. They let the crop rot in the field and the stock starve to death.

How are you going to get out of debt? I have no stove and no furniture. I went hungry and ragged and had no relief. E. H. M.

PANAMA CANAL LOSSES.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—In a recent editorial you report that the Panama canal operated at a loss of $947,254 during the fiscal year 1936.

I wish to suggest as an addition to THE TRIBUNE'S platform for Illinois and Chicago—"Operate the Panama Canal at a Profit."

The best interest of business of this community will be served if a subsidy for the Panama canal does not exist. Although the Chicago district is able to serve the Pacific coast promptly and efficiently with rail transportation, the major portion of orders for commodities is placed with manufacturers in eastern states for slower shipment by water through the Panama canal because of the lower cost of transportation.

With an unbalanced national budget, a profit from the Panama canal should be sought. I have been informed that the Suez canal returns large dividends to its stockholders.

It is inconsistent that established rail freight rates are with the intent of profits to the carrier and canal toll rates continue in effect below cost of canal operations. E. M. WHITING.

CONSTITUTIONS COMPARED.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Your article in the Sunday, Jan. 10, edition—about 400 words in length—mentioned, en passant, in about fifteen words, that Eugene David asserted that the U. S. S. R. constitution was an advance over the U. S. A. constitution. The remainder of the half column length article was devoted to quotations from Mr. Golding's speech.

I would have been the last person to advocate cutting any of Mr. Golding's pertinent remarks from the article, but, in the name of fair reporting, I would ask you to mention a few things that I said so that it would not appear that I made a bald statement on the U. S. S. R. constitution without any factual and detailed elaboration. Two or three salient points of my talk follow:

"Our constitution was a revolutionary document in 1787 and far in advance over anything that existed in the world then. Up to 1917 it could be considered among the most liberal constitutions of modern society.

"The U. S. S. R. constitution is, in my opinion, an advance over our constitution because, basing itself on the public ownership of the means of production, it promises the soviet citizen, among other things, the right to work, the right to leisure and rest, the right to security in sickness and old age, and the right to education.

"As planning has been introduced into soviet economy, crises and unemployment have been abolished, consequently the right to work is primarily guaranteed by the economic organization of their society and is but restated by their constitution." EUGENE DAVID.

SURRENDER.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 12.—If I were a millionaire or, say, had a few hundred thousand dollars and my child were kidnaped for ransom I would try to get my child back in this manner:

First, I absolutely would not call in the police.

Second, I would keep the kidnaping a secret amongst my own family.

Third, I would contact the kidnapers as soon as possible for the safe return of my child.

Fourth, I would follow the instructions of the kidnapers 100 per cent.

There's bound to be future kidnaping; therefore the people who fear kidnaping should profit by Charles Lindbergh and Dr. Mattson's experience. Kidnapers don't take chances. Why should we? GEORGE ZORN.

THE SCOPE OF THE OREGON DECISION.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—The editorial in last Sunday's TRIBUNE on the decision of the United States Supreme court in the Oregon criminal syndicalist law case involving a communist meeting was in error. The decision did not invalidate the criminal syndicalist law and [illegible] made possible the elimination of the state criminal syndicalist laws in the other thirty-two states which have similar statutes. The point of the decision was that there had been an exaggerated interpretation of the criminal syndicalist law by the Oregon courts. IRA LATIMER.

ICKES TO DRAFT A POWER POLICY IN TVA DISPUTE

Dr. Morgan on Verge of Resigning.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.] — President Roosevelt today placed upon a committee headed by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes the responsibility of drafting within two weeks a national power policy which will determine the fate of a 12 billion dollar investment in private utilities and, incidentally, settle the raging dispute between two directors of the Tennessee Valley authority.

The President named his committee at the height of the controversy between Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the TVA, and David E. Lilienthal, TVA's managing director, over the question of coöperating with private utilities or destroying them.

Think Resignation Near.

The "conciliatory" views of Dr. Morgan, who favors the pooling of public and private electric power, were denounced today by Senator George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.], father of the TVA and arch-senate foe of the private utilities. Morgan appealed to Norris, but found no sympathy, and this increased a widely held belief that his resignation is imminent.

President Roosevelt is known to regard Senator Norris' views on the power question with a sort of reverence, but it was apparent that the Ickes committee was named to give him a graceful exit from the boiling TVA dispute.

If the President should agree with Lilienthal he would alienate conservative sentiment which is opposed to the destruction of a 12 billion dollar private investment, and if he would agree with Morgan he would alienate the radicals who are clamoring for a finish fight with the private utilities.

Bonneville Power Soon.

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned the fact that power from the Bonneville, Ore., hydro-electric project will be available for distribution this year as the reason why immediate legislation is necessary but he also asked the committee to make "recommendations within a couple of weeks." That would be just two days before the expiration, on Feb. 3, of a contract by which the TVA interchanges power with the Commonwealth and Southern company and the Morgan-Lilienthal controversy centers upon the question of extending this pooling arrangement.

"Power from the Bonneville project will be available for distribution this year," the President said. "Therefore, legislation is immediately necessary. At the same time, it is highly advisable that such legislation conform to a national power generating, transmitting and distributing policy, such policy to be uniform as far as practicable or advisable. This does not mean identical rates in every part of the country but it does mean uniformity of policy.

"This policy, once established, will apply to all existing projects, such as Boulder Dam and portions of the TVA and to all new power developments as they complete during the next few years."

Confers with Norris.

Dr. Morgan, who has insisted upon "fair play" and "a respect for legitimate investments in the utility business," conferred with President Roosevelt last week after the President had conferred with Lilienthal, and today took his fight to Senator Norris.

Norris said he agreed with Dr. Morgan that no steps should be taken that "injure or destroy" private investments "if it can be avoided."

"Before we build competing lines, transmission lines, or anything of that sort," he said, "we ought to buy the competing lines and pay what they are worth, just as Mr. Morgan says. We shouldn't build competing lines except as a last resort.

Thinks Last Resort Reached.

"Now I come to a disagreement. I think the last resort has been reached and has been reached for a year—for two years. In fact, we had done just what he says ought to be done before the Ashwander case was commenced. [This was the suit in which a TVA contract was upheld by the Supreme court.]

"As soon as an agreement was reached, a subsidiary went into court and asked an injunction to keep us from carrying out the act. The Commonwealth and Southern did everything it could to prevent the carrying out of that agreement.

"The TVA won that case in the Supreme court, but the damage was done. Although the TVA won in the Supreme court, it lost millions by that injunction. The private companies lost the suit, but made money, because they were selling electricity and making exorbitant profits while the suit was pending."

Assails Lower Court Ruling.

Norris also attacked the injunction issued recently by Federal Judge John J. Gore at Nashville in a suit brought by 19 power companies to restrain the TVA from expanding in that field.

"The Supreme court undoubtedly will set it aside, but it will be a year or two," he said. "The TVA meanwhile has its hands tied. When it is all over the TVA will have won, but lost money; the private companies will have lost, but made money.

"That's one point Dr. Morgan makes and I don't agree. He seems to feel that we should keep on negotiating. The other point is, he says, that it would be a hardship on the private companies for municipalities now served by them to withdraw even though they were paid a fair value for their distribution systems. That's true, but because of a position in which private power companies placed themselves."

Norris said the senate passed an amendment giving the TVA the right to take over whole distribution systems and sell them to cities, but it was defeated in the house "because of the opposition of the private companies."

"If the private companies lose, it is because they fought the law that would give them a remedy," he said.

Flood Damage Mounts in Four States.

BULLETIN.

Newport, Ky., Jan. 19 (Tuesday).—(AP)—This Kentucky community, across the Ohio river from Cincinnati, virtually was isolated by flood early today. Eight hundred families had moved to higher ground and city officials said they would move 200 more by daylight. Only one road was open to the south. Two street car routes were suspended and many streets were under water, in places waist deep.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The thirty-first flood suffered in this vicinity in 54 years rolled over Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Indiana tonight as the Ohio river, overtaxed by heavy rains, left its banks.

Warnings that the stream might rise six or seven feet above flood stage by midweek caused fears of serious damage along its entire 980 mile length from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill.

Three deaths in the midwest were attributed to flood waters that swept over lowlands in a half dozen states. Two of the fatalities were counted in southern Illinois, and one in Indiana.

Expect 59 Foot Stage.

Hundreds of residents in low districts along the Ohio moved to higher ground and factories took precautions to guard against water damage to machinery.

W. C. Devereaux, U. S. meteorologist, predicted the water would rise six feet and more above flood stage throughout most of the river valley. The river was two feet above the 52-foot flood stage in Cincinnati at noon.

The Muskingum river, big Ohio tributary, overflowed its banks near Zanesville, blocking highways. Residents of Marietta repeated their periodic process of boarding up store fronts and moving equipment to upper floors. The crest of 42 feet predicted there would send water through the city's principal streets.

The Ohio was from a few inches to eight feet above flood stage from Louisville, Ky., to its mouth at Cairo, Ill. At the river's starting point in Pittsburgh, junction of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, a crest of between three and four feet above flood stage of 25 feet was expected.

Johnstown on Alert.

Residents of the "flood city," Johnstown, Pa., anxiously watched river levels rising from rain which had been falling intermittently for the last 72 hours.

Heavy rains in West Virginia flooded main roads, including several leading into Charleston, where Homer A. Holt was being inaugurated as the new governor. Point Pleasant, W. Va., was the first to report a flood stage.

Major streams started upward in southern Illinois, where two deaths occurred in the flood zone. The body of Roscoe Carter, 53, of Thompsonville, Ill., missing for several days, was found in a field near Thompsonville which had been covered with water. The body of Vernon Day, who started for his home in Franklin county in a rowboat, was found by searchers in water near Whitington.

Hundred Families Flee.

More than 100 families in the Wabash river bottoms in the vicinity of Centralia, Ill., were forced from their homes by high water. About fifty families within the city limits of Mount Carmel, Ill., sought refuge on higher ground.

Five breaks were counted in levees along the Kaskaskia river in Fayette county, Ill., while a crew of 300 WPA men were working day and night to strengthen levees.

The body of Louis Blaske, 37 years old, apparently a flood victim, was found in the White river at Indianapolis. Heavy rains in southern Indiana sent streams out of their banks and over lowlands.

LAST SIX OF 25 LEFT STRANDED ON ICE IN LAKE REACH SAFETY

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Six commercial fishermen of Marinette, Wis., stranded on an ice floe in Green bay off Cedar river, reached shore safely late today.

They were the last of twenty-five fishermen to bridge a widening gap of water safely after being marooned on an ice field, which for a distance of 50 miles moved out along the Wisconsin and Michigan shore.

Fear was expressed at first for the safety of the last six because the ice was being carried into Lake Michigan. The men found a narrow spot in the gap of water and crossed to shore ice just as a rescue party appeared to set out for them.

SUPREME COURT DELAYS MINIMUM WAGE DECISION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Supreme court postponed today, at least until Feb. 1, a ruling on the constitutionality of the Washington law establishing minimum wages for women.

Also deferred was a decision on whether the 1933 resolution prohibiting payment of obligations in gold applied to bullion as well as to coin.

The justices met for only a few minutes and then adjourned for two weeks without announcing a single decision.

60 Frozen to Death in Asia Minor Snow Storms

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Sixty peasants were frozen to death in Asia Minor in severe snow storms during the past several days, officials said. Wolves were attacking villages isolated by six foot snowfalls.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

THIS very minute there are a lot of people concerned with the immediate question of what to do for a very annoying cold-in-the-head.

If you are one of them, you'll be very much interested in what follows:

It's only a year since the makers of REM perfected a new remedy for head-colds. They called it REL Head-Cold Jelly. It didn't come easy. Over one hundred and thirty-seven experiments were made. Distinguished physicians, pharmacists, chemists, and pharmacologists were consulted. Clinical tests were conducted in actual cases under careful medical supervision. Only after all this preliminary pre-testing was REL put on the market for the verdict of the public.

The answer was "Great!" Rarely has a new product received such enthusiastic response. So many who have used it say they've never found anything that brings relief so fast. Why, REL Head-Cold Jelly starts relief in half a minute! And it's so pleasant—it has the delightful, refreshing odor of the pine woods.

Your druggist has REL Head-Cold Jelly in two sizes now—30c and 50c. Whichever size you buy — if you don't say it's the finest thing you have ever used for a head-cold, you can have your money back.

"Give 'em the works"

WHEN an advertiser spends a dollar for space he expects and is entitled to receive honest value, not only in circulation, but in quality of circulation. The Inquirer gives that value and more, ever so much more. The 108-year-old Inquirer has a new formula which gives the Space Buyer the greatest PLUS VALUE in newspaper history.

It's a formula which produces constantly-rising circulation. It's rather a costly formula for a publisher to adopt. But it brings sweet music to the advertiser's ears—and that gives me pleasure.

It's a formula which has been drilled into the mind of every employee of the Greater Philadelphia Inquirer. And nothing else counts. It's a formula based on a burning ambition to produce the greatest morning and Sunday newspaper in America! Greatest for the reader! Greatest for the advertiser!

The formula is this:

Give every reader more than he ever got before.
Give him the news, all the news, honestly written.
Give him the best features that money can buy.

Give him society pages such as he has never seen before. Give him the greatest array of comics any newspaper ever produced. Give him women's pages for his wife. Give him editorial pages and columnists that will instruct him and make him think. Give him the best sports pages experts can produce. Give him good financial pages, business news. Make it all complete. Inspire him! Win his confidence! Give him everything worthwhile that a great newspaper can give a reader. And give it to him seven days a week.

Give him a parade of advertising arranged so he can see it. Give him ALL of the best. In fact—

GIVE HIM THE WORKS AND NEVER MIND THE COST!

On August 5th last, I bought the 108-year-old Philadelphia Inquirer, by myself and for myself. I put the formula to work. In the first 120 days more than 225,000 new buyers sought the Sunday Inquirer; more than 75,000 new buyers sought the morning Inquirer. And that tidal wave of new and friendly readers continues to roll in. Up! Up! Up! An army of new friends in the greatest home market in the world.

And now . . . with the opening of a New Year, the Inquirer presses are printing more than 1,000,000 Inquirers on Sundays, the biggest Sunday newspaper in America; and nearly 400,000 every week day. Morning and Sunday newspapers such as Pennsylvania has never seen before.

This magnificent response from readers means a magnificent response for advertisers. It's the best sales tune the advertisers have heard in years.

It's your chance to roll into the best homes of Philadelphia's Billion Dollar Market with the greatest upward sweep of combined Daily and Sunday Circulation in publishing history!

NOW IT SEEMS ROYALTY IS IN FOR PUBLICITY

Secrecy on Edward Was a Lesson—Beaverbrook.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express gave London a veiled hint today that the doings of the royal family will be considered news henceforth, with no more "voluntary censorships."

Declaring "We have learned something from suppressing news about the duke of Windsor [former King Edward VIII.]," the Express added that "censorship is bad for the people. . . . The story always creeps through . . . in a distorted way."

The Express was first to reveal that the "mysterious woman" who accompanied the duke of Kent on his New Year's eve visit to a phrenologist was Mrs. William Allen, former mannequin. This event caused gossips to spread rumors intimating a romance between the two and a rift between the duke and his wife, the former Princess Marina of Greece.

Replies to Labor Rebuke.

As a result of this gossip, the London newspapers over the week-end published a flood of denials that the duke was involved in any such affair, and the Beaverbrook press itself was rebuked by the Labor organ, the People, for giving wide publicity to the phrenology episode.

Replying to this attack, the Express, while joining in denouncing the whispering campaign about the duke of Kent, blamed the gossip on "self-imposed censorship," and also referred to the abdication crisis as a lesson for the people. Regarding former King Edward, the Express said:

"We learned something from suppressing news about the duke of Windsor [former King Edward VIII.] and Mrs. Wallis Simpson. But for the self-imposed censorship of news by the entire press at that time we might never have had to print the story of his abdication.

"Censorship of the news is bad for the people. The story always creeps through. And it creeps through in a distorted way.

"Imported Like Foreign Goods."

"The public got the story of ex-King Edward through a wave of innuendo and suggestion in the American press. Scandinavian newspapers have been publishing untrue and distressing stories about the duke of Kent. It is better for the British people to get their news about the royal family in British newspapers and not like foreign goods imported for consumption in cafés, clubs, and pubs."

William Allen, husband of the duke's companion on the phrenology visit and a former member of parliament for Belfast, in a letter published in today's London Times, complained of "press persecution" as a result of the "casual and utterly harmless visit of my wife to the phrenologist in company with a member of the royal family."

Allen's mother-in-law, an elderly woman in weak health and living alone, has been reduced to a state of nervous exhaustion, according to Allen's letter. He charges this is caused by the "relentless attentions of reporters both on the telephone and at the front door."

"I have now arranged for her protection and a warm reception for any further visitors," Allen warned. "If 'liberty of the press' in this country is to be expressed in the form of persecution of individuals of all classes in the community—for the same treatment is extended to victims of minor incidents in poorer houses—it is high time that measures were taken by parliament to put some restraint upon license which amounts to intolerable and ever growing scandal."

"Yellow Press Torture."

"Otherwise," Allen concludes, "certain individuals who have grown rich upon ruthless exploitation of other people's private lives will find they have come into conflict with men who are not in such helpless position as some who have recently been tortured on the wheel of the yellow press."

Recent events have made everybody in conservative circles extremely touchy about any gossip concerning royalty. The duke of Kent is said to have been well lectured by his mother, Queen Mother Mary, and even by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, for the publicity springing from his New Year's eve trip. That was said to be one of the reasons for calling the duke to Sandringham castle and his immediate visit there following his return from the recent wedding of Princess Juliana of The Netherlands.

The duke has canceled his appointments for Wednesday and will go to Sandringham to see King George VI. According to London papers, the purpose of the trip is a family reunion for memorial services for the late King George V.

Lashes "New Patriotism."

Writing in the Reynolds News, Lord Ponsonby, Labor peer and one time page of honor to Queen Victoria, stated: "I note just now a new form of 'patriotism' growing up which consists in collecting and purveying the most scandalous items of unreliable gossip about ex-King Edward and the lady of his choice in order to show how much better off we are on recognized orthodox lines without him."

He pleaded for "greater simplicity and less humbug" in dealings between the sovereign and the people, complaining that "high society" dominates the court and makes it practically impossible for the common man or woman to have access to the monarch even through a sympathetic representative.

"Tried to Penetrate Barriers."

"The last king," Ponsonby declared, referring to ex-King Edward, "made an attempt to penetrate these barriers and this, mind you, was by no means the least of the counts against him."

The coronation of King George VI., the boosting of which already is going on intensively, will, according to Lord Ponsonby, be "the biggest commercial stunt that was ever engineered."

Meanwhile, it appeared last night that the slander suit brought by Ernest Simpson against Mrs. Joan Sutherland, wife of Col. Arthur Sutherland, concerning a remark she was alleged to have made about the Ipswich divorce, may not come up in court before April, when the decree nisi granted Mrs. Simpson is scheduled to be made absolute.

RETAIL CLOTHIERS STILL HAIL EDWARD AS KING OF STYLES

Former King Edward VIII. cannot abdicate his throne as Emperor of Styledom, leaders of the men's clothing industry thankfully agreed yesterday as the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers began its convention at the Congress hotel. Counting sales gains of 17 per cent over 1935, more than 1,000 merchants and manufacturers looked for even better business this year.

All who were asked about the status of the duke of Windsor as a style leader expressed the enthusiasm they have felt for years toward him. King or no king, he still is the nearest approach to a world arbiter of men's styles, they said.

One of the most favored topcoat models on exhibit was a copy of a model worn by the duke recently. It has raglan sleeven and a fly-front.

George VI. was not forgotten by the clothiers, even though he doesn't rate with his elder brother as a stylist. Leo N. Cardozo, 36 years old, 7439 Chappel avenue, was selected as the double of the present king-emperor. King Cardozo will be crowned this morning with a copy of the real crown, at a display of this and other copies of crown jewels. The purpose is to draw attention to the exhibit of a firm manufacturing belts, suspenders, and garters.

Notes on the spring and summer for 1937, gleaned from exhibitors in advance of the formal style show this afternoon, show that drape model suits will continue in vogue—only more so. They will be a bit fuller to make the chest within look even more manly.

2 PAINTER CHIEFS GET 4 DELAYS IN GUN TOTING CASE

James Dungan, business agent, and George Henneman, secretary-treasurer of the Painters' union, local 191, who were arrested on Dec. 10 with two loaded revolvers, have obtained a fourth continuance in the case in the Municipal court, it was learned yesterday. The last continuance was granted Friday by Judge Eugene L. McGarry in the South State Street court. The charge will be heard again Feb. 9.

The two union officials have a record of several arrests for carrying concealed weapons and each time there have won court dismissals.

The two were seized on the latest charge by Lieut. Ray Crane and Sergt. Thomas Casey, bodyguards for Mayor Kelly, in an automobile in front of the Wilmington hotel, 4901 Drexel avenue, after painters working in the building complained of intimidation by union agents the day before.

The Reasons for the Delay.

The court records show that the first continuance was granted as a matter of course. The second continuance was ordered when attorneys for the two defendants asked that the evidence be suppressed because the revolvers were seized without a search warant.

The records do not show why the third continuance was granted, but last Friday when Judge McGarry denied the rule to suppress the evidence defense counsel obtained another delay to bring in more attorneys.

In April, 1933, Dungan was fined $1 on the disorderly charge in the Municipal court. The fine was fixed at $25 during the court session, but after court adjourned was reduced to $1.

In August, 1935, Dungan, Henneman, and four others were arrested when police raided the union headquarters at 5444 Wentworth avenue and seized four pistols and a shotgun. The six men were discharged in court.

Questioned in Wife's Murder.

A year ago Dungan and Henneman were questioned by the police in connection with the slaying of Henneman's wife, Elsie Henneman, who was shot to death while riding in an automobile with her husband. Henneman escaped by falling to the floor of the car as the gunmen drove alongside of his machine and fired a shotgun charge into the car.

In May, 1936, the two were arrested with loaded revolvers in an automobile at 35th and Wallace streets. The charges against them were dismissed by Judge Thomas A. Green after he had continued the case and told Dungan to return prepared to serve six months in the Bridewell.

GIRL KILLED BY FALL INTO SHAFT FROM ELEVATOR

Miss Ernstine Calvin, 20 years old, 5354 Glenwood avenue, a stenographer and former University of Illinois student, fell from an elevator into the elevator shaft in the Insurance Exchange building, 175 West Jackson boulevard, yesterday and was fatally injured.

The accident occurred just before the ascending express elevator reached the second floor. At that level there is no doorway for express elevators, but a space is left by a bulge in the shaft wall. Miss Calvin, who was of slight build, either slipped or fainted and fell through this open space to the bottom of the shaft.

Miss Calvin was given a position as a stenographer last Friday by Douglas T. Ga Nun, an insurance man with offices on the 16th floor.

CITY ELECTRICAL UNIONS THREATEN STRIKE OVER CUTS

Two Chiefs Demand Back Pay for 800.

Threats to call 800 city electrical workers out on strike next Friday night unless pay cuts of depression days are restored were made yesterday to the city finance committee. The ultimatum was delivered by Michael J. Boyle, business agent of Local 134, and Sam Guy, business agent of Local 9 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Boyle's union has 250 members in city jobs, and Guy's union has 550. Their work affects almost every operation of the city. The Boyle men hold down "inside" jobs having to do with police radio, water pumps and cribs, bridges, the Chicago airport and construction. The Guy workers control the "outside" jobs, the principal ones dealing with street lighting, trafic control lights, and the fire alarm system.

Committee Gives Refusal.

Boyle and Guy presented their demands to the finance committee, headed by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey, chairman. The committee, after a hurried discussion, said the wage restoration could not be met. Ald. Arvey pointed out that the city's budget has already been passed and that the committee has no legal power to amend it. He asked the unions to present their demands anew for the next budget, next January.

"If we restore your pay reduction we'd have to do the same for many other city employés who also belong to unions," said Ald. Arvey.

Boyle and Guy walked out of the committee rooms in a huff, announcing: "We'll have the city in darkness Friday night."

Ald. Arvey will confer today with Mayor Kelly about the pay demand and strike threat.

Demand Thirty-nine Days' Pay.

The union agents asserted they had demanded restoration of the pay cuts in time for the 1937 budget, but that these had been ignored. They are demanding that their men be given thirty-nine days' pay above what they are now receiving. In 1932 the electrical workers received a reduction of seventy-eight days' pay yearly. This was subsequently reduced to thirty-nine days. Restoration of thirty-nine days' pay will bring their wages back to the pre-depression level.

Last night about 250 members of Boyle's local met in the Union Park Labor temple, Washington boulevard and Ogden avenue, and voted powers to their officials to call a strike. Similar action has been taken by the other union.

A strike of the 800 electrical workers, if fully effective, could, it was pointed out, plunge the city into darkness, promoting crime and accidents; hamper police and the fire department, shut off the city's water supplies, block the river to navigation, and cripple the airport. In addition, elevator and other conveniences in city buildings would be impaired and perhaps halted.

VICTIM POINTS OUT RAPIST FROM HER HOSPITAL BED

Mrs. Mary Sak, 38 years old, 941 Newton street, from her bed in the County hospital yesterday pointed out Stanley Sluzarz, 31 years old, 1041 North Woods street, a tailor, as the man who kidnaped her, raped her and threw her from a moving automobile Sunday night.

Mrs. Sak told the police she was seized as she was walking in Division street near Lincoln street about 10 p. m., forced into an automobile and taken to a vacant flat, where she was beaten, raped and held prisoner until 4:30 a. m., she said.

POPE SETS PART OF EACH DAY FOR SPECIAL PRAYERS

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Pope Pius, during his illness, has set aside part of each day in the week for extraordinary prayers, a semi-official statement said tonight.

One day he asks God for the success of the forthcoming eucharistic congress at Manila. On another day he prays particularly for Spain, on another for Germany, another for sinners and on another for the dying, it was stated.

The 79 year old pontiff, bolstered up in his bed, received Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, and Cardinal Lauri, grand penitentiary of the church, who is protector of the sisters of the Most Holy and Immaculate Heart of Mary, in Hollywood, Cal. It was Cardinal Lauri's first visit to the holy father since his illness.

TRACE LICENSE IN HIT-RUN KILLING; QUIZ POLICEMAN

Vice Squad Member Calls Witness Mistaken.

Policeman Edward J. Kelly of the gambling and vice squad was arrested at his home, 5402 North Campbell avenue, yesterday after the license number given by a witness as that of the automobile which struck and killed Henry L. Chatroop, an attorney, Sunday night was traced to him.

The license number was given police by Miss Dorothy Birch, 26 years old, 3716 East avenue, Berwyn, who with Attorney Chatroop and others had attended a party at the home of Jay Stough, 1809 North Park avenue. She was in a group crossing the street to enter Chatroop's car when the attorney was run down. The driver did not stop.

Denies Leaving Home.

Policeman Kelly was released on his own recognizance after he denied he had been away from home Sunday night. He said he believed the witness had put down the wrong number. His car was taken to the accident prevention bureau for examination.

Evanston's first automobile fatality of 1937 was recorded last night when Miss Louise Riley, 60 years old, was killed in front of 116 Ridge avenue, where she was employed as a housekeeper. The automobile driver was Miss Anne Brownlee, 31 years old, 1738 Highland avenue, Wilmette, a telephone operator. Miss Brownlee said Miss Riley moved in front of her car so suddenly she could not avoid striking her.

Struck by an automobile and hurled under a Burlington freight engine, Thomas Tudor, 50 years old, was instantly killed last night at Kenton avenue and 26th street. A wrecking crew worked several hours to extricate the body. Jerry Vacek, 25 years old, of 2424 South 58th court, Cicero, who was driving the car, was taken into custody for questioning. Tudor was a flagman for the Belt railway and lived at 5650 West 63d place.

Elderly Man Killed.

John W. Joy, 80 years old, 3031 Farrell avenue, was killed last night while returning from a visit to his son's home near by, when he was struck at 30th street and Union avenue by a truck driven by Roy Lipshin, 22 years old, 1309 South Kostner avenue.

David Bell, 68 years old, colored, 4437 Indiana avenue, owner of a poolroom, was struck by a taxicab near his home yesterday and killed. The driver, James Goin, 4050 Calumet avenue, also colored, was held for the inquest.

An unidentiled man about 55 years old died yesterday in County hospital of a skull fracture suffered Sunday when he was hit by an automobile at Spaulding and Archer avenues.

Ralph Benjamin, 26 years old, 679 Main street, Aurora, died in St. Joseph Mercy hospital at Aurora yesterday of injuries suffered Saturday when his automobile overturned in the Galena road west of Aurora. He was the son of the late John T. Benjamin, pioneer Aurora cigar manufacturer.

Two on Sidewalk Hurt in Crash.

Two dancing teachers were injured and two policemen bruised and cut early today when a squad car speeding to the scene of a reported burglary collided with another car at Jackson boulevard and Wabash avenue and caromed on the sidewalk where the teachers were standing. They were Sally O'Hara, 20 years old, and Jean O'Hara, 22, sisters, living at 3108 West Harrison street. Sally's right leg was fractured. Jean was severely bruised.

The squad car containing Detectives Floyd Pfeiffer and Raymond Barker of the State street station was speeding east in Jackson boulevard, with siren sounding, when a northbound car driven by Andrew Pilat, 22, of 1834 Blue Island avenue, crossed its path. The squad car collided with Pilat's car, bounced over the curb, hitting the O'Hara girls, and struck the Lyon & Healy building.

November Deaths at Peak.

Frank Jirka, public health director for Illinois, announced at Springfield yesterday that deaths from trafic accidents in the state last November totaled 285, the largest number ever recorded in one month. The previous high mark was 261 in October, 1934.

From the first of the year to 4 p. m. yesterday forty-four persons were killed in automobile accidents in Cook county, according to the coroner's office. Of these thirty-nine were killed in Chicago. During the same period trafic accidents in Chicago injured 957 persons.

HORNER STUDIES BILL TO LICENSE AUTO DRIVERS

All Trafic Groups O.K. Compromise Text.

BY HAL FOUST.

A compromise drivers' license bill has been drafted and is on the desk of Gov. Horner awaiting his indorsement for its introduction in the general assembly as an administration measure. The City club was advised of the proposed legislation at a forum luncheon yesterday in the Hotel Sherman.

Hugh Johnson, attorney for the Chicago Motor club, told the meeting that his organization has dropped its objections to a provision for an examination as a prerequisite for new drivers to obtain a license. George W. Fleming, general secretary of the Keep Chicago Safe committee, said that the draft, as now amended, has the approval of automobile clubs, safety councils, and trafic experts generally.

Experience Equals a Test.

The drivers' license fee, as provided in the draft in the governor's hands, is $1 for three years. The law, if enacted in its present form, would become effective next Oct. 1. Before Jan. 1, 1938, all applicants for a license who have operated a motor vehicle for more than one year would be exempt from an examination.

Renewals also would be issued without an examination. After Jan. 1 about 175,000 would take tests annually for the first license, according to an estimate by Sidney J. Williams, a director of the National Safety council.

"The examination requirements," said Mr. Fleming, "have been simplified. While not set forth specifically in the bill, it is presumed that an examiner could judge an applicant's physical capacity by looking at him and could determine his elementary ability to read and understand trafic rules and signs by asking a few questions. We are not proposing any of the fancy psychological tests advocated by some theorists."

Expect 2,000,000 to Be Issued.

The Horner bill, if such it becomes, would place the administration under the department of public works, which also supervises the state highway police. Bills in other sessions have placed administration under the secretary of state. It is estimated that approximately 2,000,000 licenses would be issued, with a revenue of about $650,000 a year.

The license would be revoked for a year for conviction for manslaughter with an automobile, for driving while intoxicated, for fleeing the scene of an accident, or for perjury in obtaining a license.

The license would be rescinded for a year for three speeding convictions in twelve months. For driving without a license, the bill provides a fine not to exceed $500 and a jail sentence of not less than two days nor more than six months.

With the drivers' license bill on the governor's desk is a companion measure, a financial responsibility bill.

Today is the deadline for motorists to buy their 1937 city vehicle licenses. City Controler Robert B. Upham gave this warning yesterday, saying that policemen will begin to issue court summonses to all motorists whose windshields do not bear stickers tomorrow morning.

MUNCIE 'STONE' BOY DIES AT 18; BROTHER, 11, NEARLY HELPLESS

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Charles Richard Wagner, 18 years old, whose flesh has been ossifying for several years while baffled medical scientists looked on helplessly, is dead.

His brother, William, 11 years old, is able to get about in a wheel chair, but his case also is believed to be hopeless. The boys, unusually intelligent, kept up their school studies as long as they could, and it was only when they no longer could attend school that their predicament was called to the attention of physicians.

Medical books record only a few similar cases. Both parents and a sister are normal.

TWO MATRONS BECOME FAST FRIENDS IN PINCH

On her way to shop in Chicago yesterday, Mrs. Madeline Roessler, 30 years old, 474 Ash street, Winnetka, was arrested by Motorcycle Policeman Henry P. Dricker for driving 40 miles an hour in Ridge avenue, at Emerson street in Evanston. Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, 36 years old, 219 Sheridan road, Kenilworth, who drove her car close behind Mrs. Roessler's, was also arrested.

Both women were booked to appear before Judge Harry H. Porter in the Evanston Municipal court next Thursday. Mrs. Roessler, whose husband, Ernest, is a Chicago hotel man, had money for her $10 bond, but Mrs. Smith did not. Moreover, Mrs. Smith's efforts to telephone her husband, Purcell, vice president in charge of finances of the Commonwealth Edison company, were unavailing.

Mrs. Roessler stepped up to her. "I feel that I got you into this," she told Mrs. Smith, "so if you'll permit me I'll go your bail."

Mrs. Smith accepted the loan and the women left the police station together.

WARNS OF STERN SENTENCES FOR DRIVERS; JAILS 6

Warning that hereafter he would impose greater penalties for serious trafic violations in order to reduce the automobile accident hazard, Judge Charles S. Dougherty of the Safety court sentenced six men to jail yesterday on charges of recklessness and drunken driving.

"In view of the widespread publicity on the fact that a county jail sentence is inevitable, decent citizens should keep that fact in mind when they set out to drive a car after they have been drinking," he told several first offenders who asked leniency.

Four who were sentenced to ten days for driving while intoxicated are Walter C. Graves, 51 years old, 624 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park; Richard Overton, 25, West McHenry, Ill.; Alvis Fitzpatrick, 27, of 1455 Hastings street, colored, and Thomas McCann, 40, of 2438 West 19th street. John Casazza, 21, of 1628 North Wells street, and John Strunc, 44, of 2352 South Whipple street, were sentenced to five days for recklessness.

FRANK B. PERKINS, WHO SAW LINCOLN NOMINATED, DIES

Elgin Civil War Vet,95, Born in Log Cabin.

Funeral services for Frank B. Perkins, who was present in the Wigwam in Chicago when Lincoln was nominated president, and who marched with Sherman to the sea, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Elgin.

The services will be in the chapel at 266 East Chicago street, with burial in Bluff City cemetery. Mr. Perkins died Sunday at his home in Elgin, at the age of 95.

Born in Cook County.

He was born in a log cabin on the western edge of Cook county, near Barrington. At the outbreak of the war between the states, he enlisted with Company A of the 36th Illinois infantry, the Fox river regiment of civil war fame.

This regiment suffered the second largest loss of any that saw service in the western theater of the war. It marched away in 1861 to fight, 1,200 strong. In battle the regiment lost 700 killed and wounded.

In July, 1933, survivors held the last reunion. Perkins and one other veteran were present, the others being too infirm, or living too far away. His death leaves only two surviving members of the Elgin G. A. R. post.

In First Academy Class.

Mr. Perkins was a member of the first class of the Elgin academy, enrolling in 1856. He was also an alumnus of Beloit college. For many years he was secretary of the Elgin board of education. Prior to that he served as a department foreman in the Elgin watch factory.

SHURTLEFF WILL LEAVES AN $15,000 ESTATE TO WIDOW

Judge Edward D. Shurtleff, veteran member of the 17th judicial circuit, and former speaker of the Illinois house of representatives, left an estate of $15,000 to his widow in his will, admitted to probate yesterday in Woodstock by Judge Henry L. Cowlin of McHenry county. Judge Shurtleff, who was 73 years old, died Dec. 14 at his home in Marengo. An unusual paragraph in Judge Shurtleff's eleven page will suggested that his children arrange perpetual care for the graves of his great grandparents, grandparents, and parents.

His paternal grandparents were Ichabod Shurtleff, a revolutionary soldier, and Betsy Pettingil Shurtleff; his maternal grandparents were Reuben King, a soldier of the war of 1812 and Roxana De Wolf King, a Mayflower descendant; while his parents, Alfred and Mary Shurtleff, were early settlers at Genoa, Ill.

BIG SIHK, WHO CHEATED DEATH AS HANGMAN'S ROPE BROKE, GETS LIFE

SHANGHAI, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The death sentence from which burly Atma Singh, Sikh member of the British police, escaped on Dec. 29, when a snapped rope saved him on the gallows, was commuted today to life imprisonment.

The British embassy announced the commutation. The officer, who was to have died for the hatchet slaying of a fellow policeman, will finish his days in a jail in his native India.

Officials said Atma Singh's neck was stretched two inches when he underwent the terrific jerk as the rope broke. They said he was recovering from minor injuries, and his neck was slowly contracting.

WAITER RETIRES AFTER 35 YEARS AT RED STAR INN

Rudolph Pries, who estimates that he served more than 100,000 persons during the thirty-five years that he was employed as a waiter at the Red Star inn, 1528 North Clark street, will leave today for a vacation of two or three months in California. Pries, who is 66 years old, retired as waiter after he served his last customer at the inn Sunday night.

The waiter, known to many public officials and members of the social set, besides hundreds of others, said that he will retire to his farm near Kalamazoo, Mich., when he returns from the west coast.

"Serving meals nowadays is not the same as it was years back," he said. "Formerly patrons were meticulous about the manner in which food was served. Now they are more interested in being served in a hurry."

QUICK! STOP THAT COLD IN THE DRY OR FIRST STAGE!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages:

The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage.

A cold is twice as easily stopped in the first as in the second or third stages. In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage is inviting trouble.

Expressly for Colds!

As your doctor will tell you, there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

It is expressly a cold tablet and not a "cure-all". It is internal treatment which a cold requires. It does four important things.

First, it opens the bowels. Second, it checks the infection in the system. Third, it relieves the headache and fever. Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

That's the fourfold treatment you want and in Bromo Quinine you get it in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Don't Delay!

Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. Used promptly, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours.

Ask your druggist firmly for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets and don't be talked into accepting a substitute.

Language— Encounter— Sisters— Luncheon.

VALENTINE WILLIAMS, the British mystery story author and war correspondent who pinch-hit at the council of foreign relations luncheon because of the illness of Señor de Madariaga, the Spanish statesman scheduled to speak, commented that Americans and English sometimes have difficulty understanding each other, and told of the man who came into a London cigar store with a broken lighter.

"This duhickey's on the fritz," he said to the Englishman behind the counter.

"I beg your pardon," said the Englishman.

"This gadget . . ." indicating the lighter . . . "it's out of gas."

The Englishman still looked puzzled, and the American, observing that he wore a war medal, said, "Parlez-vous français?"

"Oui, oui," answered the other.

"Bricquet . . . caput," explained the American.

* *

ANOTHER story Mr. Williams told concerned his encounter with a gentleman near the Spanish border who, when he addressed him in French to make some inquiry or other, answered that he spoke English and was an American. Mr. Williams immediately suggested that they have a drink and during their refreshment his companion commented that he was away from his own land because he was from a family of writing folk.

"I'm a fugitive from a press gang, so to speak," he said. And when Mr. Williams lifted his brows in inquiry, he added, "I am, God help me, the father of the Abbé children."

NOTES from the symphony concerts come in occasionally and perhaps with a certain appropriateness from a Miss Trilling—Sylvia Trilling. This time they concern the two sisters, no longer young, who occupy aile seats, and who are strikingly reminiscent of the pixilated sisters in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town." What one does the other copies. Earlier in the season they fanned with their programs, with grave uniformity. Last Thursday evening they waited to doff their outer garments until Iturbi was well into the first number, and then literally peeled themselves into Beethoven's "Lenore Overture," removing coat, hat, sweater, knee-high gaiters, and, as the last notes rang out, plop, off came their rubbers. Toward the end of the evening the sisters vested themselves of all these articles to Strawinsky's "Firebird Suite," arriving at the long gaiter stage when the "Berceuse" was being played. One of them reached into a bag and produced a button hook, and subsequently each button snared resounded above the music. They didn't come out even, however, Miss Trilling bulletins, for they were still buttoning buttons and tying scarfs while the applause was sounding through the hall.

GEORGE DANGERFIELD admitted he had been wanting to meet Miss Hepburn for five years, and Miss Hepburn listened absorbedly to every word of his talk, her intense little face small and pale beside the great basket of pink begonias that graced the speaker's table. And a large audience at the luncheon of the English Speaking union listened to Mr. Dangerfield discuss the American and English novel, dwelling on Miss Brontë and her dissatisfaction with the place women occupied that came out in the "passionate purity" of Jane Eyre, and that was considered rather coarse of Miss Brontë, since in her day passion was held a quality belonging to people one didn't know.

Mr. Dangerfield earlier had mentioned that resourcefulness was an outstanding American trait, and smilingly recalled a story he had heard in the east from Chester Arthur, nephew of the late President. President Arthur's White House hostess was his niece, and the tale concerned an occasion when the Chinese ambassador came to dine. His immense imperturbability had weighed heavily on many Washington dinner parties, all efforts at small talk and laughter dying under his grave immobility; then when at the White House dinner he was heard to laugh aloud all Washington was asking the hostess next day how she did it.

"I tried all my wiles and graces and told him my best stories, but there was no response," she confessed. "Finally, I slipped my hand under the sleeve of his kimono and ran my fingers lightly up his arm to his shoulder . . . like this. That was what made him laugh."

Good Morning!

Behold then, with joy—I did!—Mr. Arliss as twins in "Man of Affairs."

As a genial globe trotter, Richard Frazer, he runs on to the truth concerning the murder of a sheik of Araby. As Lord Dunchester, English foreign secretary, he's a pompous somebody who would have had his nation at war with desert tribes over this same little murder, had not Brother Richard stepped in, kidnaped Brother Lorrimer and thrown the oil of his suave astuteness on troubled political waters. . . .

This is a deft, sophisticated comedy drama, which takes itself seriously enough, but never too seriously. It is effectively staged, neatly dialoged and was directed with intelligence.

Mr. Arliss is SOME twins! Easily and with never a stumble—save those made for story purposes—he steps from the character, appearance and mannerisms of one brother to the other, making each human, entertaining and believable.

Jessie Winter as Lady Dunchester who Richard has always loved, is charming. She has a great deal of manner and a sort of hesitant poise that is alluring. Her head, you feel, chose Lorrimer with his position and money, but you're sure her heart has always longed for Richard, despite her unfaltering loyalty to the ass whose name she bears.

Romilly Lunge and Rene Ray carry the romantic leads pleasingly. A couple of turbanned blackmailers are amusingly portrayed. John Ford as Prince Ibrahim is quite the most pulchritudinous young man I have seeen outside a chorus and he can wiggle his scalp. Which is about all his rôle calls for in the way of acting and I don't know that it called for that.

A new and delightful perfume for the very feminine lady of today. It is truly different, equally charming, and comes in a rich and lovely crystal container, handsomely set in quilted satin.

One of the old established cosmetic houses has recently launched a lovely new perfume, and one that we're sure will achieve high favor among choosy women. It's out of the ordinary, different. It's a bouquet rather hard to define and appealing in that quality of mystery. There's a tang of freshness blended with a soft undercurrent of musk and spice and oriental richness—a fragrance many-sided, infinitely varied.

This isn't a perfume for the schoolgirl, but it isn't the least bit sirenish either. Daintily sophisticated, city bred, we'd say, and perfectly suited to a feminine lady of today.

Another nice thing about this fragrance is its lasting quality. It clings remarkably well and doesn't vanish into thin air so that one must start off with too much to arrive with just enough.

Its packaging is equally as feminine and rich and different as the perfume itself. Quilted satin lines the box in which the lovely flacon rests, and sets off its bright sparkling surfaces to perfection. The outer surfaces are pastoral scenes in the romantic manner of the eighteenth century, rich in color and quaint in design and treatment.

The illusion of individuality is achieved so beautifully that one has the illusion that each separate box has been lovingly created by the hand of a gifted artist.

As you might guess, this is not an inexpensive perfume, and we're sorry to have to report that it is not available in small quantities, but only in the three sizes of its lovely original container. But if you have some of that Christmas money still burning a hole in your pocket, we can't think of a nicer way of spending it. M. S.

Finds Shopping Paradise for Limited Budget

Smart Dance Frocks Offer Latest in Style.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Fun with a small clothes allowance! Not only possible, but probably the best excitement the shops afford is the fun of fashionists with a limited budget. When we say limited we mean practically microscopic limits as compared to the sums some rather bored ladies lavish on a wardrobe each new season. Hats and accessories that take small pin money sums, dresses, coats, and underlayers surprisingly high fashion, obtainable for trifles. We can prove it, and will.

There's a small shop where you can find some of the best dance dresses of the year for under $13. They have romance, colors and combines that will make your best beau positively speechless. A new model in peach aqua and white is causing plenty of excitement. It has a square cut deep neckline and fitted sheath skirt to the knees. From the bodice to the floor bands of harmonizing velvet go round and round. The perky jacket fits breath-tight over the gown and has short puffed sleeves.

Another dress in black net over a silk slip has a three frilled back bustle effect of the black net, a deep V neckline front and back, and three toned big cabbage roses to accent the front neckline. There's no jacket, but there's plenty of yardage in the flounced long skirt that makes it grand for dancing.

Some of the newest prints are found in the paper taffeta models, made with high necklines, short sleeves, and double tiered skirts. These and a knockout black crêpe dress, simple as a primer, come with a price mark under $10. The black crêpe dress is softly draped high at the neckline, has a straight skirt and a stunning black and white printed long sleeved jacket that fits as good as your brother's suit coat. This last combine comes in navy as well as black and white. These come from a shop that is a small budgeteer's paradise; it's crammed with good looking stuff mercifully priced for small clothes allowances and fashion-knowing shoppers!

SYNOPSIS.

Diana Lake, just returned to London, hears from Adrian Somervell, struggling young scientist, that he has inherited the fortune of his stepmother, Rose Walsh, ex-star of the theater, who was Diana's godmother. Until shortly before her death Adrian and she had been estranged. Diana's parents are both of the theater. Diana's godfather, Nicholas Blundell, wealthy bachelor solicitor, lived in the flat below Adrian's stepmother and managed her affairs. Diana has always disliked him. Now that the lack of money no longer keeps them apart, Adrian and Diana plan to be married. Diana's mother is doubtful that Rose died a natural death, and Diana feels she is not too pleased about her engagement. Diana reads in the evening paper that her aunt's body is to be exhumed for an autopsy. She goes to meet Adrian.

INSTALMENT VIII.

A BIRD OF ILL OMEN.

At 9 o'clock Diana alighted from a taxi before the main entrance of a huge, dark block of buildings near the British museum. She paid her fare, and turned so quickly that she ran bolt into a tall, ungainly woman who at that precise moment blundered headlong, blindly, down the hospital steps.

Diana stared after her. Those clothes! Juvenile, vivid green, absurd, a grotesque caricature, in fact, to say nothing of the mouth crudely smeared with scarlet lipstick. . . . It could not be! Then, in the distance she noticed pendant from the creature's ears by silver chains, two blobs of jade which quivered and bobbed wildly as their owner's long strides bore them away.

It is—Elsie Dilworth, whom we were talking about; and those are the earrings Aunt Rose . . . but what's wrong with her? Some one she's fond of desperately ill?

It took a full half minute for the alternative explanation to dawn. Adrian—of course! She had been to see him. But why? Her presence here at this particular time seemed faintly ominous, still more her distraught condition. A bird of ill omen. . . .

The door was opened by a young man, stocky and blond, whose tentative smile Diana did not interpret till later, when she remembered having been introduced to him by Adrian some months ago.

"Dr. Somervell? He was here a second ago. O, there he is! Somervell!"

Adrian came towards her, his Burberry over his arm. His air was hesitant and awkward, his face bore a flush from recent anger or mortification, which Diana was quick to connect with the visitor just seen to depart.

"What's up?" he inquired. "Anything happened?"

"No—yes. That is——" She reconnoitered and took an oblique tack. "Wasn't that Elsie Dilworth who just went out?" she asked.

"O! So you ran into her, did you?"

"She seemed frightfully upset. Why did she come?"

His jaw set hard. Brown eyes smouldering wrathfully he muttered:

"You can search me. She was here when you rang up. I was doing my best to get rid of her. Plain loony, that's what it is. Well," more moderately in answer to her astonished gaze, "call her a hopeless hysteric, if that sounds any better. Let's wash her out. Shall we push off?"

"Wait, Adrian." She was speaking as casually as she could manage. "I rather wanted to ask you if by any chance you've had a look at the Evening Banner?"

"I do seem to recall buying some paper this afternoon on my way to meet you. Though what I did with it, I——"

"There!" She swooped down on his Burberry. "Isn't that it?"

A dazzling reollection had flooded her brain. She had noticed this selfsame paper, folded as now, protruding from his side pocket when he dumped the Burberry on the tea shop floor. How like Adrian to buy a paper and not read it! If any doubt had remained, the very way in which he drew the journal forth and abstractedly looked at it would have reassured her. He hadn't known!

She began to laugh, shakily. He lowered the sheet and gazed at her with dismay hard bordering on exasperation. Surfeited with feminine emotion, that was plain.

"Di! What is it?"

"I'm all right. Look, dear. Here!"

He stared at the item blankly, then with fixed attention. Now she was perfectly sure. He was seeing this news for the first and only time.

"Holy Christmas!" he made slow ejaculation. "What the hell does this mean?"

"How do I know?" She fumbled for her handkerchief. "Somebody's kicking up a row. Who do you suppose . . . ?"

Still staring, he frowned and scratched his chin.

"Somebody else is crazy," he muttered. "That's certain."

"I think," she said, "we ought to find out who it is. Is there any person connected with this who—who might bear you a grudge?"

"Bear me a grudge? Why me?" His eyes, meeting hers, narrowed in tardy comprehension. "Good Lord!" He drew in a whistling breath. "So that's your notion. Here, look at me, Di!"

He wheeled her about so that the overhead light shone down on her face. A searching scrutiny, then his mouth gave a wry twist.

"Crying," he stated. "That's funny, too. . . . For the moment I'd clean forgotten I was the lucky heir. Matter of fact, I was too darned mad just now to be wide awake to anything. You, I can see, tumbled to this straight off. You're thinking, I suppose," he went on in a formal tone, "what's fairly obvious—that if there's been any dirty business over this death, my connection with Mrs. Somervell will come in for some close examination. Is that it?"

"Darling, don't!" she begged. "It was a jar, naturally. And your voice over the telephone—so short, so . . . I understand it now, with that girl bothering you, but when I saw her come out in such a state, can't you see how worried I was? Do let's go where we can talk it over quietly. Shall we try Joe's?"

He looked steadily at her, but did not speak. Instantly she could have bitten her tongue for having made matters worse in her stupid attempt to better them, and her misery increased when, on the silent walk to Southampton Row, she felt his arm stiff as wood within her own. She would put things right between them—O, very quickly! Still, to have doubted him and to have admitted that doubt was a serious matter.

Joe, always genial, placed two anemic coffees on the far table they chose and tactfully lounged away.

"I've been talking with my mother," said Diana, "who'd just been seeing Uncle Nick. She—well, she was evidently just a little uncomfortable over something Aunt Rose said to her on the telephone. It was about a queer feeling she had directly after that last meal. While they were speaking Aunt Rose collapsed. Quite suddenly."

All he said was "O?" in a tone betraying little or nothing; but a moment later he inquired exactly when it was her mother had seen Blundell.

"I know what you're thinking," she made quick reply, "but it's quite impossible for him to have done this. I don't imagine he had suspected anything out of the way; and yet," she mused, "he can't have been so entirely ignorant. Now that I think of it, the Home Office people must have been making inquiries of him—and of Petty."

"Who?"

"Aunt Rose's housekeeper. O—here's a bit more my mother told me. What do you make of it?"—and she repeated what Margaret had said on the subject of the unseen visitor in the kitchen. "It was certainly not Uncle Nick," she reasoned. "Because Petty was talking about him. If the exhumation order had already been issued, it can't well have been a detective. So who was it?"

Hating herself, Diana made swift calculations. No, if Petty's clock was right, the visitor could not have been Adrian. She added that according to her mother Petty had been very nervous.

"As she would have been if she was lying."

Cooked Onion Dishes Really Flavor Treats

"Refrigerator Cakes and Cookies," a booklet containing recipes for many interesting desserts and cookies, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

Cooked onions never have made a social liability of any one. And now that several reliable remedies for "onion breath" have been discovered, raw onion fanciers may dare to come out in the open and demonstrate their liking for this pungent vegetable.

Large Spanish onions baked with a crum stuffing or a cheese stuffing, or even a crum and cheese stuffing, are exceedingly good, in case you've forgotten. Here's a simple recipe using crums and cheese.

Stuffed Spanish Onions.

[Six servings.]

6 large Spanish onions
½ cup bread crums
½ cup grated American or pimiento cheese
Salt, pepper, sugar
4 tablespoons melted butter

Peel the onions and remove the centers. Drop them into boiling, salted water to cook for five minutes. Drain, fill centers with crum and cheese mixture. Place the stuffed onions in a baking dish and pour a little water [about an inch in the botom of the dish] over them. Pour the melted butter over them, sprinkle with salt, pepper, and sugar, and bake for about 45 minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven, basting several times. Uncover the baking dish for the last few minutes in order that the onions may brown slightly.

Before suggesting any more onion recipes, a hint about peeling onions might be offered. To prevent odorous hands and to spare the eyes from weepiness, onions should be peeled under running water.

The large Spanish or Bermuda onions, while best for baking and stuffing, are outrivaled by small white onions when it comes to a boiled and buttered or a creamed onion dish. They look and taste good when glazed, too.

Glazed White Onions.

1 pound [30] small white onions
4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons sugar

Peel the onions and cook them in a large amount of boiling, salted water, uncovered, only long enough to make them tender. Drain and dry on cheesecloth. Melt the butter in a saucepan, add the sugar, and then the onions. Stir gently over a low fire until the onions are glazed.

A double purpose may be served by small white onions cooked in milk and served with butter, for in this method of cookery the liquor in which the onions are cooked is flavorful enough to accent a soup or sauce for a later meal.

Buttered Onions.

[Serves six.]

1 pound [30] small white onions
2 cups milk
2 cups water
4 tablespoons melted butter
Salt, pepper

Peel the onions and let them stand in cold water for an hour. Lift out and cook in the milk and water, simmering until the onions are tender. Drain, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and pour the hot, melted butter over them. Save the liquor for soup.

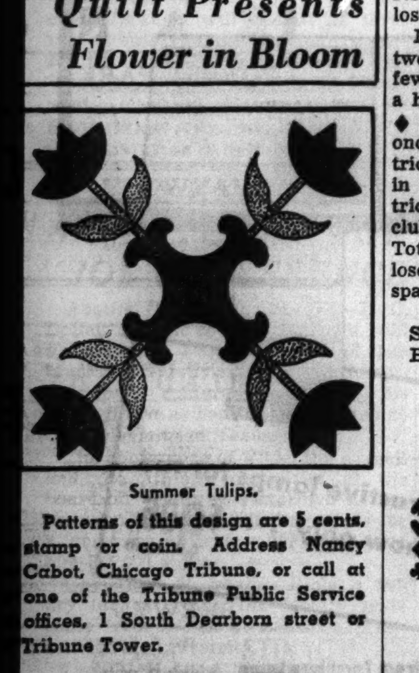
"Summer Tulips" Quilt Presents Flower in Bloom



Summer Tulips.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamp or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

There is no doubt about the popularity of tulips in quilt patterns. It is most natural that they should be among the favorite themes, since the Dutch settlers were the most prolific quilt makers, and that flower the emblem of their native country. A not uncommon sight was petticoats with tulips appliqued in wreaths around the hems. "Summer Tulips" is a slight deviation from the simple tulip pattern, since it appears full blown rather than in buds. The original coverlet, from which this pattern was made, used light blue as a background, with green, yellow and gold as the color arrangement for the flowers.

Tunic Dress Is Practical

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This trimly tailored tunic frock is designed for comfort, practicality, and wearability. It is the type of dress which takes to a wide variety of materials, suits an equally wide variety of silhouettes and may be worn to any kind of informal occasion, whether in the daytime or evening. It is the perfect frock for business and clubwomen.

The original of this model is fashioned of black crinkly crêpe. The buttons which emphasize the surprise effect in the bodice are of shiny composition, as is the matching belt buckle. The shoulders of this dress are interesting in styling and wonderfully simple to sew. They are the "drop" type, and into them the quaint little sleeves are gathered.

The skirt is separate, so you may create this frock in a two-tone scheme or in a single color. This versatile pattern will do good service in your wardrobe, because the skirt will give new life to an orphaned yet still wearable blouse, and the tunic will enliven even the most ordinary skirt in your clothes collection.

Any type of wool or silk is suitable for this model, and any color will make up well. The rich berry shades are in favor just now, as are the higher tones associated with the coronation.

Style No. 3072 is designed for sizes 14. 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 5¾ yards of 39 inch material.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE TWO BID RULE.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

When the hand conforms to the general specifications of a forcing two bid, count your honor tricks. Count your losing tricks, cards which you expect some other player to win. Bid two in your longest biddable suit if your hand contains more honor tricks than losers.

For example, a player holds:

♠ A Q J 10 9 ♥ A Q J ♦ K Q J ♣ 7 2.

He counts about five honor tricks, including plus values, and he has a strong trump suit. He therefore counts his losers: The king of spades, the king of hearts, the ace of diamonds, and the two little clubs, five in all. He has only five honor tricks. Not having more honor tricks than losers, he bids only one spade.

Most hands which approach the two bid range are so sttrong that the few losers are readily apparent. With a hand such as ♠ K Q J 10 6 5 ♥ A ♦ A K Q 3 ♣ K 6, you can see at once that you must lose one spade trick, no heart tricks, perhaps a trick in diamonds [therefore one-half a trick], and at least one, probably two, club tricks if partner has no entry. Total, three and one-half or four losers; honor tricks, five-plus; bid two spades.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

The opening lead by West, characterized as "brilliant" by the correspondent who sent me the hand, was the queen of clubs. I must say that I sympathize heartily with his enthusiasm. The reasoning that motivated this lead was not described, but it is not difficult to imagine the leader's thought processes. As in most hands, the process of elimination undoubtedly played a large part in the selection of clubs. Certainly a diamond was out of the question from the tenace position. The singleton heart offered no future since, even if West "hit" his partner with a splendid heart suit, he would be unable to continue the lead at a later point. The presence of three low spades in West's hand militated against finding East with sufficient spade strength to make that opening advantageous. Thus it was not difficult to arrive at a club as the only logical lead, but it must be conceded that the specific selection of the queen was beautifully imaginative.

West undoubtedly felt that if declarer had the ace-king-jack nothing would be either lost or gained by the lead of the queen rather than a low card, but that if he should be fortunate enough to pick up the blank jack, either in the dummy or in East's hand, the tempo gained would be all-important.

The shrewdness of his analysis is apparent on scrutiny of the four hands. Had West opened any club other than the queen, declarer's correct play would have been to let East's jack hold the trick, because there was a definite possibility that the jack was singleton. Let us follow this low club lead. East would have no better play, after holding the jack, than a diamond. West would win with the queen, but now, although he continued clubs, declarer would have gained the vital tempo. In other words, he would have knocked out one of the two adverse diamond stoppers before one of his own two club stoppers was removed. The club queen opening, by reversing the tempo, defeated the contract two tricks.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Partner opened the bidding with one diamond. Next hand doubled. What should have been my response with the following:

♠Q 10 8 5 ♥ K 7 3 ♦ A 7 ♣ J 9 7 5?

Answer: Redouble. The hand contains more than two honor tricks with strength in all suits. It is suitable for a penalty double of any suit the opponents bid.

School Girls of the Sixties Hold Reunion

Honor Founder of Old Dearborn Seminary.

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Forty-four school girls of other generations responded to the roll call yesterday at the 55th annual meeting of the Dearborn Seminary Alumnae association at the Arts club. It was an interval fraught with sentiment as Mrs. Leonora Hoyne read down the roster, where year by year the gaps in the alphabetical listing grow wider. . . .

Miss Elizabeth Alling. . . . She rose and smiled, brisk and erect, her hair scarcely gray. . . . Later it was a surprise to find her name first in the list of students in the seminary's catalog of 1877 that was passed around from member to member. . . .

Mrs. Henry Bartholomay . . . Afterward she read her reminiscences of the school in the early '80's, when the pupils always celebrated the birthday of the school's founder, Zuinglius Grover, as the alumnae still do at their annual meetings 30 years after the school he founded has passed out of existence.

Mrs. Henry A. Blair . . . Tiny and alert, when reminiscences were in order. She was on her feet even before there was time to introduce her, laughing gayly over her recollection that kindly Mr. Grover resembled the schoolmaster who gave a prize even to the poorest student so that none should be left out.

When Mrs. Ferdinand W. Peck's name was called, the whole group burst into spontaneous applause, as the eighty-eight year old lady, dean of the school's alumnae and a Chicagoan since 1848, rose and bowed. She was brought here as a baby when her father, a Hungarian, fled into exile after the failure of the revolution of 1848.

A charming figure with light blue lamé the color of her eyes trimming her black hat and gown, Mrs. Peck later sketched for her audience the Chicago of the 1860's, when the old seminary was situated on Wabash avenue among hospitable homes and spacious gardens across from the park where the public library now stands.

"But it was a frugal city," Mrs. Peck recalled. "Even if you had a coach and four, you had one maid. The women of the family did the rest of the work themselves. If you dropped in unexpectedly on your friends, you would be apt to find newspapers spread in the vestibule and on the carpets in the parlor to preserve the color. And crossing from the north side of the river to the south you took a scow that was pulled across by ropes and frequently stuck in midstream."

Yellow roses sent by Mrs. Thomas W. Grover, daughter of the founder of the school, decorated the U-shaped table at which members of the association sat at luncheon. Later the roses were sent to Mrs. Eugene H. Garnett, former president of the association, who has been ill since last year's meeting.

Mrs. Grover Winston, granddaughter of Zuinglius Grover, brought daguerrotypes of her grandfather and his family. Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw read a paper on her trip from Chicago to London aboard a freighter last summer with the same delightfully whimsical "asides" that distinguished the travel paper she read at last year's meeting. Several poems, including one by Mrs. Shaw, were read by Mrs. Walter E. Faithorn, who gave up a trip west to attend the reunion.

There were several "second generation" daughters of the seminary at the meeting, including the president herself, Mrs. John G. McDonald, who insists she holds her office as daughter of the late Mrs. Robert L. Henry and niece of the late Mrs. Turlington W. Harvey, famous beauties of early Chicago, rather than as an erstwhile first grader at the seminary.

Among these younger women was Mrs. Charles H. Brown, whose mother, the late Mrs. Van Wagenen Alling, had headed the committee which annually awards scholarships to the Art institute and the University of Chicago on the association's behalf.

Among others there were Mrs. Frank W. Pitkin, who was graduated in 1871 and who shared the applause accorded Mrs. Peck as one of the oldest surviving alumnæ; Mrs. Franklin Martin, Miss Edith Moss, Miss Carrie Blair Neely, Mrs. Morris Rosenfield, Mrs. Charles H. ReQua, Mrs. Frederic C. Tyler, Mrs. Winnifred Otis Hine, Mrs. Louis Herrick, Miss Helen Gunsaulus, Mrs. Jennie Bacon Ford, Mrs. Jennie M. Conrad, Mrs. Alice Wood Coy, Mrs. Bertha Ryan Caldwell, and Mrs. J. O. Lee, who also reminisced on the early days of the school.

D'Oyly Carte Opera Troupe to Play Here

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The D'Oyly Carte Opera company from the Savoy theater, London, will come to the Erlanger theater on Feb. 15 for a four weeks' engagement in a repertory of operettas by Gilbert and Sullivan. The organization recently ended a run of several months in New York.

The bills for the first week will be "The Mikado," "Iolanthe," "The Gondoliers," and "The Yeomen of the Guard." Other works in the repertory, to be given later, are "The Pirates of Penzance" and "Trial by Jury" as a double bill; "Patience," and "H. M. S. Pinafore," with "Cox and Box" as a curtain raiser.

Muriel Dickson, a prima donna with the company during its visit of two years ago, is now a member of the Metropolitan Opera company in New York, and her place has been filled by Sylvia Cecil.

Gypsy Rose Lee, who is prominent in the "Ziegfeld Follies," was notified yesterday that the Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation desires her services and that a contract is now in the mail. This will not cause her to desert the "Follies," however, because her contract with this company does not expire until June 2.

Efforts to extend the engagement of Katharine Hepburn in "Jane Eyre" at the Erlanger theater have failed, and the original closing date [Jan. 30] remains unchanged. The production will then go to St. Louis. Short stays in Indianapolis and Columbus, O., will follow. The New York première is scheduled for Feb. 27.

"Within These Walls," a play by Martin Bach, will be staged under WPA auspices at the Blackstone theater on Jan. 28. This work deals with the problems of a young priest who joins the monastic order of Trappists. It was recently acted at the University of Iowa.

After two weeks at the Blackstone, the production will be transferred to the Princess theater, to make way for another WPA production, "Around the Corner," by Martin Flavin, which recently had a professional Broadway première.

Walter Hampden will bring his revival of Ibsen's drama, "An Enemy of the People," to Chicago late in March or early in April.

English Union Guests Admire Miss Hepburn

Decide She's Different from Screen Appearance.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The English Speaking union had the distinction yesterday of providing Katharine Hepburn, star of the screen and stage, with a new experience. "I never have been a guest of honor before" the slender, vivacious young lady said when she spoke for about a minute after the speaker of the day, George Dangerfield, had finished his talk on "The English Novel and the American Novel."

It was hard to believe that the young Bryn Mawr graduate, who is known to all screen fans because of her sympathetic interpretation of Jo in "Little Women," never before had been the honored guest at a function, but it must be so.

A satisfactory guest she was yesterday, too, for she looked different enough from all the other feminine guests to make them all buzz with conversation about her, and she seemed to be enjoying herself thoroughly, both during luncheon and the speech that followed.

"She is thinner than she looks on the screen" said some; others remarked, "her eyes aren't big at all, they look so huge in the pictures," but they all agreed that she was a very attractive, intelligent looking young woman with great charm of manner.

Her velveteen gown and cap were the color of dry sherry and at the throat was a fluff of egg shell wool lace with a touch of the same on her cap, which was so tiny that at first glance her fluffy curls did not seem to be covered at all.

Mr. Dangerfield, an English writer, spoke especially about Charlotte Brontë and her novels, especially "Jane Eyre," the dramatization of which is the reason for Miss Hepburn's being in Chicago now.

Seated with Miss Hepburn and Mr. Dangerfield were Samuel M. Rinaker, president of the union, Mrs. Rinaker, Dennis Hoey, who is playing with Miss Hepburn, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Graham Aldis, Mrs. Richard Bokum, Mrs. James H. Mitchell, Dr. and Mrs. Horace Bridges, Sterling North, and Arthur Meeker Jr.

Some of those who attended the luncheon meeting, which filled the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house, were Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson and her daughter, Miss Nancy, Miss Betty Keith, Mrs. A. F. Callahan, Mrs. Franklin M. Callahan, Mrs. John V. A. Weaver, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. William S. Monroe and her guest, Mrs. William J. Calhoun of Peiping, China, Mrs. L. St. Louis Sends Its Symphony to Play in Chicago

BY EDWARD BARRY.

This week is turning into a miniature Prokofieff festival. While the Russian composer ["Love for Three Oranges," "Sythian" Suite, etc.] was presumably rushing Chicagoward on a train, the St. Louis Symphony orchestra moved into the Auditorium theater last night to begin the week's observances with a performance of his "Classical" symphony.

Prokofieff himself arrives today, and will appear with the Chicago Symphony orchestra Thursday and Friday as conductor, pianist and composer.

But this story is supposed to be about the St. Louis orchestra, not Prokofieff. That expert group played not only the symphony named but bits of Hindemith, Debussy, Strawinsky, Strauss and De Falla besides.

Excellent musicians, these visitors. And blessed with an intelligent, personable, highly competent conductor—Vladimir Golschmann. Welding even first rate musicians into a genuinely fine orchestra is not an especially easy task, but it is one which Mr. Golschmann seems to have accomplished successfully.

The work of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra is delicate, pat, and sophisticated. The conductor looks far below the surface of the music, yet manages to make everything that he brings up sound important. You do not get the impression that he is searching for meaningless phrases buried deep in the body of the score nor that he is willing to emphasize any old thing if only no one before him has ever emphasized it.

There is a thoroughly thought out and well controled line in the playing of this orchestra. And the feeling is strong that some one who knows exactly what he wants is molding each phrase. That some one, of course, is pleasant Mr. Golschmann himself, who does not like the sensation of trying to follow an orchestra instead of leading it.

One handsome extra orchid for last night's performance of the "Classical" Symphony [here comes Serge again]. It had a delectable lightness and grace about it, and profited by Golschmann's meticulous care for the sheer physical sound of each phrase.

When this patrician orchestra turned to "Till Eulenspiegel" the pranks of the merry and ill-fated gamin had about them a classical sweetness which was foreign, no doubt, to his nature, but which helped make the great Strauss tone poem splendid concert room music.

Where is that huge sonority which almost lifted Orchestra hall off of its foundations last winter? Golschmann and the orchestra did not pile it on last night.

The concert was under the sponsorship of Northwestern university.

Director Fitzmaurice Will Finish Boleslawsky Film

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Metro studio announced that George Fitzmaurice would replace Richard Boleslawsky, author and movie director who died of heart disease yesterday, in completing the interrupted picture, "Last of Mrs. Cheyney," with William Powell, Joan Crawford, and Robert Montgomery.

Three Physical Factors Basic in Real Charm

Walking, Standing, Sitting Posture Important.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

There are certain fundamental things, physical things, we'll call them, that have to be conquered before you project yourself as a charmer.

We'll begin with the three basic items of importance. Nothing more important, either, than these first three steps to charm: the way you walk, the way you stand, the way you sit. The first and last you'll have more practice for, because standing isn't one of our long suits any more, unless you happen to get into a crowded tea or cocktail room. And then, of course, it will serve you well to stand "as to be admired."

We have emphasized walking until we get discouraged at the way women still go waddling along, sometimes flatfooted, often with feet turned out at wide angles, slouching, dragging, head down, and so on.

What kind of walker are you? Ask yourself that with an open mind, with a mean mind about yourself. Meaner than any one else could be about you. Call yourself an old waddler, an old sloucher, an old dispirited foot planter. You may be calling yourself unfair names, but, at least, you will be examining yourself for just such faults.

There's something glorious about youth on the wing, so to speak, with head up, chest up, up on toes with every step. That's youth.

And not only have they gained normally attractive curves that are always admired, but also naturally lovely color, new pep, and the friends and popularity these bring.

Why it builds up so quick

Scientists recently discovered that the single reason why thousands of people are thin and rundown is that they don't get enough Vitamin B and iron in their daily food. Without these vital elements you may lack appetite, and not get the most body-building good out of the food you eat. Now with this new treatment which combines these special elements in pleasant little tablets, hosts of men and women have put on just the pounds they needed—in a very short time.

This remarkable new discovery, Ironized Yeast, is made from one of the richest known sources of Vitamin B, special imported cultured ale yeast. By a new process this is concentrated 7 times, made 7 times more powerful. Then it is combined with 3 kinds of blood-building iron, pasteurized whole yeast and other valuable ingredients in handy little tablets.

If you, too, are skinny and lonely because you need these elements to aid in building you up, get these new "7-power" Ironized Yeast tablets from your druggist at once. Note how quickly they increase your appetite and help you get more benefit from the body-building foods that are so essential. Then, day after day, watch flat chest develop and skinny limbs round out to natural attractiveness. Note how much better and stronger you feel. See better color and natural beauty come to your cheeks. Soon you feel like an entirely different person, with new charm, new personality.

Money-back guarantee

No matter how skinny and rundown you may be from lack of sufficient Vitamin B and iron, try these new Ironized Yeast tablets just a short time and note the wonderful improvement. See if they don't aid in building you up in just a few weeks, as they have helped thousands. If not delighted with the benefits of the very first package, money back instantly.

Special FREE offer!

To start thousands building up their health right away, we make this absolutely FREE offer. Purchase a package of Ironized Yeast tablets at once, cut out the seal on the box and mail it to us with a clipping of this offer. We will send you a fascinating new book on health, "New Facts About Your Body." Remember, results with the very first package—or money refunded. At all druggists. Ironized Yeast Co., Inc., Dept. Fall Off Pony Slows Frolics of Harpo Marx

Special Supports Built for Comedian.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 17.—[Special.] Harpo Marx can work his practical jokes on human beings—and get away with them. But a Shetland pony is different. As already reported, Harpo was bucked off with great vigor by a pony at the stables at Santa Anita race track, when he tried to ride the pony during the visit of the Marx brothers movie company to the track.

Seven days have passed, and Harpo's sprained back, right shoulder and arm are so sore he can barely limp through scenes in "A Day at the Races." Studio carpenters built a frame on the set, so he can lean the aching back against it, and let it support the stiff right arm.

The script had to be changed so Harpo plays the flute with the left hand, which doesn't permit him the satisfaction of actually tootling the instrument—the tune will have to be dubbed in. He is a right hand flute player.

Carl Laemmle Sr., known to all in the movie colony as "Uncle Carl," held a big birthday party for a couple hundred friends and acquaintances at the Laemmle estate in Benedict canyon last night. It was the seventieth birthday of the short, gray-haired, quizzical looking, good humored pioneer who founded the Universal company more than 20 years ago and sold it out last year to a syndicate of young movie men and decided to retire.

Mr. Laemmle took a sizable fortune with him into retirement. His son, Carl Jr., 28, is expected to make formal announcement of joining the United Artists setup of film producers. Young Carl left Universal when his father did.

Quietly, and with no announcements made in Hollywood, Norma Shearer left Phoenix, Ariz., for New York to hold business conferences with Louis B. Mayer, head of M-G-M studios. The conferences will determine when Miss Shearer returns to the movies, and in what vehicle. The $3,000,000 fortune of her late husband, Irving Thalberg, is closely linked with M-G-M. Miss Shearer's two children, Irving Thalberg Jr., 6, and Katharine, 1, remain with attendants at Phoenix while their mother is deciding about her film comeback.

Anna Sten, who hasn't made any films in a long time, and who rarely appears in public, is signalizing her bid for renewed notice on the part of Hollywood by acting as hostess at the Cocoanut Grove tomorrow night.

Claire Windsor chose a different method of attracting attention to the fact she still acts, and is lovely to look at. Claire took the main rôle, at no salary, in a Beverly Hills neighborhood theater play.

The Ten Meet Expectations in Annual Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The annual winter exhibition of The Ten has opened in the Marshall Field galleries to continue to next Saturday. It is a show in keeping with the general character of the preceding shows by the same group.

Perhaps, because we are used to them now, there is little here that we find daring and little that rings a new note. Frances Foy remains as charming as always with her adorable "Little Girl with Kitten" and the delicate "At the Piano."

Miss Foy has done a difficult bit of fine composition in "The Hostess"; the blond motif that runs through this might easily have been ruined, made into a monotonous whine, by the wrong hands. Miss Foy, however, is a past mistress at keeping a low keyed picture vivacious and alert.

Jean Crawford Adams remains the enfant terrible of the group. Her "Mexican Girl" is possessed of a dreary face and hand and the ruts in "Landscape" are as worn as though the misery of Russia had written them in the loam.

Emil Armin puts sparkle into his pictures. His "Smoke and Steam" is an exciting arrangement of reds and gray. "The Woods at Sophie's" are so alive the leaves fairly rustle. Charles Biesel has painted with an especially nice sense of its decorative qualities a flower arrangement, "Sunflowers and Zinnias," which stands out.

Fred Biesel offers a well modeled "Head" and a "Winter Morning" that shows a city caught by snow and cold. Gustaf Dalstrom still refuses to admit that the sun can shine, but his "Chicken Yard" is attractive though gray in atmosphere. The little "Landscape with Cattle" is extremely well done.

Emile Grumieaux has two interesting landscape compositions, one of winter and one of summer, with wide bands of vibrant color. The "Three Sunflowers," by V. M. S. Hannell, have a French prettiness which is intriguing. His "Day Before Decoration Day" is like a sampler; one sees it easily in cross-stitch. The "Elaine and Holly" is rather far-fetched.

Frances Strain is disappointing in her three entries and Flora Schofield is entertaining. Mrs. Schofield has a convincing "Still Life—Fruit," with bright green apples as its climax, and an attractive study of a little boy getting help from the teacher in "Long Division."

Jacob Richard is showing landscapes and portraits in the Club Woman's bureau, Mandel Brothers. The landscapes are like tapestries, rich and warm. The portraits are good as likenesses [one imagines] and well painted.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Borrowing an idea from the British Broadcasting company, the Mutual system plans to rebroadcast President Roosevelt's inaugural address over its coast to coast network starting at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow evening. This is, of course, in addition to the broadcast of the entire inaugural ceremonies during the day and is intended for the many persons at work during the earlier broadcast.

The British Broadcasting system has been rebroadcasting events of empire interest, such as addresses by the king, the running of the Derby and other spectacles, for years. A blatnerphone recording [film with sound track] is made of the original broadcast, falling perhaps during the day time hours, and then it is aired again during the late night or early morning hours so that the far flung dominions may be reached at a more suitable listening hour than that of the original transmission.

Mutual will use an electrical transcription made by WOR, the network's eastern key station. Permission for this rebroadcast has been given by the White House. NBC and CBS adhere to a policy of using no recorded matter except for sound effects. Hence such a rebroadcast would be contrary to their policy.

A television play production office has just been opened at 120 West 42d street in New York by Will Morrissey, general manager for showman Billy Rose, Fanny Brice's husband. The first play Morrisey is adapting for visual broadcasting is the Cerf-Hanna comedy, "The More the Merrier," which he styles "smart enough for Park avenue and still clean enough for the Purity league." Mr. Morrisey announced that the play will be ready to submit to possible sponsors on Sept. 1 and that he has 30 other plays to prepare for television this season.

"There will be as much difference between a successful television presentation and a stage presentation as there is between an old fashioned, long range, silent film and a modern talking picture, with its magic lighting effects, trick photography and closeups," Mr. Morissey said. "Directors of television plays will have to devise methods of startling originality in order to get desired results. This will be due to a number of very annoying restrictions under which directors and players will have to work.

"Successful television plays will have to be much on the order of the old Hoyt farces. . . . The casts will have to be small and the plays carefully selected. The presentations will have to have a strong appeal to the old and young of all classes. They will have to be packed with laugh lines, filled with funny situations and be based on decency. The latter is very important as television will surely come under the control of the most severe official censorship.

"After clean comedies attract large audiences perhaps it will be possible to include problem plays, grand opera and pageantry."

Mrs. Ted Weems, wife of the band leader, is ill with pneumonia at Passavant hospital.

On the influenza list: Loretta Poynton, headliner of Flying Time, and Frankie Masters, bandmaster at the Stevens.

Station WMCA in New York has found a way to revive the Good Will court. The new show will be called Good Will Clinic with John J. Anthony of the Marital Relations institute, which advises troubled couples, as the interviewer.

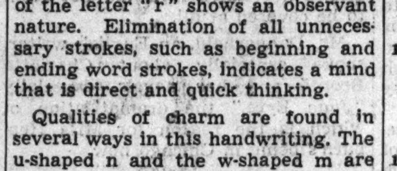
Personality Also Often Is Made Plain.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.
[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

In some handwritings the mental characteristics are the most outstanding. Other handwritings show personality traits to be predominant.

Generally speaking, the large flowing handwriting is the "personality" type and small, rapid writing is that of the "mental" type. The whole handwriting must be taken into consideration, though. Many of the large sized, magnetic handwritings also are exceedingly clever in mentality, especially when they are written fast with no beginning or ending strokes on the words.

The small sized handwriting often reveals charm as well as brains. Letter formations must be taken into consideration. The u-shaped n in a small writing adds suavity, poise, and charm. A curved underscore beneath the signature of the writer also is a strong indication of charm, regardless of the size of the writing.



Am I at all charming or clever?

This writer is both charming and clever, according to many indications. The size of the writing shows a well concentrated mind and the formation of the letter "r" shows an observant nature. Elimination of all unnecessary strokes, such as beginning and ending word strokes, indicates a mind that is direct and quick thinking.

Qualities of charm are found in several ways in this handwriting. The u-shaped n and the w-shaped m are evident. The words dwindle in size so that the first letter of each word is higher than any other small letter in the rest of the word. [A sure sign of tact and the perfect hostess, as you may remember].

Culture is one of the most important traits that make for charm and the small letter g made like the figure 8 reveals good taste and culture. It is evident here in the word "charming."

Important fundamental traits are often revealed in a handwriting in more than one way. That is why one note may reveal a quality that did not show in some other note. If the trait is strong enough, though, it usually reveals itself in every full page letter you write.

'Noisy Fun' Is Child's Idea of Real Good Time

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It's 7 o'clock in the morning. The children get up, as healthy children do, instantly wide awake and bursting with energy. The first one leaps through the house and, as what goes up is bound to come down, each leap is punctuated by a thud. "Ouch!" signal your nerves as you think of the people below you, and: "Too much noise for so early in the morning, Janet," say your reluctant lips.

And so it goes. Sometimes it is other people you have to consider, or inadequate space, or the danger that some valuable piece of bric-a-brac might be broken. Don't you hate to have to put those restraints on your children?

For that matter, we don't like restrictions any too well ourselves. But of course we are broken into the harness of civilization—most of us.

But the restrictions that irk us are nothing compared to those of which children must be conscious. We are, as I say, mostly broken into harness. Or to put it another way, we have adapted ourselves to life as it must be lived. But it has taken time and it has not always been easy for us.

So, when we have to put restraints on our children, at least let us realize how hard it is for them and try to give them other opportunities for complete freedom—chances to run and romp and shout and scream and bang and roll around. Let them open the throttle wide sometimes, it is good for them, body and soul.

ILLINOIS DEALS PURDUE FIRST DEFEAT, 38-37

GOLDEN GLOVERS TAKE PHYSICAL EXAMS TONIGHT

Prepare Sectional Assignments.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Eight hundred amateur boxers have received instructions to report tonight at Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street, for physical examinations. Those who report tonight and pass the physical tests will be assigned immediately to the Chicago sectional tournaments. They then will be ready to compete in the tenth annual tournament sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Each boxer must bring his parental consent card tonight signed by his father, mother, or guardian. If this card is not presented to the officials the contestant will not be permitted to take the physical examination.

Exams Start at 6 P. M.

The hours for tonight's examination are from 6 until 8 p. m. Boxers will be registered by the central association of the A. A. U. immediately on arrival at the gymnasium. The A. A. U. fee for novice boxers is 25 cents. This will be paid by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Open division boxers will register with the A. A. U. for one year. That registration, with required identification, costs $1. Since it permits competition for one year, the fee must be paid by the contestant.

The second physical examination will be held next Monday night at the Catholic Youth Organization gymnasium, 31 East Congress street. C. Y. O. boxers have received letters from Jack Elder, director of athletics, to report that evening at the C. Y. O. Each boxer has received a parental consent card. The C. Y. O. expects to have a record entry in this year's Golden Gloves tournament, particularly in the open division, which will qualify for the Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium.

Entries Close Jan. 30.

Entries close at midnight Jan. 30. No boy will be permitted to compete in Golden Gloves this year who has not sent in his name by this time. This closing date will permit the final physical examination to be held prior to the opening of the first sectional tournament on Feb. 8 at the Madison A. C, 4711 Madison street.

Team entries may be submitted by the coach or manager in a group. The home address of each boxer must be given, however, so that the parental consent card can be mailed.

In yesterday's list of entries was that of the Herzl Junior College boxers. This is the second year Herzl has competed in the Golden Gloves sectionals. Eleven boys will compete, according to Dave Ponitch and Andrew Petrovic, the team managers.

Enter Novice Class.

The members of the team are: Joe Putignano, 118 pounds; James Hudson 126 pounds; Frank Cicchetti, Marcus S. Edwards, and Harold Glassman, 135 pounds; Harry Budlak and Ben Slobutsky, 147 pounds; Whitney Greene, Paul Kalinsky, and Charles Amy, 160 pounds, and Leonard Weiner, heavyweight. All of the boys will compete in the novice division of the Chicago tournaments.

All bouts in both the novice and open divisions will consist of three two minute rounds. Opening nights for the four Chicago sectionals are: West, Madison A. C., Feb. 8; Northwest, Marigold Gardens, Feb. 9; South, White City, Feb. 10, and North, Loyola university, Feb. 16.

TEXAS EXPECTS BIBLE TODAY FOR JOB CONFERENCE

Austin, Tex., Jan. 18.—(AP)—J. C. Dolley, athletic council chairman, said tonight that Dana X. Bible of Nebraska university might arrive tomorrow for a conference regarding his employment as head football coach at the University of Texas.

The conference of Bible, the council and the athletic committee of the board of regents was expected to center upon Bible's reported demands for a long term contract which would net him $15,000 a year.

Objections to paying Bible a salary far exceeding the faculty scale came from Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the university.

Leo C. Haynes, secretary of the board, said there was "some basis" for a rumor that a group of alumni would provide a $5,000 bonus for Bible if he came.

Mike Sexton, Minor League Veteran, Dies

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Michael H. Sexton, former president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, an organization under which all the minor leagues operate, died suddenly as the result of a heart attack at his hotel apartment here today. He was born in this city in 1863 and had been active in baseball for nearly 40 years.

Sexton, who pioneered the move which resulted in the formation of the national association, was elected to its presidency in 1908 and remained in office until 1933 when he was retired on pension with the title of honorary president.

Urges Minor Organization.

At various times in his career Sexton was president of the Rock Island baseball club, the Three Eye league, the Western league, and the Mississippi Valley league.

Sexton's effort to organize the minor leagues resulted from the war which followed the American league's expansion into a major circuit. Star minor league players were jumping contracts and Sexton urged the small leagues to organize to protect their rights. The national association was formed Sept. 5, 1901, by representatives of seven minor leagues. The first president was Patrick T. Powers, Sexton being a member of the board of arbitration until he ascended to the presidency when Powers resigned.

Former Police Chief.

When the American and National leagues agreed to a settlement of their war the national association insisted on recognition and found a national agreement which, although revised, is still in effect.

Sexton was a former chief of police of Rock Island. He also served as inheritance tax investigator and census director.

Surviving are the widow, nee Margaret Russell; two sons, Morgan H. of Rock Island and Kenneth M. of Elyria, O.; a brother, William, and a sister, Miss Josephine. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning.

Ronchetti to Race with Silver Skates Champions of East

Vic Ronchetti, Chicago Silver Skates winner, yesterday accepted an invitation to compete with Silver Skates champions of New York, Boston, Providence, and other eastern cities in a race at Madison Square Garden Feb. 1. The event will be sponsored by the New York Daily News.

Ronchetti, who defeated the best amateur racers of the central states in winning the 20th annual Silver Skates derby sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Sunday at La Follette park, now will have an opportunity to show whether he is the fastest amateur on ice east of the Mississippi river.

He plans to leave for New York early next week. Meanwhile he is taking no chances on getting out of condition. He rested up yesterday but plans to go back to La Follette park today for a light session. He's hoping the cold snap will continue so that he can keep right on practicing throughout the week.

VINES DEFEATS PERRY IN BOSTON; SQUARES SERIES

Match Goes Five Sets, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines squared his professional tennis account with Fred Perry by defeating the British star, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5, before 9,753 spectators tonight at the Boston Garden. It was the American's third straight victory in his six pro matches with the Briton.

Perry was the steadier throughout the five sets, making 97 errors against Vines' 110, but the lanky Californian piled up a total of 59 earned points against 39, most of them with booming backhand drives that went for placements. Vines' terrific delivery, which he had under control in all but four of his service games, provided him with 13 aces. His margin in points was 153 to 149.

Perry Throws Away Point.

Perry, with match point against him in the tenth game of the fourth set, broke through Vines' service to bring the score to 5-all. He then won the next two games to square the match and was able to keep on even terms with his adversary until the eleventh game of the final set, when a sporting gesture led to his downfall.

Perry had a 30-0 lead on his own service in that game before he blasted over a hairline shot that was ruled an ace. Perry, however, thought it landed outside and deliberately double-faulted to go 40-15. This incident seemed to upset Perry so much that Vines was able to put together five consecutive points to gain the service break, which put him into a 6-5 lead. The American then ran out the match on his own service in the twelfth game.

Lott Beats Barnes.

Vines and Bruce Barnes captured the doubles match, which ended after the eleventh game when one of the posts snapped and collapsed the net. Vines and Barnes won the first set, 6-4, but were trailing Perry and George Lott, 0-1, when the mishap ended the match.

In the opening singles match, scheduled to last 30 minutes, Lott defeated Barnes, 6-4, 2-1.

CITY MEET OPENS

Russell Ball of Northwestern university, winner of the title two years ago, had an easy time winning from Gene Godley of Hamilton Park, 6-0, 6-1. Eugene Quinn of Hamilton Park, seeded No. 4, triumphed over Dan Scigalski of Ogden Park, 6-3, 6-1.

Robert de Blois, chairman of the tournament committee, announced yesterday that entries in the men's doubles and the women's singles will be accepted until tomorrow.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

FOOTBALL LEAGUES.

THERE is no question of many advantages accruing to athletic leagues like the Big Ten or conference universities, Big Six, Pacific Coast, and various southern organizations. Especially is this true when the league has a commissioner like Maj. Griffith to smooth out tactfully differences arising and to interpret faculty body rulings.

Such leagues have uniform requirements for eligibility, uniform rules against unholy proselyting and open subsidizing. They play games among themselves to a certain proportion of total games played. They discuss mutual points of interest and take mutual action against evils, real or fancied.

Why then did Princeton, Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Cornell, and Columbia, after a closed session of representatives, turn down for the present, at least, the proposed "Ivy league"? Such a league had been suggested and recommended by campus dailies in identical editorials.

No reason was assigned for lack of action. The official statement admitted the idea was worth considering at another time, perhaps. The Wake has our own theory of one principal deterrent. The once Big Three of Princeton, Yale, and Harvard, in particular, and others to lesser extent, have annual games, "classics" in sport phraseology, with one another which are all-important to undergraduates and alumni.

True enough, such games would not be wiped out by a round robin schedule, but it is almost equally

Aron, Floored at Start, Rallies to Whip Greb

Milt Aron, welterweight challenger from Dubuque, Ia., whipped Joey Greb of New York in a ten round fight at Marigold Gardens last night, but he had to recover from a knockdown to do it.

The knockdown occurred in the first round. Aron regained his feet without taking a count. Greb also won the next round when he drove Aron to the ropes with punches to the head and jaw. From there on the rangy Dubuque boxer was superior.

An overflow crowd of 1,921 saw the fight. It was the largest attendance of the season at the Marigold. Receipts were $2,077.

In the semi-final bout Patrick Michael Barry, heavyweight from Ireland, ended Bernie Bowman's winning streak by beating the Chicagoan in six rounds. Bowman, who had scored six victories in a row, cut Barry's left eye with a right in the final round.

SECOND PERIOD RALLY BY ILLINI DECIDES BATTLE

Boilermakers Lead at Half, 23-11.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Hale Swanson's rebound shot in the closing seconds of play gave Illinois a 38 to 37 victory over Purdue here tonight and a tie with the previously undefeated Boilermakers for the Western conference basketball lead. Swanson's basket climaxed a spectacular second half comeback by Illinois, which trailed, 23 to 11, at the half. Each team has won four conference games and lost one.

The first half was all Purdue. The Boilermakers piled up a 7 to 0 lead at the start and continued their scoring stride after a momentary Illinois spurt.

As the second half opened, Riegel's free throw, followed by a pair of field goals by Combes and Riegel's short shot, cut Purdue's margin to 24 to 18. After a time out Young sank a basket, but Boudreau and Combes made field goals and Henry counted three times from the free throw line. Riegel tied the score at 26 to 26 on Downey's foul.

Illini Get 4 Point Lead.

With about two minutes to play Henry made a long shot and Boudreau sank a goal and immediately counted on Downeys' personal to give the Illini a 36 to 32 lead. Johnny Sines, who had entered the game when Seward went out on fouls, made two field goals to tie the score, 36 to 36, with only a few seconds left to play.

In a wild scramble under the basket, Riegel fouled Downey, who sank the free throw to give Purdue a 37 to 36 lead. Then in an effort to halt a shot from the side Young fouled Boudreau, who was given two free throws. Boudreau missed both attempts, but Swanson grabbed the rebound of the second miss under the basket and dropped it in.

The victory was the Illini's first in fourteen years on the Purdue floor.

GOPHERS WHIP N. U.

Superior speed, coupled with a tight defense, gave Minnesota a 36 to 23 victory over Northwestern at Patten gymnasium last night. The Gophers led throughout, although the Wildcats came within two points of tying the score in the second half.

So tight was the Gopher defense that Mike McMichael, Northwestern's star forward, was held to a pair of free throws. It marked the first time this season that McMichael was checked with less than 10 points in a conference game.

Northwestern was held to two field goals in the first half, fifteen minutes elapsing before Voigts slipped behind the Gopher guards to score. Smith followed a moment later with a long shot, last of the Wildcats' baskets for the period. The Gophers led, 12 to 8, at the half.

Addington Leads Attack.

While putting up a great defensive exhibition, the Gophers unleashed a speedy attack that time and again broke men free to dribble unmolested to the basket.

George Addington, small but speedy forward, paced the Gopher attack until forced from the game on four personal fouls in the second half. By that time he had dropped six field goals, most of them short shots from the side. After he left, John Kundla took up the scoring burden and shared scoring honors with Addington at 12 points.

Northwestern's lone bid to pull up on even terms came midway in the second half when Voigts hit two long baskets and Smith sank two free throws to narrow the gap to 17 to 19. Lineup:

goal in the second half tonight to score its first Western conference victory, 29 to 23.

The Hawkeyes held a 20 to 11 advantage at the half. Lee Mitchell, junior guard from Monroe, led Wisconsin's attack with four baskets, two of which came while the Badgers were tying the score at 20 all during the first seven minutes of the second half. Iowa's only points in the last period came on two free throws by Kenneth Suesens and another by Floyd Deheer, reserve center.

Unable to work the ball close to the basket because of Iowa's tightly drawn man to man defense, the Badgers went on to victory by shooting from beyond the free throw circle. Iowa, which had dominated the play during the latter part of the first half, was a disorganized, desperate team in the last ten minutes of the game.

Start New Badger Combination.

The teams never were separated by more than four points. Iowa pulled away in the first half on baskets by Ben Stephens, Suesens, Wally Gaddis, and Matt Walsh for a nine point advantage.

Wisconsin started a new combination tonight, sending Gordon Fuller to forward in place of Howie Powell, and Bob Weigandt to guard in place of Manny Frey. This combination played all except six minutes of the game. Lineups:

INDIANA BEATS OHIO

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Indiana university tonight whipped Ohio State's previously undefeated quintet, 43 to 36, and avenged its only Big Ten defeat of last season.

After leading, 24 to 20, at the half, Indiana gradually pulled away. Jack Raudabaugh and Earl Thomas of Ohio State were ejected on personal fouls midway in the second period. Co-Capt. Kenny Gunning and Bill Johnson of Indiana joined them a few minutes later.

Ohio State took the lead three times and tied the score four times in the first period. Shortly before the half ended Fred Fechtman, playing his last game on the Hoosier floor, and Bill Johnson sent Indiana ahead for good. Lineups:

MICHIGAN, 35; MAROONS, 29

Short baskets by Dan Smick, John Townsend, and Herman Fishman in the overtime period gave Michigan a 35 to 29 victory over Chicago last night at the Midway fieldhouse. Bill Barclay, Michigan forward, who previously had missed five free throws, tied the score at 28 to 28 with a free toss in the final seconds of regular time after the Maroons had taken the lead with a brilliant rally.

The triumph was the third of the conference campaign for Michigan, while the defeat was the fourth in succession for Chicago, which dropped to the bottom of the standings.

Lose Regulars on Fouls.

Chicago had lost three of its regulars, Rossin, Petersen, and Mullins, by fouls before the overtime, and two Michigan regulars, Patanelli and Gee, had been banished.

Michigan jumped into a 13 to 1 lead during the first quarter. Two baskets by John Gee and one each by Townsend and Patanelli contributed to the Wolverines' early margin. The Maroons rallied on baskets by Amundsen, Fitzgerald, and Petersen, however, and had reduced the deficit to 20 to 11 at the half.

Maroon Rally to Lead.

For the first eight minutes of the second half Michigan was held without a field goal while Eggemeyer and Amundsen were scoring for Chicago. Then, after a brief Michigan spurt, and with the count 27 to 18 against them, the Maroons scored ten consecutive points on baskets by Durbin, Eggemeyer, and Amundsen, the latter's long one hand shot putting Chicago ahead, 28 to 27. Shortly thereafter Barclay made good on a free throw to tie the game and Michigan went on to win. Lineup:

Notre Dame Wins, 52-31, Over Syracuse

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Johnny Moir led Notre Dame to a 52 to 31 upset victory over Syracuse tonight, scoring 24 points, two shy of his own record. He left the game with three minutes to play, getting an ovation from the crowd of 5,500.

It was the first defeat for Syracuse in seven starts. The Orange team piled up a 12 to 6 lead after five minutes of play and appeared headed for another victory.

Here Moir went into action and the score soon was tied, 12 all. Notre Dame then drove to a 32 to 23 lead at the half, chiefly on the shooting of Moir and Capt. Ray Meyer.

The Notre Dame defense was so effective in the second half that Syracuse scored only one field goal, Stewart making a follow-up shot on Gorecki's missed foul, after 11 minutes of play.

Once Notre Dame had forged ahead Syracuse began to press and to miss on the few shots a catlike Irish defense offered it. Notre Dame made good 16 out of 19 free throws, 10 out of 11 in the first half. Syracuse scored on 9 out of 19 free throw chances. Lineups:

MARQUETTE LOSES, 31-26

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo defeated Marquette's basketball team tonight, 31 to 26, after the Milwaukee quintet had come from behind to draw within three points of the victors with a minute and a half to play.

Marquette passed wildly in the first ten minutes of the first half while Western State ran up ten points as the Hilltoppers went scoreless. Marquette's attack gained speed after Quabius scored the first basket for the Hilltoppers, but Western State led at the half, 17 to 12.

Early in the second half Marquette cut Western State's lead to four points, but another scoring spree sent the Teachers ahead, 27 to 16. Marquette then drew within three points of its oponents, but Arnold clinched a Western State victory with his fifth goal. Lineups:

Lynch Picked to Defeat Montana in Title Fight

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Benny Lynch of Scotland tonight ruled a favorite over Small Montana of Manila on the eve of their fifteen round bout for undisputed recognition as world flyweight champion. Most of Lynch's supporters concede Montana is the more clever boxer and faster, but they doubt his ability to stay fifteen rounds against the hard hitting Scot.

Iowa Attacks Solicitors of Athletic Funds

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A two hour meeting of the University of Iowa athletic board today brought forth a statement condemning "subsidization" of Iowa athletes but no mention of a successor to Ossie Solem.

The board was expected to meet again tonight, although Prof. C. M. Updegraff said, "I doubt very seriously that there will be any further statement."

Prof. Updergraff said the board had authorized no statement on the board's search for a director and football coach.

"It has come to the attention of the board in control of athletics that certain individuals have apparently been soliciting funds from the alumni and friends of the University of Iowa for the purpose of aiding and assisting students and particularly athletes.

"It has further come to the attention of the board that such individuals have been representing themselves as having the approval of the athletic department and the board in control of athletics. If such representations have been made they are entirely false.

"Be it resolved, That this board go on record at this time as emphatically condemning any such solicitation on the part of any individual or combination of individuals and recommending to the alumni and friends of this institution that they support no individual or group of individuals seeking to raise funds for any such purposes.

"This board and the athletic department of the university have never approved of any such solicitation and at all times condemn and disapprove the same."

BATTERED HAWKS INVADE DETROIT RINK TONIGHT

Games Tonight

Chicago at Detroit.
Toronto at Boston.
Montreal Canadiens at New York Rangers.

The patched-up Blackhawks, minus Doc Romnes, will leave this morning for Detroit to play a return game tonight with the champion Red Wings, who evened the season's play by defeating the Hawks, 2 to 0, Sunday night. Five National Hocky league games have been played between the two teams. The Wings won one on their home ice and one away. The Blackhawks did likewise. One game ended a tie.

The Red Wings will have added strength for the game, since Herbie Lewis, star left wing of the league's high point line, who has been out of the last four contests because of an attack of flu, will take his turn with his linemates, Laurie Aurie and Marty Barry. The latter pair is tied for the league leadership in points, each having 25. Aurie leads all goal getters with 15, while Barry leads in assists with 18. Despite Lewis' absence for a quartet of games the speedy left wing is not far behind. He has accounted for 12 goals and 8 assists.

Wings Rated Best Machine.

The Red Wings at full strength are generally rated as the most powerful machine in hocky today, which makes the performances of the Blackhawks all the more amazing, for with a team riddled with injuries and without the services of Doc Romnes, who last season was the recipient of the Lady Byng trophy, one of two most valuable player trophies annually awarded by the league, the Hawks have battled the champions tooth and nail since the season's start.

Little Mush March, who is nursing a smashed elbow received in Toronto Saturday night, missed Sunday's game, his first absence in six seasons. March is expected to play tonight.

Hawks Get a Recess.

The Hawks were granted a day of much needed rest yesterday and they took advantage of the short vacation. The team has traveled 2,000 miles and had participated in five wearing games in eight nights.

Immediately after tonight's battle they'll return to Chicago for their second home game with the New York Rangers on Thursday. The Rangers are sailing high this season because of the achievements of the new "kid line" of Neil Colville, Alex Shibicky, and Mac Colville.

O.] Christner, 42, former heavyweight boxer, was free under $500 bond today awaiting hearing in Juvenile court next week on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Christner was arrested because his pool room allegedly was the hangout of a gang of boy bandits seized here.

Fightin' Hoosiers Is New Nickname for Indiana Teams

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Indiana university athletic teams henceforth will be known as "Fightin' Hoosiers."

The appellation, which is only a slight variation from "Scrappin' Hoosiers," as Crimson teams formerly were called unofficially, was announced between the halves of the Indiana-Ohio State basketball game tonight. It was chosen in a contest sponsored by the Daily Student, campus publication, which complained that the name "Hoosiers" also applied to Purdue and Notre Dame teams.

After receiving selections from a committee of judges to whom the 15 best names had been submitted, the Daily Student staf found that no unanimous choice had been reached. Indiana's coaches, Athletic Director Z. G. Clevenger and Mayor A. H. Berndt of Bloomington, representing the alumni, then were called into a huddle.

Pirate officials said they expected to receive Young's decision soon in the mail. Terms of the contracts were not announced.

says RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster

Some folks think we're over-careful. That we hold back when others don't hesitate. Eight months ago we had our beer in cans. Hardly a day went by that dealers didn't try to get some of it. But we weren't ready.

We spent those eight months in satisfying ourselves that we would satisfy you.

I've been making Meister Bräu since 1906, making it the same way it has been made since 1891.

The slow method of making beer 45 years ago is the method we use today. We pay above the usual price to get the finest malt and hops. We clean them carefully before boiling. This removes the chaff—so we don't have to boil and boil until the life is boiled out of the beer.

We don't try to save time by adding sugars or syrups in the brewing. That may make a beer over-sweet.

We won't use artificial gas in bottling or canning, because we get a full high foam and sparkle with natural draft beer carbonation created in the beer itself.

These methods make a real difference in the beer. That's why Meister Bräu in bottles is the fastest selling bottled beer in this great middle-western area. Now we are ready with Meister Bräu in cans for those who prefer this container. Any beverage store can now supply you. And we guarantee it to be the same full-flavored, sparkling clear Meister Bräu in can or bottle.

LEVIN SIGNS FOR MARSHALL MATCH AT COLISEUM

Amateurs Fight Tonight at Rainbo.

Dave Levin, Brooklyn heavyweight wrestler, yesterday accepted a match with Everett Marshall, who is recognized as champion by the Illinois athletic commission, at the Coliseum Feb. 4. . . . Amateur bouts between James Phagan and Earl Patterson, and Jack Fargo and Warry Pumphrey will dominate tonight's boxing card at Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. . . . Billy Treest expects to appear in a supporting match on the card headed by Barney Ross and Al Manfredo at Detroit Jan. 29 following his eight round windup with Max Zona at Majestic arena tomorrow. Zona will be making his first start under the direction of the Catholic Youth organization. . . . Teddy Yarosz, former middleweight champion, who defeated Solly Krieger recently, may be substituted for Babe Risko in a title contest with Champion Freddy Steele at New York in February.

Phil Collins, veteran Golden Gloves and Illinois boxing commission referee, has been appointed a member of the boxing committee of the Central A. A. U. . . . Mrs. Irving Schoenwald, wife of the north side promoter, was rushed to North Chicago hospital yesterday for a blood transfusion. . . . Harold Brown, west side welterweight, sparred with Barney Ross yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium in preparation for a ten rounder with Frank Sagilio at Marigold Gardens next Monday. Ross and his handlers, Sam Pian and Art Winch, will leave Sunday for Detroit, where the welterweight champion makes his 1937 debut in a ten round nontitle scrap with Al Manfredo Jan. 29. Jack Kearns, under whose auspices the match is being held, is making arrangements to handle a crowd which will gross $20,000. It is understood Ross will receive 32½ per cent of the receipts and his foe from Fresno, Cal., 20 per cent.

For the first time in the five year history of the annual amateur boxing tournament sponsored by the Illinois Athletic club, a capacity crowd will attend the finals of the meet in the club gymnasium tomorrow. This was assured yesterday when the last of the 600 tickets were sold. Johnny Behr, athletic director, attributed the record turnout to the bout that the sixteen finalists this year are one of the strongest groups to survive the rigors of tournament competition.

Behr predicts that at least four of the winning finalists will go on to a Golden Gloves championship at the Stadium in March. He pointed out that Alex Kettles, South Bend, Ind., heavyweight; Oshibe Smallwood, Mount Vernon, Ill., light heavyweight; Frank Kainrath, Catholic Youth organization bantamweight, and Nate Bolden, Savoy Athletic club middleweight, are four of the best looking amateur boxers in this part of the country. Kettles will meet Joe Howe, C. Y. O. champion; Smallwood is paired with Eugene Davis, Unity Athletic club; Kainrath will clash with Joe Chizar, South Bend, and Bolden is matched with Hiner Thomas, C. Y. O.

Remember Him?—The British Snubbed Him, His Putter Failed and His Caddy Was Cockeyed—but Walter Travis Won.

[This is the 29th of a series of articles on famous headliners of other days whose careers and contributions to sports have perhaps become obscured by time and the exploits of more widely publicized successors. All of them rank among the greatest in their respective fields.]

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN Jess Swetser won the British amateur golf championship in 1926 his caddy was not cross-eyed. When Bobby Jones captured the old mug in 1930 he gnawed on no black cheroots while playing. And when Lawson Little scored his first triumph in the ancient tournament in 1935 he carried a rusty blade putter, not the odd looking Schenectady mallet type.

Yet once, thirty-three years ago next spring, a little man did all of these and became the first American to win the British championship. He was Walter J. Travis, who defeated Ed Blackwell in the 1904 final at Sandwich, 4 and 3. Even more remarkable than his victory was the age at which he scored it. Consider that Sweetser was 24 when he brought the cup back to the States, that Jones was 28 in his grand slam year, and that Little was 25 when he started his double in the British. Then be reminded that Travis was 42 years old when he brought off American golf's first real international triumph.

Travis was to the early part of the century's golf what Jones was to the twenties. He was an Australian by birth, having been born in Maldon, Victoria, but it was as an American that he won the tournament at Sandwich. As a young man he tried tennis, then cycling, but golf was the sport which finally claimed his affections. A master of concentration, he had soon developed a game which was to make him a distinct threat in tournament play at an age when other men are content to nudge a golf ball around only on week-ends.

Everything Goes Wrong but Walter.

The story of his victory at Sandwich is one of the classics of golfing lore. He went abroad with several New York friends and on arriving was disappointed, as were they, that none of the British players would join him in the practice play for the championship. To make matters worse, his game had collapsed almost completely, notably in putting, the department in which he still is remembered as a genius.

WALTER TRAVIS.

Travis himself could not explain his failure to click on the greens, and as a last resort accepted a Schenectady putter, a block headed, center shafted club. Many a tournament golfer at one time or another has felt that the whole world is against him, but when Travis started in that 1904 championship he must have felt that all the forces of evil were leagued against him. There was the failure of the club to supply him with a locker, forcing him to dress in a hallway. There was the strabismic caddy, whose off-center eyes certainly betokened no good luck. Added to this was the feeling that his British hosts, by their attitude, did not particularly welcome his presence.

Travis then proved himself the stern competitor that he was. A few practice rounds had given him a new confidence in the Schenectady putter, and, armed with a pocketful of the black cigars which were as indispensable to him as a golf ball, he set out to fight his battle. One favorite after another fell before the little man and the deadly accuracy of his queer looking putter until finally he met Blackwell, the Jimmy Thomson of the day. Blackwell outdrove Travis, as was expected, but on the greens he could not cope with the Schenectady, which worked as though charged with black magic.

So They Get Even by Barring Club.

The masters of the Royal and Ancient Golf club, supreme court of the game, were so baffled by the wizardry of Travis' putter, that their ony solution seemed to be to bar it, and since then no ball has been stroked with a Schenectady on a British course. The one with which Travis brought Uncle Sam his first British title now rests in a glass enclosed case at the Garden City club near New York.

Travis made his first amateur appearance in the National in 1898, attired in a red coat, gaiters, a campaign hat, and a heavy black beard. He was then 36 years old, an age when most tournament golfers are beginning to slip. But not Travis. He came on and on, winning the American amateurs of 1900, 1901, and 1903. Even when such youngsters as Jerry Travers and Chandler Egan arose to bar his way, Travis managed to win the qualifying medals in the tournaments of 1906, 1907, and 1908.

This remarkable golfer continued to play regularly in tournaments until the war. In 1912, at the age of 50, he won the North and South, and three years later walked away with the Metropolitan, always one of the most prized titles in the game. Ill health forced him from the game shortly after his victory, but he retained his connection with the game as a golf architect. He died at Denver, Colo., on July 31, 1927.

Sonja Henie Heads Stadium Show Feb. 18

Sonja Henie, greatest of women figure skaters, will be starred in an international ice carnival at the Chicago Stadium on Feb. 18, 19, 20, and 21, Stadium officials announced yesterday. It will be her fourth appearance in Chicago at a Stadium skating carnival.

Last spring at the fourth annual Stadium carnival Miss Henie appeared in five performances which drew a record of 60,000 paid admissions. Her two previous Chicago appearances had been as an amateur.

Since the close of her American exhibition skating tour last spring Miss Henie has been in Hollywood in the hands of diction and dramatic tutors and her first starring picture, "One in a Million," was released last week. It's success was so immediate that Twentieth Century-Fox Pictures immediately announced that Miss Henie's second picture, a variation of the legendary Hans Brinker theme, would be prepared for scene shooting immediately after the Norwegian skating star returns to Hollywood following her February engagement at the Stadium.

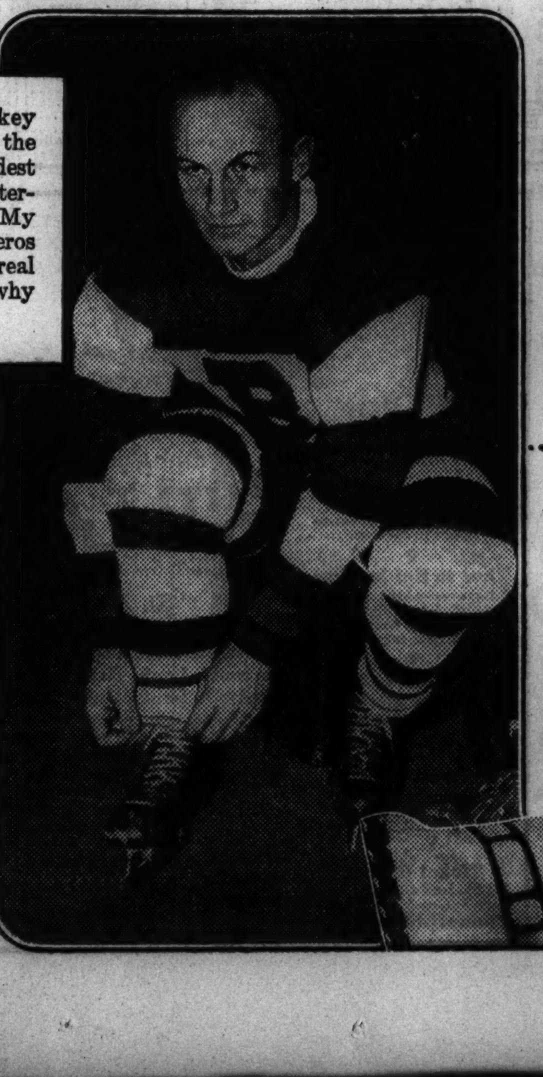
TAKES THE "STARCH" OUT OF WHISKERS

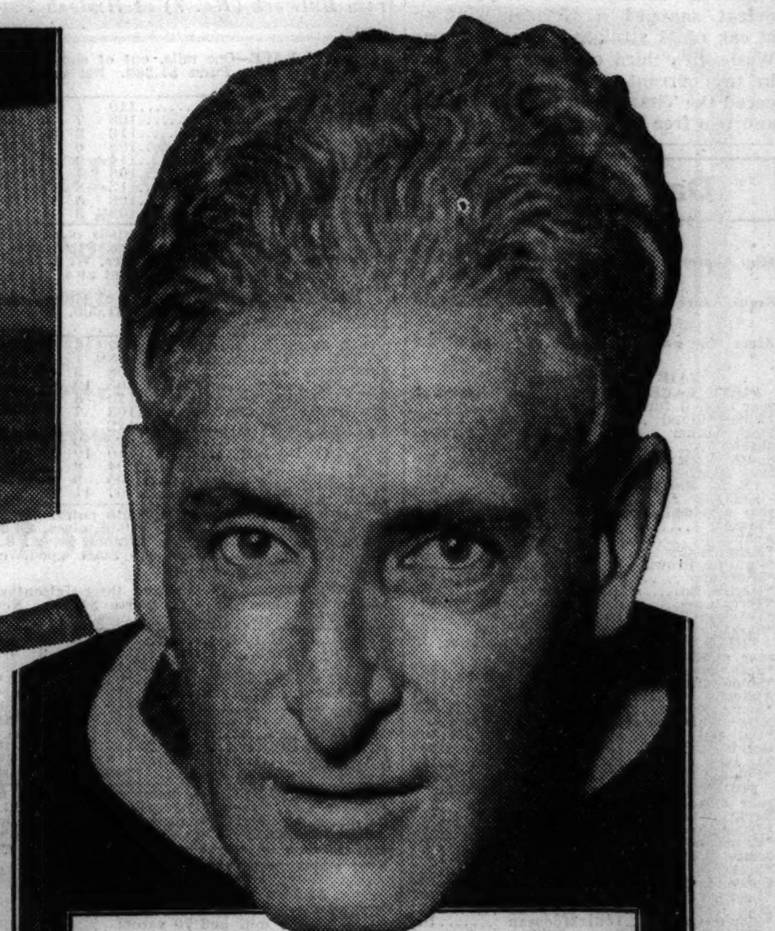
... say these famous Hockey Stars

"CHUCK" CONACHER, brilliant forward and consistently a high scorer in professional hockey, says: "For everyday shaving I prefer Williams 'Twin-Action' Shaving Cream. It wilts the tough stubble on my face quicker and more completely than any other cream."

RANGER STAR, "Iron Man" Murray Murdoch, who has played nearly 600 games for the Rangers, knows what a job Williams does on tough whiskers. He says: "I stick to Williams—have used it for years. It drenches each hair right down to the base. My face never gets sore or tender with this great shaving cream."



EDDIE SHORE, veteran hockey ace, has long been a favorite of the Boston fans. He's one of the hardest hitting defense players in the international leagues. Eddie says: "My beard is tougher than rhinoceros hide and, believe me, it takes a real cream to soak it soft. That's why I've used Williams for years."



LES PATRICK, of the N. Y. Rangers, says: "I switched to Williams years ago. It sure soaks every bit of 'starch' out of my beard. After shaving, a dash of Aqua Velva makes my face feel like a million."

Get relief from razor pull and after-shaving irritations by switching to Williams. These tough-bearded men and thousands more are finding real shaving comfort in this great "twin-action" cream.

Second, it soaks and softens the outer skin on your face—allows your blade's sharp edge to penetrate to the base of each whisker.

That's the end of shaving torture. Now your razor skims quickly and smoothly over your face. Cuts off each silky hair at the base. Eliminates scraping, pulling and razor burn.

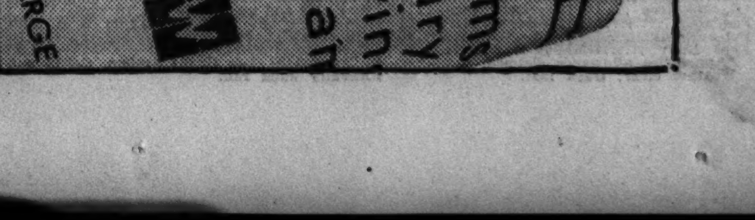
Soaks Whiskers Softer

Made by a special homogenizing process, Williams Shaving Cream has a greater capacity to hold water than ordinary creams.

1. Soaks the "starch" out of your whiskers quicker than any other popular cream, tests show. 2. It instantly softens the scaly outer skin on your face—allows blade edge to cut off each hair at the base. Try a tube.



Here's a Treat!

COLUMBIANA'S 1:36 MILE WINS HIALEAH FEATURE

StewardsAskExplanation of Form Reversal.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Columbiana, 4 year old daughter of Petee Wrack, from W. J. [Buddy] Hirsch's stable, showed a reversal of form in taking the mile of the Del Rio claiming handicap at Hialeah park today.

Badly beaten in her previous effort, the filly stepped the distance in 1:36, the fastest time of the meeting, winning by two lengths. She paid 10 to 1. H. W. Jackson's Bulwark, the favorite, took the place by a length and a half from Cosgrave stable's Jack Patches.

Asked to Explain Form Reversal.

After the race the stewards ordered Hirsch, who also trains the filly, and Jockies Hubert LeBlanc and Ira Hanford to explain the form reversal. Hanford rode Columbiana in her recent race, while LeBlanc was in the saddle today.

LeBlanc, returning to the saddle after recovering from a broken wrist suffered at Laurel last fall, broke Columbiana in front. She stayed there all the way, increasing her margin in the home stretch.

Proph Wins Biscayne Purse.

J. E. Parrish's Proph, outclassed in the Inaugural handicap, which was won by Whopper, found a field of 3 year olds much easier in the seven furlongs of the Biscayne Bay purse. Second choice to J. E. Widener's Fencing, at $8.30 for $2, Proph closed fast in the stretch to score by two lengths over B. F. Lister's Gala Star. W. V. Dwyer's Lucky Jean, winner of three races at Tropical park, was another length and a half back in third place, as the speedy Guy Fawkes quit in the stretch.

MAX SCHMELING PLANS FIVE WEEK EXHIBITION TOUR

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, today announced a tentative exhibition tour he has mapped out following the German's arrival within a month.

Jacobs expressed the conviction that Schmeling's proposed title bout with James Braddock will attract a larger gate than was originally anticipated despite a threatened boycott by the anti-Nazi league. Plans are being made for Schmeling to train at Speculator, N. Y.

Schmeling's proposed tour is to open March 1 in Philadelphia. It then will proceed to Baltimore, Washington, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Tampa, West Palm Beach, Miami, Birmingham, New Orleans, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Memphis, Chattanooga, Nashville, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, South Bend, Chicago, and Detroit. The tour will take about five weeks.

DICK TRACY—At Your Service
WHAT? "SHIRTSLEEVE" KELTON?
WHY, "SHIRTSLEEVE," I HAVEN'T SEEN YOU SINCE WE USED TO ROUND YOU UP WITH THE OTHER SMALL-TIME HOODLUMS DOWN IN THE FIRST WARD.
YOU KNOW, CHIEF, AT ONE TIME I TRIED TO PIN THIS PURPLE CROSS BUSINESS ON "SHIRTSLEEVE"—HE SAID I WAS ALL WET—AND NOW HE CLAIMS HE'S GOT SOME VALUABLE DOPE FOR US.
LET'S HEAR IT.
I'M OUT OF THE RACKETS, SEE, AND I'M ON THE LEVEL. —AND JUST TO PROVE IT I'M GOING TO HELP YOU CATCH THIS GANG ON A TIP I OVERHEARD YESTERDAY.
IT DOESN'T SOUND BAD "SHIRTSLEEVE." IT DOESN'T SOUND BAD.

U. S. PUTS O. K. ON INTERNATIONAL AUTO RACE CODE

Will Place American Cars on Par with Rivals.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Various automobile racing interests held a meeting here today which turned out to be a love feast.

The contest board of the American Automobile association paved the way for the harmony move by adopting the International Automobile federation's specifications for cars entered in major events.

Ends Handicaps for Americans.

This action removes the handicaps such as American drivers and cars experienced last year in the Vanderbilt cup race at Roosevelt raceway. In that race Tazio Nuvolari of Italy made a runaway of the 300 mile contest.

Officials predict that the action taken by the American Automobile association will encourage American racers to invade European countries and at the same time will attract more foreign entries to the annual 500 mile race held in Indianapolis. It also will draw more foreign drivers into the road races, which will be held again at Roosevelt raceway and in Los Angeles.

"When their cars have been adjusted mechanically American drivers will be on a par with their foreign rivals," a prominent A. A. A. official said following today's meeting. "It also will make it possible for foreign drivers to compete effectively in the long race at Indianapolis."

Here's Tentative Schedule.

May 30—500 mile Indianapolis race.
July 5—300 mile Vanderbilt cup race.
Sept. 6—Pan-American race at Roosevelt raceway.
Oct. 18—Los Angeles race.

The contest board also approved plans for a 2½ mile speedway to be built this spring in Los Angeles. It will be slightly faster than the Roosevelt course, according to the plans.

true, they might in time become subordinated to the struggle for the so-called championship of the body. That has been a besetting weakness of present bodies for which no remedy has been discovered.

F'rinstance, when Yale and Harvard, Yale and Princeton, or Harvard and Princeton elevens meet on the gridiron, they're big games to their followers no matter what has happened previously during the fall. If, by any chance, it so happened that Yale, Harvard, and Princeton were tail-enders in the percentage of a so-called Ivy league, would these games rate as high in interest?

In the Big Ten last fall the title was practically determined on Oct. 31 when Northwestern defeated Minnesota. Yet there were three more games on schedules of all members against various foes. Certainly some of those games did not command the attention that would have been theirs if the championship already had not been decided.

I haven't read the Yule cards bright,
I filed the bills, the mail's agog——
I study it, night after night,
Absorbing each seed catalog.

Rambling Thoughts of Love and Marriage.

The same man who before marriage vowed he would lay down his life for her now grumbles if he has to lay down his morning paper long enough to listen to what the wife has to say.

It is easier to forget the girl who threw us over than to forget the presents we showered on her.

It Must Be the Amplifier.

A TRIBUNE headline tells that an Indiana farmer milks his cows by radio and gets an extra bucket a day. Either the cows have been moved to milk by hearing the lamentations of some doleful crooner or the radio itself is possessed of a remarkable amplifier.

COMMODITIES DEVELOP MIXED PRICE TRENDS

Export Copper Dips; Cocoa Weakens.

Many commodities moved lower yesterday, running counter to the upward trend in grains, cotton, and lard. Export copper declined 1-10th cent per pound while domestic copper prices remained unchanged.

Cocoa, sugar, hides, and silk were all lower for the day. Crude rubber futures dropped sharply despite the announcement of leading tire companies of a 6 per cent boost in retail tire prices. This information was offset by the unfavorable turn in the automobile strike.

Coffee Also Declines.

Rio coffee in New York declined 0.06 cent per pound on the May delivery to 7.52 cents a pound. This was also in the face of reports from Brazil that the government in December destroyed 365,000 bags of coffee, compared with 172,000 destroyed in November. The total destroyed in 1936 was 3,731,000 bags, compared with 1,693,000 bags in 1935. Since 1931 the Brazilian government has destroyed a total of 39,532,000 bags.

January refrigerator eggs yesterday hit a new low for the season as supplies of fresh eggs continued heavy. Fresh firsts at 22¼ to 23¼ cents a dozen in the spot market represented a decline of 10 cents a dozen within the last month.

Closing Prices Compared.

	Close.		*Seasons range.
	Jan. 18.	Jan. 16.	High.	Low.
Wheat, May, bu.	$1.32⅞	$1.32¾	$1.37¾	$1.04¼

Sees Increased Activity.

Increased trading in futures of a wider list of commodities was forecast yesterday by Michael E. Fox, who took office for the second consecutive term as president of the Chicago Mercantile exchange.

"Trading in futures on the exchange in 1936 showed a gain of approximately 5,000 car lots over the preceding year," Fox said. "The principal gain was in potato volume which had a record turnover.

"The utility of the potato market during its comparatively short existence should lead to an enlargement of public recognition of the economic service of this and other commodity exchanges and to the inclusion here of other commodities."

COURT APPROVES LIQUIDATING OLD PACIFIC MUTUAL

Los Angeles, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Superior Judge Henry M. Willis today approved liquidation of the old Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company, which was reorganized last month.

Samuel L. Carpenter Jr., state insurance commissioner and conservator of the new company, requested the liquidation order, saying the court's formal approval was necessary to pay claims of some policy holders who have refused to accept the reinsurance plan of the new company.

Judge Willis overruled an objection to the liquidation filed by William H. Neblett, attorney, who argued that the rehabilitation plan is being appealed.

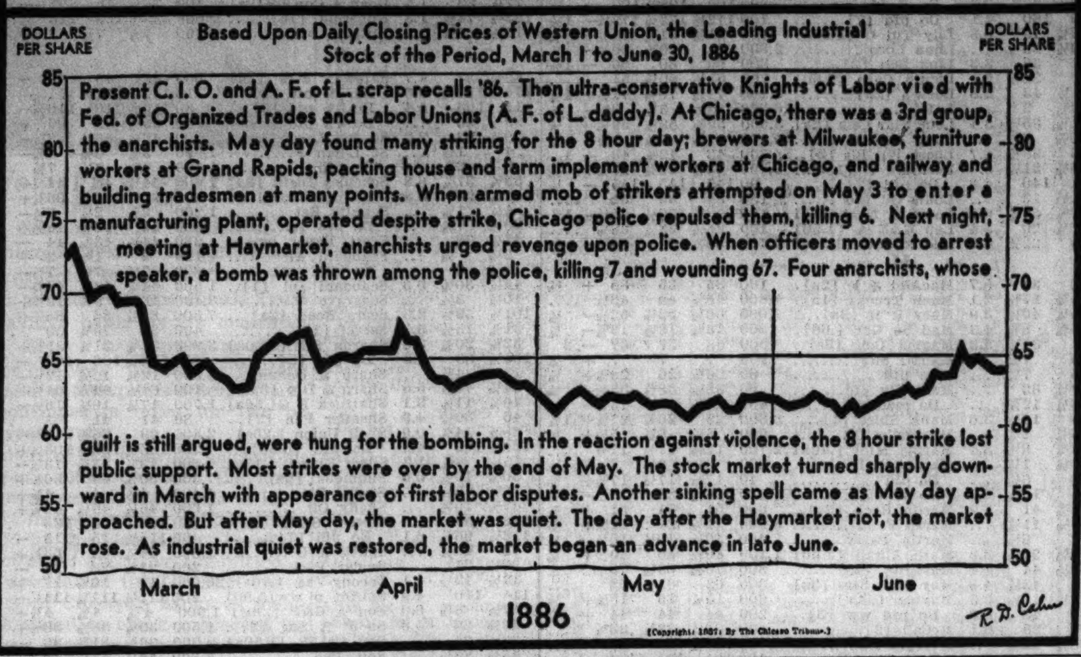
Hibbard Spencer Doubles Rate on Common Stock

The common stock dividend rate of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co. was doubled yesterday when directors declared monthly payments of 20 cents a share payable at the end of January, February and March. The previous monthly rate was 10 cents.

The Stock Market as Affected by Great Strikes

2—The Strike of 1886 and the Haymarket Riot

Based Upon Daily Closing Prices of Western Union, the Leading Industrial Stock of the Period, March 1 to June 30, 1886



Present C. I. O. and A. F. of L. scrap recalls '86. Then ultra-conservative Knights of Labor vied with Fed. of Organized Trades and Labor Unions (A. F. of L. daddy). At Chicago, there was a 3rd group, the anarchists. May day found many striking for the 8 hour day; brewers at Milwaukee, furniture workers at Grand Rapids, packing house and farm implement workers at Chicago, and railway and building tradesmen at many points. When armed mob of strikers attempted on May 3 to enter a manufacturing plant, operated despite strike, Chicago police repulsed them, killing 6. Next night, meeting at Haymarket, anarchists urged revenge upon police. When officers moved to arrest speaker, a bomb was thrown among the police, killing 7 and wounding 67. Four anarchists, whose guilt is still argued, were hung for the bombing. In the reaction against violence, the 8 hour strike lost public support. Most strikes were over by the end of May. The stock market turned sharply downward in March with appearance of first labor disputes. Another sinking spell came as May day approached. But after May day, the market was quiet. The day after the Haymarket riot, the market rose. As industrial quiet was restored, the market began an advance in late June.

'L' May Offer Its Own Plan to Reorganize

The Chicago Rapid Transit company may file a petition in federal court this week seeking reorganization under section 77B of the revised bankruptcy statutes, it was disclosed yesterday. The elevated has been in receivership since 1932.

An attorney for the company stated that officials are considering such action, and if decision is made to effect a capital reorganization the petition will be filed within a few days, probably on Friday.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson has set Friday for hearing on a creditors' petition for reorganization under 77B which has been pending for nearly two years. The company attorney explained, however, that if it is decided to ask for reorganization the elevated company probably will file its own petition.

May Prepare for Merger.

According to an elevated official, one of the objectives of the action would be to set the company's house in order for a possible consolidation with the surface lines as part of the long planned unification of the local transportation system in Chicago.

Preliminary discussions have been started between officials of the city and the surface lines looking toward a new franchise for the street railway company and ultimately a unified system.

Representatives of elevated securities holders admit that some scaling down of the present capital structure will be necessary before a consolidation can be effected. A cut in capitalization would entail a writedown of the present property valuations of the elevated.

System Now in Receivership.

The rapid transit company was placed in receivership when it defaulted on its bond interest. The receivers are Britton I. Budd and Col. A. A. Sprague. It was explained that if a petition for reorganization is approved one or more trustees would be appointed by the court to supervise the pending reorganization. Such reorganization would have to be by agreement of security holders and creditors.

The company as of Dec. 31, 1935, showed total capitalization in excess of 91 million dollars,

House Committee Favors Extending Dollar Control

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The house coinage committee approved today an administration bill to extend to June 30, 1939, the treasury's gold stabilization fund and the President's authority to alter the gold content of the dollar. Democratic leaders hoped to obtain a rule to permit the legislation to come before the house tomorrow, concurrently with senate consideration of the measure.

Federal Deficit Crosses 1½ Billions on Jan. 15

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The government's deficit for this fiscal year crossed the $1,500,000,000 mark Jan. 15. The treasury reported today that with receipts of $2,321,732,756 and expenditures of $3,826,214,903 since July 1, the deficit stood at $1,504,482,147. This compares with a $1,986,266,029 deficit for the corresponding period last year.

TIRE COMPANIES BOOST PRICES 6%; MAY ORDER ADDITIONAL INCREASE

Chicago tire dealers yesterday raised their prices by about 6 per cent in line with an announcement to that effect by the leading tire makers at Akron, O.

The concerns included B. F. Goodrich company, General Tire and Rubber company, Firestone Tire and Rubber company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, Lee Tire and Rubber company, United States Rubber company, and Dayton Rubber Manufacturing company.

In making the announcement, Goodyear officials said the increase applied to all types of tires except bicycle and pneumatic tires for toys. They said the increases were due to "a rapidly rising crude rubber market."

Reports from the rubber companies also said that another 6 per cent boost can be expected in the spring.

COURT RULINGS CLEAR UTILITIES POWER TANGLE

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday took three actions declined to clarify the affairs of the Utilities Power and Light corporation, big utility holding company for whose control Floyd B. Odlum, president of the Atlas corporation, New York investment trust, and Harley L. Clarke, ousted former president, are engaged in a bitter court fight.

A motion to approve a creditors' petition for reorganization filed Sept. 24 in Freeport, was denied. An alternative motion to dismiss the creditors' petition was denied. A motion to strike the voluntary petition recently filed on behalf of the company by Attorney Dwight H. Green was denied.

Judge Holly set Feb. 2 for a hearing on the question of whether to permit the present management to remain in possession of the company's assets pending submission and acceptance of a reorganization plan or to appoint a trustee.

179,520 DOZEN EGGS BOUGHT BY U. S. TO LIFT PRICE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Aids of Secretary Wallace said today the federal government had bought 179,520 dozen eggs in its program to boost the price the farmer receives.

Wallace announced the egg buying program Saturday because of an "unusually sharp drop" in recent weeks in the wholesale and farm price of eggs.

A fund of $200,000 is available for egg buying which so far has been confined to the east.

Effect of Auto Strike Slight in Chicago Area

Industries located in Chicago and vicinity suffered little direct loss from the strikes in the automobile and allied industries, officials of a number of important companies here said yesterday. They cautioned, however, that while they had had no occasion to lay off workers as a result of the strikes they could not tell what the future would bring.

The steel industry in the Chicago area is one of the largest suppliers to the automobile industry but apart from the backlogs and orders of the principal companies, which have declined because of some cancelations, there has been no slackening in rate of operations.

Production at High Rate.

At the offices of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation it was said that strike effects have not been noticeable. Production has continued at a high rate which has been maintained for sometime.

Inland Steel company reported its operations are continuing near capacity. Orders on hand have enabled the company to continue production at a rate which has kept all its employés at work. There have been some cancellations of orders.

The experience on the Chicago district is borne out by operations for the country as a whole. The American Iron and Steel Institute estimated yesterday that operations of the steel industry for the current week are up 1.8 points at 80.6 per cent of capacity. The rate last week was 78.8 per cent, while a month ago operations were at 77 per cent of capacity and a year ago were 49.9 per cent.

Early Deliveries Sought.

According to steel officials a number of motor companies are seeking early delivery of steel to expedite deliveries in the belief that cars will start moving in heavy volume when the General Motors strike is settled.

Among the companies in the Chicago area which manufacture parts and specialties it was said that the strike effects have not been as great as might be expected because not many supply the General Motors corporation.

At the offices of the Stewart-Warner corporation it was said the strike so far has had no effect, although it is not known how long this condition will continue.

The Borg-Warner corporation, which has a clutch factory in the clearing area, said that plant is being operated at capacity.

Continental Is Fifth, 1st National 7th.

A ranking of the largest commercial banks and trust companies in the United States, published yesterday by the American Banker on the basis of deposits, shows that eleven Chicago banks were among the first 300, with the Continental Illinois retaining fifth place and the First National seventh place as of Dec. 31, 1936.

The Chase National bank of New York remained the largest bank in this country, but the Guaranty Trust company of New York pushed the National City bank, also of New York, out of second place. The only other change among the first ten banks was the taking of tenth place by the Manufacturers' Trust company of New York. A year ago the Irving Trust held tenth position.

Deposits Exceed 60 Billions.

Banks are carrying the greatest deposit load in history, the journal said in estimating the total at more than $60,500,000,000, of which $50,400,000,000 are in commercial banks and $10,100,000,000 in mutual savings banks. Deposits increased $5,000,000,000 in 1936, marking a gain of more than $10,000,000,000 in the two years since the low point in 1934.

While the bulk of the increase in deposits was due to federal borrowing and spending, the publication said, business borrowing became a substantial factor in increasing deposits in 1936 for the first time since 1930. Loans to business borrowers last year were estimated to have added well over a billion dollars to bank deposits.

Deposits Are Centralized.

The journal's tabulation showed that deposits of the first 100 banks amounted to $27,505,412,600 on Dec. 31, 1936, compared with $25,101,587,500 at the end of 1935, $22,158,278,000 at the end of 1930, and $16,794,203,000 ten years ago. These banks held 54 per cent of the nation's commercial bank deposits, compared with 35 per cent ten years ago. This also reflects the idle funds kept by smaller banks with the large city institutions.

Following is a list of the ten largest banks on the basis of deposits at the end of 1936, with comparisons for 1935 [last three ciphers omitted]:

	Dec. 31, 1936.	Dec. 31, 1935.

Changes for Chicago Banks.

Among other Chicago banks, the Northern Trust moved down one notch to twenty-second place from twenty-first at the end of 1935. Deposits were $333,999,180, against $256,199,000, the gain in deposits being insufficient to retain the former position.

Harris Trust rose to twenty-ninth place from thirty-second, with deposits of $209,320,110, against $175,559,000. City National dropped from forty-seventh to fiftieth place, deposits amounting to $128,322,815, against $121,481,000.

NORTHERN TRUST HONORS THIRTY BANK VETERANS

Nine hundred employés of the Northern Trust company attended a dinner-dance at the Palmer house last night to honor thirty fellow workers who have been with the bank for twenty-five years or longer.

The five oldest veterans in point of service have spent a total of 200 years with the bank. They are Harold H. Rockwell, vice president and secretary, who has been with the bank since 1891, or forty-six years; Howard O. Edmonds, vice president and head of the trust department, forty-one years of service, having gone with the bank in 1896; Wilfred H. Bell, assistant secretary, and Cassius H. Phelps, connected with the trust vaults, who has been with the bank since 1899, or thirty-eight years, and Soloman A. Smith, president, who started in 1900, a tenure of thirty-seven years.

Four women are included among the thirty veterans.

25 MILLIONTH CAR ROLLS OUT OF FORD PLANT

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The Ford Motor company passed another milestone in its history today when the 25,000,000th car produced by Ford rolled off the assembly line at Dearborn.

At the wheel when the car passed inspection and left the line was Edsel Ford, president of the company, and beside him was his father, Henry Ford. The 25,000,000th Ford represents production during the 33 years of the company's existence of more cars than are registered for operation in the entire country today.

The car was placed in the Ford rotunda, a replica of the central part of the Ford exposition building at A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago in 1934. The latest Ford went into an exhibit that contains the first experimental car built by Henry Ford and examples of the various models that followed it.

CHRISTMAS SPENDING OVER, MONEY RETURNS TO NATION'S BANKS

A sharp increase of 137 million dollars in the demand deposits of member banks of the federal reserve system in the week ended Jan. 13 was disclosed yesterday in the weekly report of the federal reserve board on activities of the member banks in 103 leading cities.

The increase was attributed to a number of factors, including a continuation of the return flow to banks of funds withdrawn during the holiday and the continued decline in brokers' loans.

For the second successive week, commercial loans, which are rated as a barometer of business conditions, declined. However, last week's decline of 16 millions was only a third of the 48 million recession of the preceding week. Holdings of acceptances and commercial paper showed a moderate advance of 6 millions.

Bank holdings of United States government securities declined 28 millions, but still totaled 9 billion 275 million, an increase of 699 million over a year ago.

ASKS U. S. POWER TO STOP UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—An amendment to the federal trade commission act broadening the powers of the commission to allow it to take action in cases where it believes unfair competition is being used to the detriment of consumers and the public interest was introduced in the house today by Representative Lea of California, the new chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce to which the bill was referred.

Lea pointed out that the commission at present can take jurisdiction of unfair business practices only insofar as they effect other business competitors and is estopped from proceeding unless damage to other business men is proved.

STOCK MARKET IS UNSETTLED; CLOSE LOWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 18.—In a market that was characterized by confusing price movements, stocks sought lower levels today. Losses in the general list ranged from fractions to more than 2 points with outstanding weakness shown in the automobile division.

Volume of business was heavy enough at times to force the quotation ticker to drop several minutes behind transactions on the floor. During the morning the tendency of trading was to increase as prices weakened and stocks were offered freely at various intervals during the session. Total sales for the five hours were 2,859,250 shares.

General Motors, Chrysler Drop.

Developments in the automobile strike indicating a relapse had occurred in negotiations, created a feeling of disappointment and brought sharp declines in both General Motors and Chrysler. The leading motor issues were off 3 points at one time and, although each stiffened in late trading, they finished at losses exceeding 2 points. Even Yellow Truck, whose followers have been paying little attention to the strike news, sold off a point.

After displaying firmness in the forenoon, steel shares turned downward, although optimism continued on the industry's outlook. Bethlehem and Youngstown each lost around 2 points, but U. S. Steel pushed through to another record price of 85 in the morning, only to ease off on profit taking which appeared when the whole market softened. National Steel was bid up more than a point.

Utilities Little Changed.

Metal shares dropped. Lower foreign prices for the red metal upset the copper section, where losses ran to a point or more in Anaconda, Cerro de Pasco, Inspiration and Phelps-Dodge. Silvers likewise weakened, and Homestake Mining gave up 18⅞ points on a single transaction.

Large blocks of low priced miscellaneous issues changed hands and thin markets brought sharp changes in a few stocks. Manville posted a loss of $5.50, but Owens Glass reversed the procedure by climbing 5 points.

Carrier issues lost from fractions to a point, while the equipments developed no definite trend. Oils worked lower and farm implements were mixed. Loew's reached a new top in the amusements on a gain of more than a point. Chemicals were mixed. The rise in tire prices failed to inspire any bullish enthusiasm for the rubbers. Foods were steady.

HANDLING CORPORATION RESERVES

The reserve problem of many a large corporation is as difficult as that of a good-sized bank. In some cases it is even more difficult.

A program must be planned to accomplish the present as well as the ultimate objective of the specific fund. The purposes of various corporate funds differ and the conditions under which they are administered change continuously.

Few business managers are technically as expert in money management as in money making, but competent and unprejudiced, professional help in the former may be obtained.

We are retained by a number of well-known corporations to advise them in such matters.

Financial officers of corporations and institutions are invited to investigate our facilities, methods, and results. Our brochure, "Modern Management of Invested Funds", will be sent on request.

UPTURN SHOWN IN CONTINENTAL STEEL EARNINGS

Selling Prices Higher, Shipments Larger.

Net income of the Continental Steel corporation, Kokomo, Ind., for the last three months of 1936 was estimated at more than $275,000, or $1.14 per common share, in a letter to stockholders yesterday. This figure is subject to audit and compares with $71,842, or only 14 cents, in the third quarter of the year.

D. A. Williams, president, said conditions in the fourth quarter were much improved over the third quarter. Selling prices were firmer and increased shipments of finished products resulted in lower unit costs, he added. Plants were reported to have operated at capacity without the interruptions for installations of equipment that occurred earlier in the year.

Expects Profits in Future.

If favorable conditions continue, Williams said, there is reason to expect profitable results in the months ahead. The letter notified stockholders of a special meeting to be held March 16 to approve a change of the fiscal year to coincide with the calendar year instead of ending June 30.

Net profit of Walter E. Heller & Co., instalment bankers and factors of Chicago and New York, amounted to $353,327 in the year ended Dec. 31, 1936, the company announced yesterday. This is equivalent after preferred dividends to 98 cents a share on the common shares, compared with $271,582, or 86 cents a share, in 1935.

The annual meeting will be held on Jan. 26 at 2 p. m., at the company's offices at 105 West Adams street.

Allied Mills Earns More.

Allied Mills, makers of fertilizers, feeds, and food products with plants in eastern and midwestern states, reported consolidated net income of $2,555,239 for the twelve months ended Dec. 31—not the fiscal year, which ends June 30. This was equal to $2.88 a share on the capital stock and compared with $2,126,891, or $2.40 a share in the preceding twelve months.

Lane Bryant, Inc., reported net income of $80,344, or 36 cents a common share, for the six months ended Nov. 30, compared with $35,785, or $3.19 a share on the 7 per cent preferred shares a year ago.

PENSION CHARGE MAY CUT RAILS' DECEMBER NET

Several Roads Delay in Making Allowances.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A substantial reduction in net earnings for December, 1936, is expected in reports of some railroads that have not accrued in earlier months their liability for the tax on pay rolls in connection with federal retirement pensions.

Among the roads that have not been making accruals are New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Seaboard Air-line, Southern Railway, and Louisville & Nashville, Southern Pacific and Missouri-Kansas-Texas at first accrued pension taxes, but later credited back the charges. Louisville & Nashville in September, October, and November charged off about $810,000, leaving a balance of approximately $400,000 that will be charged off in December.

N. Y. Central Delays Action.

No definite decision has been announced by the New York Central, but it is believed that the total pension tax accrual, estimated at about $4,800,000 will be charged against December earnings.

Lehigh Valley has made no charges to date, although it is understood funds already have been allocated to cover the pension tax liability, if the constitutionality of the tax law and pension law, enacted when a previous combined tax and pension law were invalidated by the Supreme court, is upheld.

Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Southern Pacific, and Southern Railway, it is believed, will adhere to their decision in not charging pension taxes until a decision has been made by the court.

Seaboard Considers Accruals.

Seaboard Air line has been considering making a charge for pension accruals in December and a definit decision probably will be announced after the bondholder's committee meeting tomorrow.

Should the Supreme court decide that both the tax law and the pension law are valid, these roads will have to make the charge for the year against December earnings.

The rising tide of interest in REAL ESTATE

As reflected by the Tribune want ad section, interest in real estate is more active now than it has been for many years.

Last year the Tribune printed 420,631 lines of real estate want advertising—a gain of 51.7% over the volume printed during 1935.

The Tribune today, as during each of the past twenty years, prints more real estate want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

ASK LONG-SHORT HAUL RAIL RATE RULE BE ENDED

Pettengill Charges Inland Trade Is Penalized.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

REPRESENTATIVE S. B. PETTENGILL.

Demanding that the handcuffs of government control be removed from the railroads, Sampel B. Pettengill, member of congress from South Bend, Ind., yesterday told the Traffic Club of Chicago that the first step in this direction should be repeal of the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act.

Pettengill's bill providing repeal was passed in the house last year by a majority of ore than 4 to 1, but a similar measure in the senate failed to be approved. The measure will be introduced again this year.

Sees Interior Penalized.

Pettengill said operation of the ong and short haul clause, which prohibits a railroad from charging less or transporting freight between two oints than is charged between intermediate points on the same route, is enalizing the interior of the coun ry and favoring the seaboards.

"The interior of the nation for the ast twenty years has been paying axes for its own destruction," Pettengill said. "Operation of the long and short haul clause has resulted in ndustries moving from the interior o the seaboard and has prevented stablishment of industries which, had t not been for this clause, might have een located there."

He cited figures to show that inerior trade has been drying up and hat of the seaboards expanding. In 910, he said, 38 per cent of the peo ple lived within fifty miles of salt water and the Great Lakes. Ten ears later 41 per cent of the popuation was located in this area, and n 1930 the ratio was 45 per cent. The most startling fact he said, was hat between 1920 and 1930 about 67 er cent of the nation's growth occurred in the fifty mile zone.

Interior Is Handicapped.

"It is evident that congressional reatment of the railroads has not nabled the interior to keep pace with the rest of the nation," he said. My bill essentially is a shippers' ill. It is my opinion that if the ailroads cannot meet their competiion they should be allowed to die, ut they should be allowed to comete on the same basis as the other orms of transportation.

"Repeal of the long and short haul lause will give the railroads more reedom. But it has another special ignificance. It represents the first ime that there is a movement to nwrap the red tape around the oads. Further, the measure proosing to repeal the bill is significant n that it represents a check on the ove toward government ownership. "If the 26 billion dollar railroad ndustry is forced into government wnership, what industry will be free rom government control?"

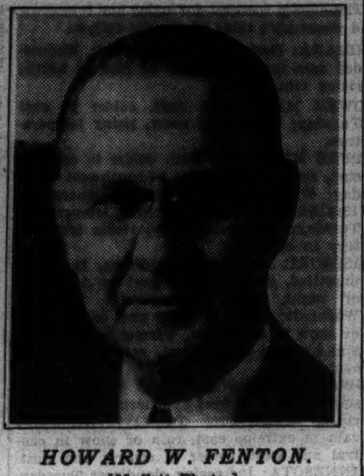
Election Expected



HOWARD W. FENTON.

[Moffett Photo.]

The clearing house committee of the Chicago Clearing House association is expected to reëlect Howard W. Fenton, president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, as its chairman today. Fenton has served as chairman for one year. Under the present practice of rotating this office, a chairman continues in office for two or three years only.

Members of the clearing house committee are connected with the large downtown banks. They take a leading part in determining policies to be followed by the association. In effect they act as an executive committee.

The association itself, which has a majority of Chicago's banks as members, is slated to break precedent by electing a president who is not a loop banker. He is William C. Cummings, president of the Drovers National bank and the Drovers Trust and Savings bank.

PLEA TO PREVENT EDISON MERGER HEARD IN COURT

Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of the Superior court yesterday began the hearing of arguments on a plea for a temporary injunction which would stop the holding of a meeting of stockholders of the Commonwealth Edison company on Jan. 23 to vote on consolidation with the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the Western United Gas and Electric company.

Attorney Herbert Pope, representing two stockholders who hold 982 shares of capital stock of Commonwealth Edison, last Saturday was given permission to file a petition asking an enjoining order. Pope charged in his petition that the officers of the Commonwealth Edison company had conspired to defraud 60,000 stockholders.

Pope filed suit on Dec. 13, 1933, for an accounting against Commonwealth Edison, Public Service, and Western United, in which he alleged that about $25,000,000 had been spent by Commonwealth Edison under a power purchase contract which had never been approved by the board of directors. The money was actually spent, Pope charged, to build up a public service company with Commonwealth Edison funds. The suit is still pending.

In Pope's petition asking a temporary injunction it was charged that the officers of the Commonwealth Edison company were withholding information from stockholders about the accounting suit.

EGGS SELL AT NEW LOW DESPITE FEDERAL BUYING

Government buying of fresh eggs in New York markets for relief purposes yesterday was reported at 44,520 dozen, bringing the total purchased since last Friday to approximately 200,000 dozen. The report, however, failed to have any material effect on egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. January refrigerator eggs declined a cent a dozen, and sold as low as 18⅝ cents a dozen, a new low for the season, closing at 18¾ cents. Fresh egg contracts were ¼ to ⅜ cent lower on reports of a net into storage movement at major markets.

WORLD SECURITY GREATEST NEED, SAYS RUNCIMAN

Denies Visit to Discuss British War Debts.

WALTER RUNCIMAN.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, declared today the world most needed an atmosphere of security, but warned Britain would not make concessions to other powers "to buy off trouble." Parrying all questions seeking to connect his American visit with the long-discussed possibility of an Anglo-American trade treaty, Runciman asserted on his arrival that he and his wife are here "just for a holiday."

Runciman took an evening train for New York, where he will be busy—socially, he added—until the week-end, when he will be a White House guest of President Roosevelt.

Niemeyer Due This Week.

Arriving in New York also this week will be Sir Otto Niemeyer, a director of the Bank of England. According to the Council of Foreign Bondholders in London, Niemeyer is paying a private visit to the United States as a representative of the council to meet representatives of United States bondholders and have informal conversations with them on matters of mutual interest.

Before leaving England Runciman was quoted as saying his mission was partly to do all he could to improve Anglo-American trade. Today he said this meant no talk of treaties, war debts, or monetary stabilization.

"There is no immediate prospect of a world economic conference," Runciman added, "and there is no immediate good in talking about it."

As to trade in the far east, particularly China, he said: "There's room enough for all in China. That is an enormous market."

Asked About India.

"People of the empire are free to buy what goods they wish," he answered.

Concerning Germany's demand for return of colonies:

"Before the war these constituted a small part of Germany's foreign trade, and the return of all of them," Runciman said, "would not create a revolution in German prosperity."

Would England favor concessions to certain nations to insure peace?

"We can't undertake to buy off trouble. We want no enmities, but we cannot bribe any one to leave us alone. You know what that means—more and more tribute."

No. 4 opened unchanged to 1½ points lower and closed 2 to 4 points lower with sales of 28,450 tons, with May selling down from 1.20c to 1.15c and September from 1.23½c to 1.19c, closing at the lowest.

New York, Jan. 18.—Conflicting price trends throughout the various classifications of bonds gave a highly mixed tone to the market today. Prices were a shade easier at the end of the day. The trading pace also reflected a lack of interest as total transactions dropped to $12,742,000, compared with $15,922,000 last Friday.

Trading in United States government obligations was the lightest for any full five hour trading period so far this year as prices turned moderately soft. Turnover was less than $500,000 and losses ranged from 1-32 to 6-32 point spread among both the direct and guaranteed loans.

Follows Substantial Recovery.

Some dealers pointed to the substantial recovery in federal loans last week as a partial explanation for the mild setback, particularly in view of the uncertainty over what the federal reserve board will do in respect to higher reserve requirements.

With few exceptions price movements throughout the domestic corporate list were narrow, with minor recessions predominating. Central Foundry convertible 6s and 5s stood out as strong features, advancing 18 and 3⅜ points, respectively.

Symington Gould in Demand.

Symington Gould issues continued in good demand at higher levels, while among the rails Norfolk and Southern first 5s led with a gain of more than 2 points. In the more speculative group Wickwire-Spencer issues were prominent, responding to a brisk demand with gains of 2⅜ to 2½ points.

Speculative interest in the South American bonds was centered on the obligations of the Rio Grande do Sul, which rose 1⅜ to 2⅛ points. Irregular price changes ruled elsewhere in the foreign dollar bond list.

COCOA

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Scattered commission house liquidation developed in cocoa futures today and prices declined 24 to 28 points. Local warehouse receipts increased 4,000 bags. Sales, 748 lots or 11,220 tons. Range of prices [cents per lb]:

Wilson & Co.

Investors' Guide: Kindly inform me on Wilson & Co.—J. C.

Answer: Wilson & Co., Inc., is the third largest meat packing organization in the world. In addition to fresh and cured meats the company sells such byproducts as soap, glue, fertilizers, cottonseed oil, lard, curled hair, and chemicals. Its produce operations—eggs, poultry, cream, butter, and cheese—account for a smaller proportion of business than in the case of other large packers.

In addition to plants and branches which serve nearly all important cities in the United States, Wilson maintains branches in England and Europe, which obtain most of their products from South American units. The latter contribute about 7 per cent of sales and a larger proportion of total earnings.

Like other meat packers, this company operates on a very narrow margin of profit and depends on large volume for earnings. Rising prices of meats and other products have been offset by smaller supplies of live stock as a result of drouths and federal regulation.

Despite larger sales volume of $253,226,000, or 13½ per cent more than the preceding year, the company's net income was down slightly to $4,068,000, or $1.06 per common share, in the year ended Oct. 31, 1936. Sales were $223,018,000 and net income was $4,110,000, or $1.08 a share, in the preceding year.

Sales were $180,000,000 in the 1934 year, $140,000,000 in the 1933 year, and touched a high of $310,000,000 in the year ended Nov. 2, 1929. Adjusting per share figures to a recapitalization effective in 1935 net income was $3,056,000, or 94 cents a share, in the 1934 year.

In order to clear up dividend arrears and simplify capital structure, the company issued $6 dividend preferred stock in exchange for old 7 per cent preferred and wiped out class A stock by issuance of additional common shares. Giving effect to the recapitalization, there are 324,783 shares of new preferred and 2,001,163 shares of common stock, both of no par value.

Dividends of $1.50 quarterly are being paid on the preferred. The common is on a 12½ cent quarterly basis.

Funded debt consists of $20,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds, due 1955.

Current assets were $42,325,000 and current liabilities were $13,271,000 on Oct. 26, 1936.

Plan Simplification of Corporate Structure.

A registration statement covering an issue of $75,000,000 first and refunding mortgage bonds, 3½ per cent series, due 1967, and 275,000 shares of no par value cumulative preferred stock, $5 series, was filed with the Securities and Exchange commission in Washington yesterday by the Northern States Power company of Minneapolis, a member of the Standard Gas and Electric system.

The bonds and preferred stock are to be issued solely to refund and discharge outstanding securities of the declarant and a predecessor company, St. Paul Gas Light company, it was said. The proposed new securities, together with a reclassification of outstanding common and preferred stocks, will simplify the company's capital structure, resulting in interest savings on funded debt of $2,179,255 annually, and, after deducting $1,375,000 annual dividend requirements on the new preferred stock, net savings of $804,255, the statement said.

Plan to Dissolve Six Subsidiaries.

The company further contemplates dissolution of the following subsidiaries: Citizens' Light, Heat and Power company; Northern States Securities corporation; Red River Power company; St. Cloud Public Service company; St. Cloud Water Power company, and Union Light, Heat and Power company.

A banking syndicate headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Lehman Brothers is expected to offer soon $40,000,000 of 3½ per cent Tidewater Associated Oil company debentures, due in 1952, at a price of 101. Proceeds of this financing and of the sale of 500,000 shares of $4.50 cumulative convertible preferred stock will be used to redeem bank debt and to retire the present preferred stock outstanding to the amount of 626,221 shares. Holders of the present preferred will have the right to exchange for new preferred stock, and those shares not taken will then be offered to common stockholders of record Jan. 29.

Offer Utility Stock.

G. L. Ohrstrom & Co. will offer today an issue of 14,000 shares of first preferred stock, $5.10 series, of Minneapolis Gas Light company, which supplies manufactured and natural gas to the city of Minneapolis and eleven adjacent communities. The stock is priced at $102 a share.

Russeks Fifth Avenue, New York women's apparel and fur company, has entered into an agreement with F. Eberstadt & Co., Inc., for the underwriting of an offering of approximately 65,000 shares of new capital stock, Max Weinstein, president, announced yesterday. Subject to approval by stockholders, the company plans to split its present stock two for one, and a special stockholders' meeting for that purpose will be called shortly. Proceeds from the financing are to be used to enlarge present store facilities, to open a store in Brooklyn, and for additional working capital.

Public financing for Davego Stores corporation, retail chain store and mail order concern, was announced yesterday in the form of a new issue of 75,000 shares of 5 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock, $25 par value. Priced at par, the stock is being offered by J. A. Sisto & Co. Proceeds will be used for the liquidation of existing bank loans of $750,000, and to provide working capital.

A $39,600,000 retirement of Argentine Republic bonds through sinking fund operations was announced by Dr. Roberto M. Ortiz, minister of finance. By the operation all of the government of Argentina national external sinking fund 6 per cent bonds of 1927, due Feb. 1, 1961, and the national external sinking fund 5½ per cent bonds of 1928, due Feb. 1, 1962, now outstanding and not previously called, will be redeemed. The bonds to be retired will probably be replaced with internal issues, it was explained.

ALL LIVE STOCK AND MEAT PRICES BREAK SHARPLY

Strike News, Lack of War Business Factors.

All meat and live stock prices broke sharply yesterday. Losses in beef, eal, and lamb meat amounted to as uch as $1 per hundred pounds. A ally of 50 cents to $1 in fresh pork ot no support, gains being entirely iped out later.

Huge storage stocks of meats built p by packers anticipating foreign demand in case of war in Europe, as ell as higher prices resulting from etter industrial conditions in Amerca, were at first regarded as exremely bullish for the live stock markets, but they now constitute a erious threat. With millions of ounds of meat "tagged" for war rade which has failed to develop, nd industrial recovery threatened by preading strikes, packers have comenced cheapening their previous urchases by cutting the price paid r live stock.

Hogs Drop Average of 10 Cents.

Hogs slumped 10 to 20 cents after n initial rise of 5 to 10 cents. The verage price for the session at $10.10 as 10 cents below Saturday and the west average since Dec. 22. The pening top sale at $10.45 later proved ut of line, similar kinds selling at 0.20 at the close, with about 8,000 ood to choice 200 to 300 pound butchs ranging from $10.10 to $10.15.

Underweights and pigs suffered a arper break than stronger weight gs, closing 30 to 40 cents under st week's finish. About 1,000 pigs rought $7 to $8.25. Sows dropped to 15 cents, 350 to 500 pound stock lking at $9.55 to $9.70.

Farmers reduced the hog run at hicago to 23,000 against 36,349 the revious Monday in an effort to check e break, but when the decline conued loaded out heavier volume for day. It was estimated that 30,000 ead were on the way.

Lamb Prices Decline.

Lamb prices dropped 25 cents, packs obtaining the bulk of good fat ock at $10 to $10.25, while city utchers and shippers paid the $10.35 p. Old ewes at $6.10 averaging 115 ounds were steady. Lamb feeders ld freely on the decline, receipts at ,000 head being the largest for Mony since Nov. 30.

Cattle experienced an uneven break, ith top grades off the least and ght medium and plain kinds down e most. Some steers lost $1 and ore compared with early last week, though the top at $14.35 was within cents of the winter's peak.

Most steers sold from $8 to $13.75, e widest range in more than a ar. Lower priced hefers held steady, t other hefers as well as beef cows, nners, and cutters were weak. Bulls ld steady, calves slumped 50 cents, d stockers and feeders sold unenly lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yest.	Sat.	Wk.ago.	Mo.ago.
Wheat	$1.32¼	$1.32⅜	$1.33⅝	$1.32⅝
Corn	1.12⅛	1.11⅛	1.10½	1.04⅝
Oats	.54	.53⅝	.53	.50⅝
Rye	1.10⅜	1.10	1.12¼	1.11⅞
Soy beans	1.60	1.59⅞	1.61	1.58

Corn dominated trading in grains here yesterday. Commission house and professional buying as the result of small country offerings of cash corn lifted prices as much as a cent a bushel. The May delivery at $1.12⅛ was within a cent a bushel of the highest level of the season.

Wheat, oats and soy beans gained a small fraction of a cent, largely in sympathy with corn, while rye rose as much as 1⅛ cents. Strength in American bread grains occurred in the face of a decline of a major fraction of a cent a bushel in wheat futures at Winnipeg.

Argentine Stocks Small.

While short covering and closing of spreads between the old and new style deliveries of corn futures played a part in advancing the price of that grain, there were numerous factors to induce speculators to take the buying side of corn. An official Argentine report estimated the remaining exportable surplus from the 1936 corn crop at 66,000,000 bushels. It was figured that the surplus would be exhausted in about seven weeks if exports continue in recent volume.

There was no increase in offerings of corn for deferred shipment. It was reported Ohio river as well as Missouri river markets were outbidding Chicago for the grain in central Illinois. Omaha received 89 cars of corn yesterday, most of which was from Illinois, which normally sends its grain to Chicago. The market here received only 87 cars, an abnormally small amount for Monday.

Range in Wheat Narrow.

Wheat futures held within a range of less than a cent a bushel, dipping fractionally early in sympathy with the Liverpool market only to rally later with corn. The English market closed unchanged to 1⅛ cent a bushel lower, due to cheaper offerings of wheat for shipment from Argentina and Australia.

Italy and Germany were reported buying wheat for later shipment, the former purchasing an estimated 250,000 bushels from Argentina and 550,000 bushels from Rumania. Rumania also was reported to have authorized the sale of 1,800,000 bushels of wheat to Germany.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Lots of Sausage.

January 18, 1937.

COUNTRY sausage with hot cakes and sirup or sorghum will be on the breakfast menus of families on the Tribune's Wheaton experimental farm for the next week or two. There was a "mountain" of meat ground up for sausage making at the farm last week when twenty-one hogs were slaughtered.

Outsiders who have tasted Wheaton farm sausage wonder why it is different from other country sausage. Perhaps the high quality is because some of the best of the lean meat from the hog's carcass is used. In fact, the bulk of the meat ground into sausage is trimmed from the shoulders.

In addition to the regular trimmings all the meat was trimmed from the forty-two shoulders. The shoulder muscles were stripped off to the bone. The fattest portions were thrown into the kettle and rendered into lard.

All the men on the farm use the same basic recipe in making sausage, seasoning the meat to suit their individual tastes. Some like sage, others do not; some like an extra dash of cayenne pepper.

The Wheaton farm sausage seasoning mixture is made up of 1 tablespoonful of black pepper, 1 tablespoonful of common salt, and a dash of cayenne pepper to each 10 pounds of ground meat. This mixture is added after the meat has been cut into small pieces ready for the grinder.

Some of the sausage is cooked and eaten as it comes from the grinder, a fair proportion is put in casings and the balance is canned.

CHICAGO COTTON MARKET STEADY TO 7 POINTS HIGHER

While operations in the cotton market were somewhat limited yesterday there was sufficient trade buying of March and May to absorb the offerings on an early break. A rally followed which lifted prices above Saturday's closing level. Closing trades in Chicago were unchanged to 7 points higher. Other American markets were unchanged to 3 points higher. There was some buying of October cotton in New York against sales of cottonseed oil. [A point equals 1-100 cent a pound or 5 cents a bale.]

Spot cotton closed 5 points lower to 5 points higher, with New Orleans at 13.05 cents; New York, 13.10 cents; Houston, 12.65 cents, and Galveston, 12.55 cents per pound. Prices follow:

HOW YOU CAN REPAY.

1. Payments on all loans are small. For example, payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. This is substantially less than the lawful maximum on loans over $100.
